THE LCC STAGE BAND will present "A Jazz Rock Thing" Thursday at 1 p.m. in the Forum Theater. The afternoon concert of jazz-rock music will be the first one presented by the college's newest instrumental group, a 20-piece stage band directed by performing arts instructor Gene Aitken.

Featured will be a number of contemporary selections popularized by bands like the "Cold Blood" and "Chicago".

Aitken formed the band earlier this year to give students a chance to study the current musical styles. He describes jazz-rock as exciting music which combines the important elements of jazz and rock. The style is characterized by intricate chord changes and irregular timing which provide a big challenge to the performers, Aitken explained. The music requires intensive practice to achieve a good sound, but it also encourages creativity, he said.

Aitken will take the stage band to Reno, Nevada, in March to participate in a Stage Band Festival along with 105 other college bands from throughout the United States. The musicians will also be presenting a series of mini-concerts in Eugene high schools to acquaint students with their style of music.

THIS NOTE OF INTEREST COMES FROM DALE PARNELL'S OFFICE: "School counselors face a dilemma. In working with young people, they must often establish confidential relationships. Yet such relationships have no basis in law. If, for instance, a student had revealed incriminating facts about himself concerning drug abuse and the counselor were called before a grand jury, the counselor would have to testify or risk being held in contempt. Most officials, of course, would respect the counselor's confidence to protect their sources of information. But unless your counselor is a legally certified psychologist, his confidences protected under ORS 44.040, he would be legally obligated to testify."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY IS BEING COMMEMORATED TODAY. TO LCC'S SID AUSTIN, THIS OCCASION HOLDS SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE.

When we think of a hobby, what usually comes to mind is building or collecting something. But in the case of Sid Austin, LCC security officer, his leisure hours are spent studying the life of Abraham Lincoln.

For over five years now, Sid has been reading all the literature he could find about Lincoln and has collected numerous articles representative of the sixteenth president's life and times.

These are currently on display in the library. Included is his prized etching of Lincoln, found in a one-room schoolhouse in Eastern Oregon.

Sid's interest and devotion to studying the life of Lincoln was sparked by an earlier hobby--studying early American schools and collecting old readers, in which Lincoln is often mentioned. "I am also very interested in studying Civil War history," Sid explained. Whenever he travels now, he is always on the lookout for new things to add to his Lincoln collection. This summer, he plans to travel to Illinois, known as "The Land of Lincoln."

Listening to him talk about Lincoln, it is not hard to understand why Sid says, "I feel like I knew him personally. To me, he was one of the finest men on earth." Sid recalled a favorite story about Lincoln in which he was standing alongside a couple of screaming youngsters. When asked what the problem was, Lincoln replied, "Just human nature. I've got three walnuts and they each want two."

Sid's collection contains 15 books on Lincoln. A recent one which he recommends for reading is "The Day Lincoln Was Shot" by Jim Bishop.

Sid plans to continue reading and learning all he can about Abraham Lincoln. As Sid says, "Lincoln's humble life and his many beautiful writings can't help but inspire your own life."

DOROTHY KELLOGG, personnel secretary in the Office of Instruction, became a "two-timer" over the weekend. The reason?--a 7lb. 4½oz. girl was born to her son and daughter-in-law Saturday in Lander Wyoming, making Dorothy a grandmother for the second time.

"FREEBIES" are magnifying the effect of LCC's current Success Story commercials on radio-tv. If your friends and neighbors think we're spending tax funds like a drunken sailor, explain to them that during the entire month of February we're paying for only 16 commercials on each of the two tv stations and four dozen spots on each of three radio stations. It will seem like more, however, because our public spirited electronics brethren are giving us some spots free of charge as a public service.

You might also remind them that the commercials were made by three students and a staff member who donated their time.

ELLENE GOLDSMITH, Health Services coordinator, passed along an interesting addition to yesterday's Daily story on counselors and confidentiality.

The story, originating from Dale Parnell's office, pointed out that unless they are legally certified psychologists, school counselors may be called into court to reveal information given them by a counselee. Mrs. Goldsmith pointed out that nurses are covered under the same immunity clause as psychologists. This explains why they are very much involved in working with students and the drug problem, she said, adding that this factor also emphasizes the need for a strong Health Service.

COLLEGE CABINET: Plans for the 1971 LCC graduation were initiated at yesterday's College Cabinet meeting. Members agreed that last year's policy of voluntary attendance by faculty members should be continued and that instructors should be given an opportunity to indicate whether they wish to wear academic gowns.

Likewise, June graduates will be asked their preference on wearing the gowns and students will work with the dean of students in selecting a commencement speaker.

NATIONAL VOCATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK

Dee Martin, administrative intern, reminded the Cabinet that next week is National Vocational Education Week. It was suggested that a special invitation be extended to the community to visit the campus and particularly the vocational programs.

A special guest on campus during the week will be Marvin Feldman, who works closely with community colleges through the Office of Education in Washington, D.C.

Feldman will speak on "Issues and Trends in Vocational Education" Feb. 11 at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria. Prior to his talk, he will have dinner with local and state vocational officials and the LCC Board.

STUDENT BILL OF RIGHTS PRESENTED

Student Body President Warren Coverdell distributed copies of a proposed Student Bill of Rights to Cabinet members. He explained that the document was carefully written, following guidelines of the Association of Student Governments and with legal assistance from University of Oregon law students.

The document contains 40 sections, setting forth the right of students to express their views on campus, insuring the confidentiality of student records, declaring sanction which may be imposed upon students, and generally giving students the same rights they would enjoy as private citizens.

Following a brief discussion of several parts of the document, Dr. Schafer asked Cabinet members to read it carefully and be prepared to discuss each section at next week's Cabinet meeting.

COMING IMPORTANT EVENTS

Dr. Schafer announced that Feb. 10 is the date of the next Board/Budget meeting. Directors will meet at 6 p.m. to discuss architect selection, convene for a public Board meeting at 7 p.m., and join members of the college Budget Committee at 8 p.m. to hear Dr. Schafer's budget address.

THIS IS NATIONAL VOCATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK--a time to salute LCC's 44 vocational-technical programs, the highly-skilled instructors who are providing expert training opportunities, and the students who are preparing for various occupational careers.

Administrative intern Dee Martin is coordinating special activities for this week. He has arranged for Marvin Feldman, a nationally-recognized leader in vocational education, to visit LCC and present an address on "Issues and Trends in Vocational Education." His talk is scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday in the cafeteria.

ON TELEVISION TONIGHT: Dr. Schafer will join three other presidents for a televised discussion and question-answer session on community colleges tonight. The program, broadcast live on KEZI-TV (channel 9) from 6-7 p.m., will feature the presidents of Umpqua, Linn-Benton, and Southwestern Oregon community colleges in addition to Dr. Schafer.

The main portion of the hour-long feature will be devoted to answering questions called in to the television station by viewers.

LCC HAS RECEIVED $131,025 in federal vocational funds for programs to be funded for the remainder of this year and next, Dean LaGrandeaur reports. He recently spent two days in Salem, meeting with the State Board of Education and deans representing other Oregon community colleges to determine allocations from the 1971-72 federal vocational funds designated for Oregon community colleges. The allocations were made on the basis of proposals submitted by the colleges.

BASKETBALL: Hopes for a play-off berth in the OCCAA basketball tournament faded for LCC over the weekend as the Titans could only split a pair of league games.

