A NOTE FROM DR. SCHAFER: On behalf of the LCC Board of Education and administration, I wish to express our deep appreciation for all who cooperated in making the Skills Fair an outstanding event. Special commendation must go to all who prepared exhibits, displays, and activities.

While many LCC students and staff share the credit for the successful event, special commendation must go to Anne Stewart and Erika Orchard for their enthusiastic leadership and dedication throughout the weeks of planning, organizing, and long hours spent working above and beyond the call of duty.

It is this kind of effort coupled with the splendid cooperation from all segments of the college which continue to make Lane a "special kind of place."

AN ALL-CAMPUS TOWN HALL meeting will be held this afternoon between 2 and 5 to discuss the "goals and philosophies" of LCC. Sponsors of the meeting, to be held in the cafeteria, are the ASLCC and the ASLCC Communications Committee. Sponsors said the purpose of the open discussion forum is to "improve communications among the persons concerned with Lane Community College."

SPPC TO REHEAR BEN KIRK APPEAL

A REHEARING on the appeal by Science instructor Ben Kirk will be conducted by the Staff Personnel Policies Committee tomorrow starting at 10 a.m. in Center 124. The SPPC issued the following comments and guidelines concerning the manner in which the closed hearing will be conducted:

In order to reassure the entire campus community that full and fair due process has been observed in Ben Kirk's appeal, the Staff Personnel Policies Committee will hold a rehearing as described below:

HEARING GUIDELINES

- (1) A time limit of 10 minutes will be placed on all oral testimony. The SPPC chairman may limit repetitious testimony
- (2) Written statements are encouraged.

- (3) The appellant has the right to be present to hear all testimony and has the right to cross examine all adverse witnesses. The SPPC may recall adverse witnesses on its own volition or at the appellant's request.
- (4) Copies of all adverse written testimony will be given to the appellant, who has the right to reply to it orally or in writing.
- (5) The appellant may be accompanied or represented by an advisor or counselor. The advisor or counselor may also cross question adverse witnesses.
- (6) No testimony or evidence concerning matters following the opening of the original hearings (March 16, 1972) may be admissible
- (7) Further general testimony about the appellant's character or educational philosophy will be taken only from the appellant's students (past and present) and from members of the appellant's department or from staff who have been part of the formal appeals procedure, unless the appellant requests the recall of an adverse witness for purposes of cross examination.
- (8) A Torch reporter may be present at the hearing under normal guidelines for personnel hearings.
- (9) The hearing will not be public.
- (10) All persons not included by the hearing guidelines above nor included in the explanation below may come forward to offer testimony. They should submit their names and/or written statements to SPPC Chairman Ted Romoser at the Language Arts Dept office by 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, May 2.

THE FOLLOWING PERSONS may not reappear before the SPPC reopened hearings unless they have additional new testimony to offer in the Ben Kirk hearing, or unless the appellant requests their presence for cross examination. The SPPC will retain the right to judge whether or not any specific testimony is new.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Classified Section officers for 1972-73: Ralph Cook, electronics maintenance technician, chairman; Kitty Seymour, Art & Applied Design secretary, vice-chairman; Lee Savage, Institutional Research, secretary; and OCCA representatives Laura Gauderman, Dean Carter's secretary; Lisl Fenner, Community Services secretary; and Gina Ing, Mass Communications secretary.

"THE FANTASTICKS" will begin its final four night run before a capacity crowd this evening. "The show was sold out before it opened last Friday," director Ed Ragozzino reports.

BADMINTON CONTINUES: Thursday night open badminton play will continue at LCC through May. The gym will be open from 7-10pm free of charge. The weekly recreational activity was co-sponsored from September through April by the college and the Eugene Parks and Recreation Dept. Health & P.E. Dept Chairman Dick Newell said yesterday the college has decided to extend the program an additional month.

FACULTY MEETING: Faculty evaluation, appeals, workload, and grades are among topics scheduled for discussion at Thursday's Faculty Section meeting from 12noon-1pm in the board room.

NOMINATING PETITIONS for Faculty Section offices are available from department secretaries and at the administration information desk. Positions to be filled during an election May 11-15 are president, vice-president, and secretary. Return completed petitions to Jan Brandstrom, Counseling, by 5 p.m. Monday, May 8.

A COLLECTION IS BEING taken by the College Facilities staff for Courier Jerry Sirois who was injured in a motorcycle accident last week. Other staff members wishing to contribute should see Margaret Knutson. Tests are being conducted today to determine the extent of injuries to Jerry's good arm. His address at Sacred Heart Hospital is room 443, east wing.

A PAIR of brown-rimmed glasses were accidentally picked up at Monday's Town Hall meeting in the cafeteria. Inquire at switchboard.