Friday, Lane took an 81-73 home win over Clackamas Community College, but Saturday was dropped 94-90 by Clatsop in Astoria. One of the few bright spots for LCC was Willie Jones who tallied 24 points against Clackamas and 30 against Clatsop. The Titans were hurt in the Clatsop game by a 30-10 disadvantage at the foul line. Lane made 16 more points from the field than did their hosts. LCC was also hampered by the loss of starter Terry Manthey who was injured in Friday's game.

The split put LCC far behind southern division leaders SWOCC and Umpqua, with a 6-4 conference record. SWOCC is 9-1 and Umpqua 8-2. Lane's overall record is 12-5.

The Titans next game is tomorrow night against Sheldon Jackson College, Sitka, Alaska. The game will be played here at 8 p.m.

EXTRA COPIES of the 1970 tax form are available at the information desk, first floor, administration.

THE STAFF ASSOCIATION will meet Thursday at 4 p.m. to approve a new constitution. A quorum of 85 members present is needed before a vote can be taken on the proposed constitutional changes.

BOARD/BUDGET MEETING: A recommendation regarding tuition will be the main discussion item during a short meeting of the LCC Board Wednesday evening prior to the Budget Committee session.

The directors will convene at 7 p.m. and consider business matters until the Budget Committee meeting at 8 p.m.

The Board will hear a recommendation from Dean of Students Jack Carter to raise the number of units considered as a full-time student load from 10 to 12. This proposal would retain the current tuition rate of $7 per unit for full-time students but would mean that in-district tuition for full-time students would be increased from $70 to $84. The $7.50 per unit rate for part-time students would remain the same under the proposal.

It is also being suggested that out-of-district tuition for full-time students be increased from $140 to $170 per quarter. No change in the out-of-state or foreign student tuition rate is being recommended.

This proposal is the result of an extensive review of tuition rates at Oregon community colleges. LCC's full-time tuition rate of $70 is the lowest among the community colleges in the state with the average being $90. Further investigation by Dean Carter revealed that most community colleges consider 12-15 units as a full-time student load and use these figures in computing full-time tuition rates.

In a memo to the Board, Dean Carter pointed out that approval of this tuition change would bring LCC more nearly in line with other community colleges in Oregon and also with the federal government's definition of full time under the G.I. Bill.

The proposed change in calculating tuition charges would result in an anticipated $138,140 increase in revenue for the 1971-72 budget.

The dean investigated six alternative approaches to tuition increase before recommending this one to the Board.

CONCERNS EXPRESSED OVER COPYRIGHT POLICY

Also at Wednesday's meeting, the directors will consider recommendations for amending the Board policy on "Research and Publication by Staff."

A number of staff members have expressed concern that the recommendations drafted by the Copyright/Patent Committee and endorsed by the Instructional Council would dampen the enthusiasm of staff members to produce their own instructional materials. Specifically, some instructors have voiced opposition to the proposed stipulation in the policy that the college has ownership rights on marketable items produced by staff members on their own time BUT using college facilities or equipment (such as the print shop).

A complete copy of the present policy and the proposed amendments is available from the Office of Instruction. Instructors who would like to discuss the proposal prior to the Board meeting are urged to meet with the Staff Association Executive Committee Wednesday at noon in the SPPC room (fourth floor Center) or submit

The 1971-72 budget proposal which represents several months of prioritizing and computing by department chairmen, deans, and budget officials will be reviewed for the first time tonight by the Budget Committee. The LCC Board will be joined by seven lay citizens who complete the 14-member committee for the 8 p.m. meeting.

At this time, Dr. Schafer will deliver his budget message and present the proposed $8.5 million operating budget for the coming year. The amount is $2 million over last year's operating budget. During the meeting, the president will review potential sources of income for the college during 1971-72 and point out expected expenditures which account for the budget increase sought. A section by section review of the proposal will follow.

Future budget meetings are scheduled for Feb. 17 and Feb. 24. A budget hearing is planned for March 24, leading to a budget election on March 31.

COLLEGE CABINET:

A request by LCC student officers to present a rough draft of the proposed Student Bill of Rights to Board members tonight was turned down by the College Cabinet yesterday.

Representing student president Warren Coverdell, Mark Parrish, AS-LCC publicity director, said that the Student Senate approved the document realizing that minor changes would be needed and that it wishes to present the proposal to the Board tonight so that directors can read it at their leisure and be ready to discuss it during their March meeting.

Responding to Parrish, Dr. Schafer said that while he supports the proposed Bill of Rights for students, he feels the document should not be sent to the directors until revisions have been completed and faculty members have had a chance to discuss and react to it. Administrative Assistant Bert Dotson added that Board members in the past have reacted negatively to incomplete documents presented to them.

But Parrish and senator Dan Rosen argued that it was imperative for the Bill of Rights to be introduced tonight so that action can be taken on it before the student body elections this spring. At that time, Rosen said, the document will be placed on the ballot for student approval. He added that the Bill of Rights would have to be a Board policy to have any credibility.

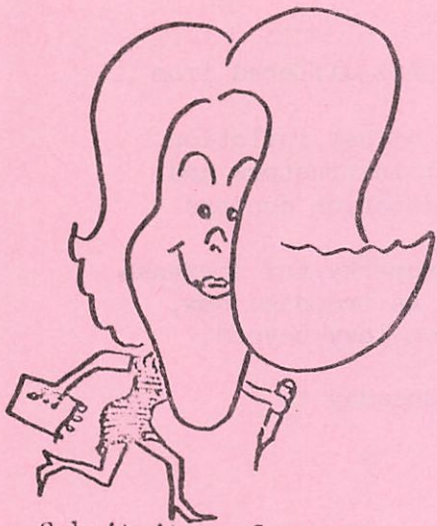

Responding to this statement, John Howard, Language Arts Department chairman, commented that if the document becomes a Board policy, instructors "will have to live with it" much longer than this year's students and therefore should be given an opportunity to voice their opinions on it before it goes to the Board.

Supporting Parrish and Rosen, Marston Morgan said that presenting the document to the directors without faculty comments included would let the Board know exactly how students feel on the matter. He added that "whether rightly or wrongly, students in the past have felt they have gotten the run-around on several issues until they went directly to the Board."

However, Dr. Schafer reiterated, "I hope it (the Bill of Rights) is adopted, but I would wish that the staff have a chance for input."

A NOTE FROM JAN: Remember that mail is taken to the post office at 4 p.m. each school day. This means we must have it in the mailroom for stamping, separating, and bundling by 3:45 to meet the afternoon deadline.

Instructors wishing to comment on the copyright proposal which will be presented to the Board tonight are urged to attend the noon meeting of the Staff Association Executive Committee in the SPPC room (fourth floor, Center).

WE WELCOME to the campus today members of the legislature's Joint Ways and Means Committee, vocational education specialist Marvin Feldman, and Pleasant Hill High School Students.

WAYS AND MEANS VISIT

Members of the Ways and Means Committee, which recommends apportionment of state money to community colleges, will meet with LCC administrators in the Board Room at 3p.m. and later tour the information-retrieval facilities. Several staff members have been asked to meet with them to discuss enrollment, construction needs, state funds needed, out-of-district enrollment, and future programs planned. Other staff members are welcome to sit in on the meeting.

FELDMAN TO EMPHASIZE VOCATIONAL EDUCATION ISSUES

Marvin Feldman, a nationally-recognized specialist on career education, will discuss "Vital Issues in Vocational Education" during a public address at 8p.m. in the cafeteria.

Feldman has traveled world-wide as a consultant to school systems establishing vocational programs and has drafted vocational education legislation at the request of the Nixon administration. Currently, he is chairman of the Planning and Review Committee for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

STUDENTS TO TEST MODEL BRIDGE BUILDING SKILLS

In the Industrial Technology Department this afternoon, a group of Pleasant Hill High School students will hold a "dry-run" performance test in model bridge building in preparation for a state contest later this spring.

The practice test was prepared by industrial technology instructors JED MERRILL, BOB ALLEN, and GENE PARRO to give these students an opportunity to discover and correct mistakes before the state competition.

BUDGET COMMITTEE PREVIEWS 1971-72 NEEDS: The LCC Budget Committee got its first look at the proposed $8.5 million operating budget for 1971-72 last night and heard college officials explain key elements in the proposal which account for the $2 million increase sought over last year's operating fund.

The 14-member committee briefly discussed each department's request for operating funds, directing most of the questions to items in the instructional programs budget. They spent considerable time discussing the proposed $53,200 allocation for curriculum development and asked how this differed from staff development.

The proposed $2 million increase would be used mainly to offset inflation in operating costs, for new staffing (including 36 additional instructors and one new dean) initiation of new programs, and establishing education centers in outlying areas.

Approval of the proposed operating budget would mean a property tax increase of 38 cents per $1,000 true cash value for district voters. As proposed now, taxpayers would be asked on March 31 to approve a $1.2 million levy beyond the six percent limitation.

The Budget Committee will meet again on the next two Wednesday to continue consideration of the proposed operating budget.

PROPOSED TUITION INCREASE TABLED

During a short Board session before the budget meeting, strong Student Senate opposition to a proposed $14 tuition increase for in-district students led to the proposal being tabled.

Student President Warren Coverdell and several others pointed out that tuition was already raised during Fall Term and that an additional 20 percent increase would place a heavy financial burden on most students. Coverdell conceded that a smaller increase might be necessary but that he would have to study the situation further before submitting a recommendation from the students.

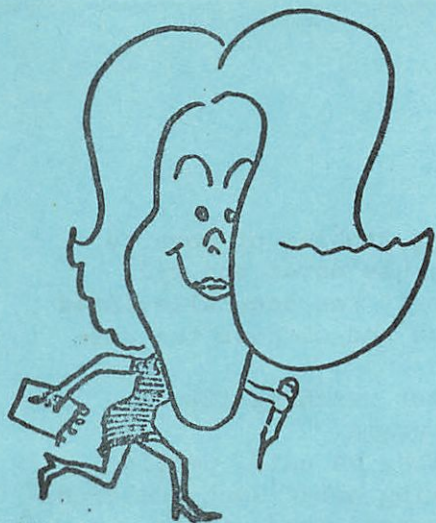

The administration's proposal would raise the number of units used in computing a full-time student load from 10 to 12, accounting for the $14 tuition increase. Also proposed was a $30 increase in out-of-district tuition.

Board member Dean Webb moved that the Board approve the tuition increase, but his motion died for lack of a second. Catherine Lauris then introduced a motion to hike tuition $5. However, Robert Mention urged that no action be taken on the issue until the 1971-72 operating budget proposal has been reviewed.

In other matters, the Board:

-  Approved a recommendation to purchase two standard Ford Torinos for the college motor pool at a total net cost of $4,640.88 and to delay buying a car for the president.
-  Heard Bob Way report that the Cooperative Work Experience program is operating successfully
-  Heard a complaint from sophomore history major Dave Holst that some of the literature being posted and distributed on campus is in poor taste. Holst asked that the Board consider establishing a review committee to censor such literature. Board Chairman Robert Ackerman replied that he felt it would be inconsistent with the college's philosophy to deny free expression on campus as long as it did not interfere with the educational process
-  Commended Paul Armstrong and Larry Romine for their effort's on Armstrong's book "Flipside of Paul Armstrong."
-  Heard Marston Morgan report that winter term enrollment is up about 200 students over fall term with a total headcount of 8,800 individual students.

PREMIERING TONIGHT IN THE FORUM THEATER is the musical-comedy "Roar of the Greasepaint-- The Smell of the Crowd," the LCC student production directed by Ed Ragozzino. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Only a few tickets remain for tonight's performance. The show will continue its run Friday and Saturday at the same time and next week on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Tickets are available at the Information Desk.

WE WELCOME BACK TO THE CAMPUS TODAY AN OLD FRIEND of LCC, BOB HAMILL.

Bob came here in 1966 as administrative assistant to the president. He served as director of institutional research the following year and then was named acting-president of LCC in 1968.

Presently, he is vice-president of Highline Community College in Midway, Wash., and is returning to LCC to learn about the program budgeting process developed by "Watkins & Associates."

"ROAR OF THE GREASEPAINT" opened last night before a full house and will continue enjoying capacity crowds throughout its six-day run. The LCC student production is sold out and director Ed Ragozzino is considering adding a seventh performance.

HEALTH INSURANCE agent Archie
Zarewski will be on campus today from 2-3 p.m. Contact Carol Beckley for location.

TONIGHT ONLY the LCC newscast on PL-3 TV will be seen from 6:30-7 p.m. instead of its regular 10:30 spot.

Features will be excerpts from Monday night's television call-in show on community colleges, a report on KLCC, and sports news.

The fast and funny contemporary musical centers around the plight of Cocky, the little guy in a world that all too often gives him a "raw deal." Hit songs from the show, which opened on Broadway in 1965 include "Who Can I Turn To," "a Wonderful Day Like Today," and "The Joker."

The 55-member company includes a 23-piece orchestra conducted by performing arts instructor Nathan Cammack.
Other department instructors involved in the production are David Sherman, technical director, and Wayte Kirchner, vocal director.

Following the six-night campus run, and now possibly a seventh, Ragozzino plans to take the show on a three-day road trip. The first performance will be at Mt. Angel College Feb. 25. Then members of the State legislature will be treated to a special showing at Willamette University Feb. 26 sponsored by the Lane County delegation.

The tour will wind up on Feb. 27 with a performance at the state penitentiary.

Ragozzino said the purpose of the road trip is twofold--to give the company experience in setting up and playing on different stages, and to bring the musical to places where such shows are rarely seen.

"MOST OF OUR YOUNG PEOPLE are being prepared for a world they will never see", Marvin Feldman stressed during his talk on campus last night.

The nationally-recognized voc-ed specialist pointed out that while 80 percent of the people are employed in jobs not requiring a college education, the federal government spends $14 on higher education for every dollar it invests in vocational and career education.

"This means that millions of our young people are struggling to prepare "for mistaken goals," he said.

Compounding this tragic situation, he said, is the lingering problem of poverty and education's inability to attack it effectively. "Poverty has never and will never respond to conventional education," Feldman said. "Poverty has been alleviated only when education has been offered with a vocational purpose and without the customary formalities and requirements."

Feldman placed part of the blame for vocational education not reaching its potential market on those who direct vocational education programs.

Instead of organizing a strong voice for vocational education, he said, people in the field have been preoccupied with minor internal bickering about such questions as the technical institute versus community colleges and industrialized versus vocational education. This is also why "we have programs but no logical system of vocational education," he added.

Feldman cited as a continuing problem vocational leaders' inability to effectively answer for themselves and for educational policy makers which is more effective--institutionalized vocational education or job training programs in industry.

"We need to stress that vocational education is education", he said, "dedicated to turning out well-rounded individuals who can communicate with their fellow workers as well as being highly skilled craftsmen."

CLIMAXING National Vocational Education Week will be the Oregon Vocation Association conference Friday and Saturday at the Portland Hilton.

A number of LCC people will be taking part in the two-day meeting, including Herb Pruett, who is president of the Industrial Education section of the association. Among others attending from Lane will be Mel Gaskill, Rick Romanek, Bob Gault, Bob Way, Jed Merrill, Monte Marshall and Bud Land.

ALSO IN HONOR of Vocational Education Week, the welding department is featuring a display of student projects which may be seen on the lower floor of the apprenticeship building. Also on exhibit are house frame models, the work of the construction technology students.

THESE STORIES ARE ALWAYS WELCOME: Wednesday, a young lady walked into the Business Office and confessed, "I owe the college money and my conscience won't let me alone until I pay it."

It seems that when she enrolled for two winter term classes, she falsely registered as a district student so she would only have to pay $45. Actually, she lives outside the college district and should have paid twice that amount.

And that's what her conscience kept reminding her until she handed over $45 to clerk Wilma Bagley.

Caught by surprise, Wilma started to reply, but the young lady smiling interrupted "Thanks--now I'll sleep good again!"

LAST THURSDAY, Mel Gaskill's Aviation Maintenance program hosted 30 explorer scouts from troupe 147 for a clinic demonstration of non-destructive testing. A second clinic is planned in the near future.

ART INSTRUCTOR RON TORE JANSON has won a $150 purchase award for a drawing submitted to the Northwest Annual Art Show. His prize-winning entry is currently on display at the Erb Memorial Building on the UO campus.

SHE'S HERE! Kimberly Ann DeForrest, a big six pound two ounce girl, born to Judy (former Purchasing secretary) and husband Martin Thursday morning. Congratulations.

FLOWERS SOUGHT: The social committee needs fresh flowers for decorating the cafeteria for Friday's staff dinner party. If you have any you would be willing to donate (even a small bouquet will be appreciated), contact Lisl Fenner, ext. 334.

AN AUTOGRAPH PARTY at the Book Mart tomorrow from 12n-2:15p.m. will honor Paul Armstrong and his latest book "Flip Side of Paul Armstrong." Staff members are invited to drop by the Book Mart located at 856 Olive St.

A WEDNESDAY NIGHT PERFORMANCE has been added to the original six-night run of "The Roar of the Grease-paint-The Smell of the Crowd."

Tickets went on sale Friday evening. Any remaining may be purchased from Wendy at the Information Desk. *****

"JOBS 70" CONGRESSMAN JOHN DELLENBACK will be on campus tonight to take part in a kickoff dinner for a new job opportunity program.

Appropriately called "JOBS 70" (Jobs in the Business Sector), the program will make it possible for 50 to 60 unemployed or underemployed people from this area to be hired as on-the-job trainees by small business firms in Lane County.

Half of their salaries will be paid by the employers and the remainder by the U.S. Department of Labor. "JOBS 70" is a Labor Department program which was developed in cooperation with the National Alliance of Businessmen.

LCC is sponsor of the "consortium" and will handle job-related education and administrative services through the Adult Education office. NILE WILLIAMS is project director and MARY MERRILL, consortium coordinator. LCC is believed to be the only educational institution in the country participating in "JOBS 70." Some participants may be eligible for LCC classes, medical or dental assistance, and counseling and transportation help.

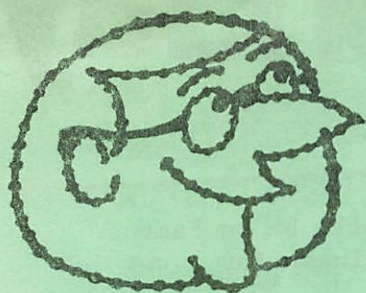

The program provides 18 months of on-the-job training after which time the participants should be ready to become permanent employees of the firms.

Representatives of the participating businesses will gather for dinner and an orientation session tonight at 7 p.m. Rep. Dellenback will speak at the dinner. A panel discussion will follow at 8:30 p.m. in the Board Room.

"'ROAR OF THE GREASEPAINT'" is probably the best school musical that Ragozzino has directed since his South Eugene High School days. And for sheer luminosity and good cheer, it would be hard to find any show that he's done that's turned out better."

This praise came from Register Guard drama critic Don Bishoff who reviewed opening night of the sell-out LCC musical-comedy. In his review of the show, Bishoff also wrote: "It's another marvelous integrated production, with Nathan Cammack's strong and melodious orchestra... David Sherman's bright-but-simple set and Wayte Kirchner's sterling vocal direction all put together in a great big package of entertainment by Ragozzino."

A PAIR OF WEEKEND VICTORIES put the LCC basketball team back into the thick of the fight for an OCCAA play-off berth. The Titans whipped Central Oregon CC 96-86 Friday at home and won at Salem against Chemeketa 82-70 Saturday. LCC used the 1-2 punch of Greg Taylor and Willie Jones to provide spark for the wins. Taylor hit 20 points against Central and 27 against Chemeketa, while Jones netted 21 and 18. Lane's league record is now 8-4, two games behind CC and three behind SWOCC in southern division standings. Only the top two finishers are eligible for the play-offs.

THE COLLEGE CABINET THIS MORNING will continue discussion of the proposed Student Bill of Rights and Responsibilities introduced two weeks ago by Student President Warren Coverdell.

Copies will be sent to the LCC Board members by the Student Senate and the document is scheduled for consideration at the March Board meeting.

Also on the agenda for today's 9 a.m. meeting are a review of the upcoming Budget Committee meeting (Feb. 17) and a report from Dr. Schafer on the Oregon Community College Presidents' meeting last weekend.

FRESH FLOWERS are sought by the social committee for decorating the cafeteria for the staff dinner party Friday. If you could bring a few blossoms or greens, contact Lisl Fenner, ext. 334.

THE BOOK MARK at 856 Olive St. in Eugene is hosting an autograph party for Paul Armstrong today from noon until 2:15 p.m. Paul will be signing copies of his latest book "Flip Side of Paul Armstrong."

At last week's Board meeting, director Robert Mention praised the book for its content and design. Credit for the design and production of "Flip Side" goes to graphics specialist DON JOHNSON and the print shop personnel who worked with him.

THE MEDIA COMMISSION will meet today at 4 p.m. in Center 222.

INSURANCE AGENT ARCHIE ZAREWSKI will be in the Business Manager's Office today at 1 p.m. to answer questions about the health insurance policy.

THE ADULT EDUCATION KARATE TEAM coached by Bruce Combs competed in Portland last Saturday and returned with three second place wins and one third. Second place finishers were Wes Chamberlain (black belt), Barry Hornsby (light-weight brown belt), and Grover Brown (colored belt). Roger DeRosa (white belt) won a third place finish.

The team will travel to Auburn, Wash. March 6 to compete against Green River Community College.

BOOKSTORE FIGURES: Bookstore Manager

Ada Zinser passed along some interesting figures on the number of books returned to the Bookstore for full refund during the last two quarters.

During the first ten days of Fall Term, students returned 1,190 books for full refund for a total of $7,597. These were books returned because of dropped classes, withdrawal from school, transfer to a section using a different text, or error in purchasing, she said.

From Jan. 4 to Jan. 19, 687 books were returned for refunds totalling $4,266.

Ada pointed out that these refunds are a costly concern, especially since many of the books must be sent back to publishers and the postal rates will soon be sharply increased.

A GROUP OF LOCAL RESIDENTS went camping this weekend, loaded with skis, snow shoes and their warmest underwear.

They are all members of an adult education class in Winter Camping and Survival who tested their skills in the Hoodoo area. The group of 14 men, six women, and one dog donned snow gear early Saturday morning, hiked in using maps and compasses, and then built snow caves for their overnight stay.

With them was instructor Ken Reiser and Bud Proctor, adult education coordinator.

Reiser says he'd give all his students an "A" for their performance--even a couple who late Saturday night learned the uncomfortable lesson that the roof of a snow cave must be very smooth-----otherwise it drips, and drips, and drips.....

NURSE ELLENE GOLDSMITH notes it's time for staff members to refresh their knowledge of what to do in case of an epileptic seizure or a diabetic reaction. This information is contained in the Health Service's emergency care brochure which is available in the Health Service office.

THE BOOKSTORE COMMISSION has elected its new officers. JIM HUNTINGTON, electronics, was named chairman, JOHN PHILLIPS, industrial technology, vice-chairman; and Controller BILL MANSELL, secretary.

Huntington has been serving as acting chairman of the commission.

PHI DELTA KAPPA members invite the public to join them tomorrow night to hear Dale Parnell, superintendent of public instruction, discuss education bills pending.

The meeting will begin at 7:30p.m. at Roosevelt Junior High (680 E. 24th Ave., room E-3).

A new salesman wrote his first "report" to the home office, and it stunned the brass to learn that obviously the "new hope" was a blithering illiterate. He wrote:

"I seen this outfit which they ain't never bought a dime's worth of nothin from us, and sole them a couple hundred throusand dollars worth of guds. I am now going to Chicago."

Before the illiterate could be given the "heave-ho" by his Sales Manager came another letter:

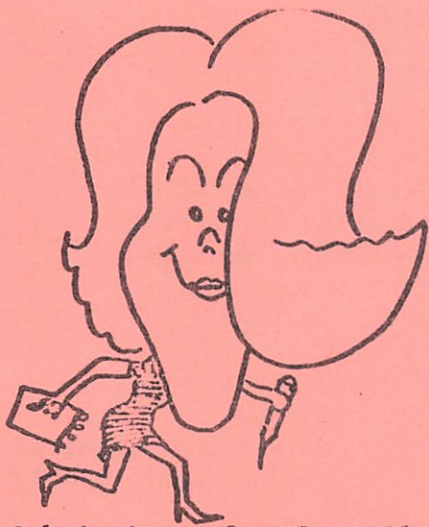

"I cum hear and sole them half a millyun."

Fearful if he did and fearful if he didn't fire the illiterate peddler, the Sales Manager dumped the problem in the lap of the Company President.

The following morning members of the ivory tower were flabbergasted to see the two letters posted on the bulletin board and this letter from the prexy tacked above them:

"We ben spending too much time trying to spel instead of trying to sel. Let's watch them sails. I want everybody shud read them letters from Gootch who is on the rode doin a grate job for us and shud go out and do like he done."

Dr. Schafer found this story which has a good message.

COLLEGE CABINET: Yesterday's College Cabinet meeting covered a variety of topics from a student poll on graduation to the bulging college telephone bill.

Student President Warren Coverdell reported on a survey taken to determine student feelings on the traditional graduation ceremony. He said that 228 students responded to the survey and the results indicated that the college could expect close to half of those receiving diplomas or certificates to participate in the ceremonies. This is close to last year's percent of participation, Bert Dotson said.

A similar survey of faculty members drew 29 responses. Of those responding, 20 favored holding a graduation ceremony and 16 said they would attend.

In other discussion:

 Student representatives said the final draft of the proposed Student Bill of Rights has been completed and will be brought to the Student Senate for ratification Thursday. Arrangements are also being made for the Bill to be discussed at an Instructional Council meeting.

 Dr. Schafer said Linn-Benton Community College has proposed an inter-district agreement with LCC to allow students from the respective schools to enroll in certain selected programs at the other school at in-district tuition rates. The president asked the deans to determine whether LCC has some programs which would be appropriate for this interchange and could accommodate additional out-of-district enrollment.

 Marston Morgan introduced a suggestion from a student group that instead of raising the tuition rate, a $2.50 parking fee be levied for students and staff each term. Bill Cox commented that this had been considered but the idea abandoned because it would require a control gate being erected and additional security personnel.

Parking fee..... Dr. Schafer said he felt this is another alternative that should be considered if the college is seriously interested in cutting student costs. He said that an additional means which will be introduced to the Board for approval is the elimination of the mandatory physical exam for students entering the college.

 Dr. Schafer commented that the college's long-distance telephone bill keeps getting bigger and bigger. He asked Bill Cox to look into the types of calls being made from the college and suggested that some people are making calls on matters that are not particularly timely and could be taken care of by card or letter.

AUDIO-VISUAL SERVICES has several new pieces of equipment in for evaluation and would like interested staff to drop in and compare them.

The equipment includes:

-  8mm silent movie camera with the new self-loading cartridges-- 2 models; Kodak and Bell & Howell
-  Slide/Tape (cassette) synchronizer units (Wollensak (3M) 2550 Sound-o-matic, Narrator 850)

PROGRAMS FOR OUTLYING COMMUNITIES STARTING

Two new programs have been developed by the math and home economics departments to bring educational opportunities to outlying areas in the college district.

The one in math is already making it possible for students in the Florence area to take the same math courses offered on the Eugene campus. The program was developed through use of audio and video tapes and programmed materials prescribed for students on an individual basis by instructor Richard Tebbs. He travels to Florence each Tuesday, taking with him electronic equipment and other resources needed to teach the four classes.

Presently students are taking elementary algebra, college algebra, trigonometry, and elementary occupational math. Their objectives vary from studying to pass a real estate exam to working toward a transfer degree from LCC. Within a few weeks, another group will begin studying elementary algebra as part of the high school completion program in Florence.

The classes are taught on an open-entry, open-exit basis, meaning that students can enter a particular class at any time during the year and complete the course at their own pace.

Tebbs has taught in high schools, two-year and four-year colleges. A graduate student at the University of Oregon, he recently developed video tapes for students to use in learning mathematics.

MOBILE CLASSROOM COMING FOR HOMEMAKERS

A second program, developed by the home economics department, is aimed at homemakers who wish to improve their homemaking skills but cannot come to the college for classes.

Soon, a mobile unit will travel to outlying areas in the college district, bringing to interested homemakers easy-to-read materials on such topics as meal planning, caring for clothing, buying appliances, and rainy-day activities for children.

Homemakers will also be able to check out film strips and projectors to use. In addition, those who wish will be given a test on what they have learned and then will be awarded a certificate of completion just as they would on campus.

The project was begun last summer when state voc-tec funds were granted to the home economics department for developing the materials. These study packets are now being duplicated and assembled in the print shop and are expected to be ready for use within the next two weeks.

FOUR ADDITIONAL MAGAZINES have been added to the library's circulation, Del Matheson reports. These may be checked out or read in the library.

The additions are:

Hudson Review--a literary publication

Educational Products Report

New Statesman--political comment

Clearing House--features trends in education, new concepts

THE COLLEGE FACILITIES STAFF invites friends of ELOISE MOXNESS, warehouse inventory clerk, to join them for a going-away party in her honor today at 2:30p.m. in the College Facilities office.

Eloise will be leaving her post today to go into private business with her husband.

WE WELCOME to LCC today home economics instructors from area high schools, community colleges, and four-year institutions. They will be participating in a one-day articulation conference, discussing such topics as core curriculum and transfer programs.

ALSO MEETING ON CAMPUS today is the Oregon WEST Educational Society of Telecommunications.

CAMPUS EVENTS will be featured tonight on the LCC newscast seen at 10:30 p.m. on PL-3 TV, cable 10.

STARTING MONDAY, LCC will give the "boot" to habitual violators of campus parking regulations. The boot, which is also used by the Eugene Police Dept., is a device that slips over the rim of a car's wheel so that it cannot be moved away. It will be clamped onto vehicles whose owners have ignored three or more citations for violations.

In the past, such vehicles have been towed away. "I think the boot is a more humane method than towing," explained head of security Mark Rocchio. "Towing costs are $15 to $20 and there's always the possibility of damage."

Owners of vehicles rendered immovable by the boot will have to pay only the normal bail amounts, which range from $3 to $5 per citation. To assure that a driver notices his vehicle is booted, Rocchio said warning stickers would be placed on the windshield and two doors.

CLASSIFIED REVIEW COMMITTEE REPORTS: In its first report to Dr. Schafer, the Classified Positions Review Committee recommended that all departments with a total FTE instructor staff of 20 or more and requiring a secretary with supervisory responsibility be authorized a secretary III.

Promotion of the present secretary II to the higher level would be at the discretion of the department chairman, if the committee's suggestion is followed.

Further, the committee recommended that if the secretary is selected for promotion, she should move to the step in the secretary III scale which gives the minimum increase in pay. This means that a person whose present position is secretary II, step 3 ($458) would move to secretary III, step 1 ($464).

The committee also recommended that qualified personnel analyze and evaluate the secretarial positions supporting the college administrative sections and that craftsmen hired by the college be placed on the salary schedule at approximately 80 percent of the hourly wages paid to union members.

Dr. Schafer said yesterday he agreed with the general recommendations in this first report. He added that he would be in favor of requesting further evaluation of classified positions by a qualified person outside the college to obtain the most objective analysis possible.

IT LOOKS LIKE AN ENJOYABLE EVENING is in store for some 170 staff members and their guests who will be coming to the Staff Theater Party this evening.

The affair will begin with a steak dinner served by Merlin Ames' staff at 6:30 p.m. in the College Restaurant. Following dinner, party-goers will see the LCC musical-comedy "The Roar of the Greasepaint--the Smell of the Crowd." The theater evening will conclude with coffee being served in the Staff Lounge.

SPORTS: LCC will host the OCCAA wrestling championships tomorrow at the gym. Preliminary action begins at 1 p.m. with the finals set for 7:30 p.m. Six schools, including Lane, will be competing for the team title currently held by Clackamas Community College. Others participating are Central Oregon, Mt. Hood, Clatsop, and Columbia Christian College.

Clackamas and Central are expected to fight it out for team honors. Both schools have two returning champions. LCC's Jim McIrvin (175 lb) figures to be the Titans top hope for a high finish.

Admission to the championships is free.

BASKETBALL: Titan basketballers face a must win situation this weekend as they play road games tonight at Linn-Benton and tomorrow at SWOCC. The Titans need two victories to keep alive a chance for an OCCAA play-off berth. LCC defeated LBCC 87-75 earlier this year, but SWOCC handed Lane its first loss 98-81 on Jan. 16.

SWOCC currently leads OCCAA southern division standings with a 11-1 record. LCC trails in third place with a 8-4 mark. Willie Jones continues to pace Titan scoring with a 19.9 average per game.

P.S. TO IRV ROTH: Sports Illustrated reports that Goldey Beacon Junior College of Wilmington, Del. romped Allentown, Pa. Business School 202-82. Halftime score was 107-37!

COLLEGE CABINET: The College Cabinet will review agenda items for Wednesday's Board/Budget meeting at its regular session tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the Board Room.

The Budget Committee is scheduled to complete its work on the 1971-72 budget Wednesday. Also that evening, a special Board session will be held to take action on the tuition proposal and the SPPC package and to discuss the campus health services.

Other matters scheduled for discussion at tomorrow's Cabinet meeting include election information for the March 31 budget vote, copyright procedures, and evaluation of classified staff.

WE WELCOME TO LCC and to her post as warehouse inventory clerk MRS. MARY GAY.

She replaces ELOISE MOXNESS who resigned to go into private business with her husband.

"We'll be carefully scrutinizing capital outlay expenditures," Dr. Schafer told the Instructional Council last Thursday. The president appeared before the Council to inform members that a budget deficit is expected at the end of the current fiscal year, due to errors made last year in predicting expected income. He said that one error discovered recently leaves the college $80,000 short in funds expected from fixed charges.

STARTING TODAY, the "boot" will be clamped onto vehicles in the parking lot whose owners have ignored three or more citations for violations.

Owner will have to pay only the normal bail amounts, which range from $3 to $5 per citation.

To assure that a driver notices he vehicle is booted, warning stickers will be placed on the windshield and two doors.

CAMPUS CONVERSATION:

JOE: "No--but it's through no fault of our own!"

FINAL APPROVAL OF A salary-fringe benefits package for next year is expected at Wednesday night's special Board meeting.

The SPPC Friday distributed copies of the Board's latest proposal and asked that staff members indicate their acceptance or rejection of the offer.

The proposal includes:

- * a 7.5 percent salary increase for those earning step increases and approximately 3.5 percent for those at the end of the salary schedules
- * Fringe benefits: major medical improved from $25,000 to $50,000; a $60 maximum allowance for an annual medical exam for staff members
- * Classified holidays increased from 7 to 10 days annually
- * Sick leave increased from 10 to 12 days annually for 12-month employees
- * Level IV instituted at 140 percent of the base (qualifications are being refined jointly by SPPC and administration)

THE FINAL EXAM SCHEDULE for winter term is ready. Tests will be given March 15-19. Additional copies of the exam schedule are available at the Information Desk in the administration bldg.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISHES TODAY go to

BOB BOETTCHER, science instructor

NEARLY 200 staff members and their guests attended the Staff Theater Party Friday.

The evening began with a steak dinner served in the College Restaurant by Merlin Ames and his staff. During dinner, musical entertainment was provided by JOHN KLOBAS, singing and playing his accordion.

Also during the dinner, master of ceremonies EVAN ALFORD took charge of the door prizes and presented several special awards. The big door prizes were won by PAT LAGRANDEUR, wife of Associate Dean Ray, who took home a portable TV, and the FLO GERG family, who won a transistor radio. FLO is a secretary in the Health & Physical Education Dept.

Taking home "special" awards were WALT VAN ORDEN, who accepted a "key to the Board's heart" on behalf of the SPPC; and DICK EYMANN, who received "from his constituents" a deed to the Adair Air Force base.

Following dinner, the party guests were part of the capacity audience at "The Roar of the Greasepaint--The Smell of the Crowd."

THE SOCIAL COMMITTEE WISHES TO THANK all those who came to the party and especially those who helped make it an enjoyable evening--MERLIN AMES AND HIS STAFF, JOHN KLOBAS, EVAN ALFORD, and THE CAST OF "ROAR OF THE GREASEPAINT."

IN TURN, thanks should go to the members of the Social Committee who planned the evening. Helping were JESSIE MCCORMICK, chairman; LISL FENNER, BILL COX, and JIM ELLISON.

DESPITE LOSING TO SWOCC 88-81 Saturday night, the LCC basketball team still has a chance at the OCCAA play-offs.

While Lane was narrowly losing at Coos Bay, Umpqua was being defeated by Central Oregon 88-59. The loss left Umpqua with a 10-4 league record to LCC's 9-5, with the two teams meeting at LCC tomorrow night.

A win for Lane will tie the Titans for second place in southern division standings and put them in a position for a play-off berth. A loss will give Umpqua the runner-up spot outright and send the Roseburg team and SWOCC into the OCCAA tourney as the division's two representatives.

Lane actually split its weekend games, beating LBCC 96-79 at Albany Friday. Guard Greg Taylor had another excellent weekend for the Titans, hitting 27 points against Linn-Benton and 22 against SWOCC. Willie Jones brought his season's average to 20 points per game with 41 points in the two contests. Steve Armitage and Steve Woodruff also hit in double figures in both games.

TITAN WRESTLERS FINISHED last in the six-team OCCAA wrestling championships held at LCC Saturday. Defending champion Clackamas ran away with the team title again, scoring 112 points. LCC finished with 20. Top finisher for Lane was 134 lb. Pat Fugate who was second in his division. Von Bailey, Lane's 150 pounder, took a third.

THE BUDGET COMMITTEE is scheduled to complete its review of the proposed budget document and to formally approve a budget for the coming year at its fourth meeting Wednesday evening.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Board room and is tentatively scheduled to be split into two sessions, allowing for a short Board meeting in between the budget committee deliberations.

During the Board meeting, directors will again hear a recommendation to raise the number of credit hours considered a full-time student load for in-district students from 10 to 12 hours. This would increase the tuition charge for these students from $70 to $84 per term.

Also suggested is raising out-of-district tuition for full-time students from $140 to $170. No change in out-of-state or foreign student tuition is recommended since the rate charged these students is already high enough to cover the cost of their education at LCC, officials say.

At the Feb. 10 Board meeting, the directors tabled this matter, saying they would reconsider it after the 1971-72 budget proposal had been reviewed and the implications of a tuition increase on the budget could better be assessed.

The Board will also discuss the student health services on campus and hear a recommendation to drop the physical exam requirement for full-time students.

In further business, the directors are expected to take formal action on the staff salary-fringe benefits proposal.

THE BUDGET COMMITTEE last week gave tentative approval to the first sections of the general fund budget which include the instructional departments and student services. Members also tentatively okayed schedules II through IV (including special instructional programs, bond retirement, capital projects, and separately sustained funds).

Yet to be reviewed are budgets for several administrative departments (funding, institutional research, development, college-community relations, information-publications), the business office, college facilities, and employee benefits.

A CLUB FOR VETERANS ATTENDING LCC will be organized during a meeting Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in 201 Electronics. Rick Romanek, electronics instructor and the club's adviser, said this would be a social-service organization rather than a politically oriented group.

It is hoped that the club will attract many of the 1,000 veterans on campus this year and will give them a chance to meet other servicemen who have returned to school.

THE COOPERATIVE WORK EXPERIENCE coordinators' meeting for today has been postponed until March 4 at noon in Center 124.

TODAY'S ISSUE OF THE REMINDER will include a 16-page tabloid section describing the LCC Adult Education program. The special feature was prepared by LARRY ROMINE, information-publications director.

FACULTY AND CLASSIFIED SECTION meetings will be held Thursday at 4 p.m. The faculty will meet in Forum 311 and the classified staff in Forum 309.

A CLUB FOR VETERANS attending LCC will be organized during a meeting tonight at 6:30 p.m. in 201 Electronics.

It is hoped that the club will attract many of the 1,000 veterans on campus this year and will give them a chance to meet other servicemen who have returned to school.

LCC COUNSELORS will meet today at 11:35 a.m. in Center 225.

BUDGET DELIBERATIONS: Hopefully, by early tomorrow morning, LCC will have a 1971-72 budget approved by the citizens budget committee and ready to be submitted by the voters on March 31.

The Budget Committee will convene for the fourth time tonight at 8 for what is expected to be a long meeting.

If the budget deliberations are not completed tonight and final approval of an operating proposal is not received from the Budget Committee, the date of the budget election will have to be moved back--possible to the first week in April or May 3 when Dist. 4J votes on its levy.

The proposed budget calls for spending a total of $14.3 million next year, including $8.5 million for general operation. This would require a total property tax levy of $3.7 million, including nearly $1.3 million that would have to be approved by district voters. The tax levy would raise the LCC property tax rate from the current $1.52 per $1,000 of true cash value to $1.90.

BOARD MEETING

During a short recess of the Budget Committee tonight, the Board will act on several matters which have impact on the budget proposal. These include the SPPC salary package, the proposed tuition increase, and a request to add $3,000 to the Health Service budget.

The Board is expected to formally approve the SPPC salary package for the coming year. Earlier this month, the directors agreed to a 7.5 percent increase in total staff salary-fringe benefits over last year and instructed the SPPC to come up with a proposal on how this increase should be distributed. The SPPC's proposal, which was circulated among staff members Friday for endorsement, will be submitted to the Board tonight.

The proposed $3,000 addition to the Health Service budget would allow the college to continue retaining a doctor on the Health Service staff for four hours a week and would cover the cost of some of his supplies.

Along with this request from the Health Service will be a recommendation from the administration to abolish the mandatory physical examination required of full-time students entering the college. Suggested to replace the exam is a "self-reporting" form which all students would be required to complete during registration, indicating any special health problems and persons to contact in case of emergency.

The proposal to raise the number of credit hours considered a full-time student load from 10 to 12 hours, increasing the tuition charge for district students from $70 to $84 per term was tabled by the Board at its last meeting. Directors said they would reconsider the proposal after the budget document had been reviewed and the implications of a tuition increase on the budget could better be assessed.

The proposal also suggests raising out-of-district tuition for full-time students from $140 to $170 per term.

A SECRETARY II POSITION is open in the Industrial Technology Dept. Contact Chairman Bud Land for interview.

HEALTH INSURANCE REPRESENTATIVE Archie Zarewski will be in the business manager's office today at 11 a.m. to answer staff questions on the LCC policy.

A "CLASSIFIED STAFF APPRAISAL SHEET" will be initiated this spring to provide an on-going evaluation of each classified staff member.

A rough draft copy of the form was presented to the College Cabinet yesterday by Business Manager Bill Watkins. He explained that this additional evaluation form would allow a supervisor to periodically evaluate his classified employees' strengths and weaknesses on the job and would become a part of each employee's work record. Watkins said that the present "blue" form used by supervisors to recommend their classified employees for step advancement would probably still be used.

The proposed evaluation form will be circulated among supervisors for their suggestions on its content before it is finalized, Watkins said.

Staff Association President Karen Lansdowne asked that classified staff be involved in the evaluation of the form after it is used for the first time this spring. Cabinet members agreed this should be done.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE of the Staff Association will meet at noon today in the SPPC room, fourth floor, Center to discuss three main topics: the "Classified Staff Appraisal Sheet," the SPPC negotiations, and faculty input into Instructional Council decision making.

Interested staff members are urged to attend the meeting.

THE LIBRARY URGENTLY needs a copy of the Jan. 26, 1971 issue of LOOK magazine. If you can provide this copy, please contact Del Matheson.

A BERTH IN THIS WEEKEND's OCCAA basketball tourney will be at stake tonight in Coos Bay as LCC meets Umpqua for the second evening in a row.

Tonight's play-off at SWOCC for the tournament spot was necessitated by Lane's 88-77 home victory last night over Umpqua. The win tied the Titans and Timbermen for second place in final OCCAA southern division standings. Both schools finished with 10-5 records.

Lane was led by center Willie Jones with 23 points and 18 rebounds. Guard Steve Woodruff played his best game of the season, adding 22 points.

FACULTY AND CLASSIFIED SECTION MEETINGS will be held today at 4 p.m. The faculty will meet in Forum 311 and the classified staff in Forum 309.

Scheduled for discussion at the Faculty Section meeting are OCCA resolutions and a suggestion that legislation be introduced to provide compulsory arbitration for faculty-board salary negotiations.

BUDGET CUTBACKS ASKED BY COMMITTEE

HUNDREDS OF BOOKS ARE ON LOAN to staff members, Del Matheson, librarian reports. A good share of these have been checked out for several terms.

If you have any of these books, WHICH YOU AREN'T USING, please return them so they can be made available to others.

The budget deliberations aren't over.

Instead of completing its work on the 1971-72 budget proposal, the Budget Committee last night asked the administration to recommend cutbacks which would trim $483,000 from the $8,483,353 operating fund. This amount grew to approximately $660,000 when the Board meeting after the Budget session rejected the proposed tuition increase which would have increased revenues by about $176,000.

The Board did however approve a 7.5 percent increase in staff salaries and fringe benefits.

THE STAFF of the "Concrete Statement" is sponsoring a film festival on campus tomorrow as a benefit for the literary magazine which will publish its first issue this spring.

Adviser MARILYN WANIEK of the language arts dept. said the festival entries include movies produced by students as well as local amateur and professional film makers.

They will be shown at noon, 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. Prizes for the best films will be awarded at the evening showing.

A $1 donation is being requested.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISHES today go to LUCILLE JOHNSON, Health Services secretary.

"I don't think the budget in its present form is salable to the public," Robert Ackerman said in explaining his reason for moving that cutbacks be made. He said that the over $2.00 tax rate which the proposed budget would require is a big jump from last year's $1.52 rate.

The Budget Committee will meet again March 10 to consider the administration's recommendations.

TUITION INCREASE REJECTED

The proposed tuition increase, tabled at the last Board meeting, again met strong opposition from Student Senate representatives who argued that the $14 per term hike in tuition for district students would force a number of students presently-enrolled to drop out of school. Siding with the student officials was Board member Robert Mention who said he was concerned that the increase would "close the door" to many students, particularly those who receive no financial support from their parents. Marston Morgan introduced figures from a study done fall term which showed that 60 percent of LCC students receive no financial aid from their parents. These students' annual income is about $2,500-$3,000, he added.

Taking an opposing view was Board member Dean Webb who said he felt all segments of the college district should share in absorbing the increasing costs of education. "Elderly voters are having just as hard a time with property taxes as students are with their expenses," he said.

The final vote on the proposal was 4-3, with "No" votes coming from Catherine Lauris, Richard Freeman, Mention and Ackerman. Supporting the increase were Clifford Matson, Albert Brauer, and Webb.

LEVEL IV REJECTED BY BOARD

The Board formally approved a 7.5 increase in staff salary and fringe benefits and the distribution of the increase as proposed by the SPPC with the exception of the provision for Level IV.

Board member Albert Brauer explained that the directors did not want to get involved in major salary level changes at this time since they were strongly in favor of reviewing and changing the entire salary schedule format next year.

Responding from the SPPC, Chairman Paul Malm said his committee felt this provision is "essential to the growth of the college."

Robert Mention said he felt that it should be publicly known that the Board's approval of the 7.5 percent increase was not unanimous. He said that he was one of the directors who felt that the increase was "greater than the economy could stand" this year.

Approval of the increase means that staff members will receive--pending approval of the budget:

- * the regular 5 percent step increase plus a 3.69 cost of living allowance
- * fringe benefits including major medical improved from $25,000 to $50,000 and $60 maximum allowance for annual medical exam
- * classified holidays increased from 7 to 10 days annually
- * sick leave increased from 10 to 12 days annually for 12-month employees

MARCH 31 BUDGET ELECTION OUT

Because the Budget Committee did not complete its work last night and will not meet again until March 10, the budget election date tentatively set at March 31 will have to be moved back, possibly into late April or early May.

TOURNEY SPOT CAPTURED: LCC won a spot in this weekend's OCCAA basketball tournament by beating Umpqua 76-73 last night in a one-game play-off at Coos Bay.

The two teams had tied for second place in OCCAA southern division standings at the end of the regular season play.

Lane's Steve Woodruff hit a pair of free throws to ice the game in the closing seconds. He was the contest's leading scorer, hitting 25 points. Center Willie Jones added 21 to the Titan cause.

Irv Roth's squad will meet Judson Baptist, northern division runner-up in Friday's 7 p.m. opening tourney game. The tournament is being held at Mt. Hood CC. The host school and SWOCC, the two division champions, will play the second game Friday. Then the winner of the LCC-Judson game will meet the MHCC-SWOCC loser Saturday for the other berth in the western regional play-offs.

FILM FESTIVAL OPENS AT NOON: A one-day film festival is expected to attract a number of amateur and professional film makers as well as interested viewers to the Forum Theater today.

The event is sponsored by the staff of the "Concrete Statement" as a benefit for the literary magazine which will publish its first issue this spring.

The films will be shown at noon, 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. Prizes for the best entries will be awarded at the evening showing. Donations of $1 to benefit the "Concrete Statement" will be accepted.

TOURNEY OPENS: LCC and Judson Baptist open the first round of the OCCAA basketball tournament tonight at Gresham in a battle of division runner-ups. Judson Baptist had a 7-7 league mark in finishing behind Mt. Hood in northern division standings and a 15-11 record overall, poorest of the four tournament teams.

Lane, runner-up to SWOCC in southern division standings, finished 10-5 in league and 17-6 overall. The winner of tonight's LCC-JB game will play the loser of this evening's nightcap between Mt. Hood and SWOCC tomorrow at 8 p.m. for a spot in the Western Junior College Regional play-offs. Winner of the MHCC-SWOCC game will go as the OCCAA's number one entry.

Lane defeated Judson 98-68 earlier this year. Loser of tonight's rematch will be out of the tourney.

DELAY BROADCAST PLANNED: Mike Hopkinson reports that tonight's LCC-Judson Baptist game will be video taped and broadcast Monday at 9 p.m. on Cable 12. If LCC wins and plays again Saturday, that game will be seen on Cable 12 at 9 p.m. Tuesday.

JONES HONORED: Willie Jones, 6 ft. 2 Titan Center, was selected to the second team all-conference squad announced this week by the OCCAA office. Jones, who finished fifth in league scoring with a 20.1 average, was the only LCC player picked for the first or second team all-stars. However, Lane guards Greg Taylor and Dan Haxby received honorable mention.

"WHOOPEE---YOU'RE invited, too...

I'm throwing one of my famous "Pre-Birthday" parties (for those who want to have one last laugh before they turn older the next day) at 2 p.m. today in the Board Room for the good 'ole prez (Dr. Schafer to you humans). The cake's ready... but I need 43 more candles. They're suppose to be arriving by air freight...that is if Woodstock can ever find his way back. I hope you'll all come...especially RALPH COOK, electronics, FRAN FRITZ, purchasing, and JOHN WHITE, director of counseling--who will be celebrating their birthdays today and tomorrow, too.