ELECTION CENTER: Again this year, an LCC Election Information Center will be open in downtown Eugene. Located at 837 Willamette (next to the U.S. National Bank and across the street from last year's Center) it is scheduled to begin operation next week. The facility has been provided free to the college by the Eugene Renewal Agency. VOLUNTEERS are needed Thursday and Friday to clean and decorate the building and beginning next week, to staff the information center. HOW ABOUT IT? Sign up to help by calling Ext. 334.

GRADUATION DINNER: Instead of holding the traditional commencement ceremony, LCC this year will honor its graduates at a buffet dinner Sunday, June 4, in the cafeteria. The dinner will be free to those receiving degrees and certificates. Families and friends of graduates will be asked to pay.

FLOWERS (especially lilacs) are needed for Fridays Staff Theatre Party. Call Lisl Fenner, Ext. 334, if you could bring some.

CONGRATULATIONS to staff members Jonathan West and Howard Bird who won seats in Monday's school elections. West was elected to a four-year term on the Eugene school board. He had been serving by appointment in the same post. Bird won a position on the IED board and will take office July 1.

AND-A-ONE...

Democratic presidential hopeful Patsy Mink is scheduled to get a "quickie lesson" in band directing from Gene Aitken this Saturday morning in preparation for her appearance as "guest conductor" at LCC's old-fashioned outdoor concert-picnic Sunday afternoon.

The 2 p.m. event is free, and staff are invited to bring their families and a picnic lunch. Snow cones and popcorn will be sold for a nickel each.

Musical entertainment will be provided by the LCC Band. In keeping with the "old-fashioned-concert-on-the-green" theme, several other activities reminiscent of years past will take place. These include folk dancing, art and pottery displays, open volleyball play, and a badminton exhibition.

The concert will be held on the grassy area adjacent to the Center building. Dale Reed, KUGN radio's bearded program director, will be master of ceremonies. Band numbers will include two John Phillip Sousa marches and selections from "1776," the Lane County Auditorium Assn. 1972 musical, performed by several members of the cast.

Following the concert, an LCC alumni meeting will be held in Adm. 202 and a Student Senate vs. LCC staff softball game will be played.

HAVE YOU HAD your telephone conversation interrupted or been unable to complete a call from your campus office lately? If so, you're one of the recent victims of mysteriusbellophonitis. Take comfort--you're not the one afflicted. Switchboard operator Phyllis Parker says the strange malady afflicting the campus telephone system developed about two weeks ago and even the telephone company repairmen haven't been able to cure it yet.

WHEN CAN YOU EXPECT RELIEF? No one knows yet. WHAT CAN YOU DO? Explain the problem to callers if they've been disconnected or had trouble getting through to you, exercise patience, and remember--the fault is with the system, not the switchboard operators---so don't vent your frustrations on them!

LCC COUNSELOR Pauline Dixon and Health Services Director Ellene Goldsmith were presented life memberships in the Oregon Assn. of Women Deans and Counselors at the group's spring meeting. Both will be retiring this spring.

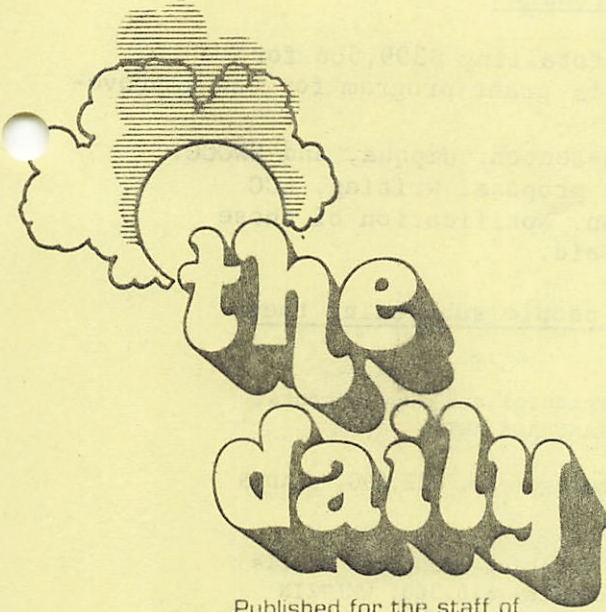

FOR SALE: Boy's 10-speed Schwinn bicycle (green). Call Steve Michaels, Ext. 251 (between 8-11am) or later at 689-2381.

SIX PERSONS have signed up for Monday's Blood Drive and 14 more donors are needed to meet LCC's quota. Sign up to give blood between 1 and 4 p.m. Call Sharon Shorey, Ext. 381.

THE LCC ELECTION INFORMATION Center will be opening the middle of next week, and volunteers are needed to staff it. The Center, at 837 Willamette, will remain open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily through May 22. It is suggested that volunteers sign up to work for two hours at a time. Call Lisl Fenner, Ext. 334, or drop by the Community Services office.

THE TIME SLOTS for "NEWSCENE" have been changing from week to week. Check the TV listing in Saturday's and Sunday's Register Guard for times the program is shown on KVAL and KEZI.

100 MARK: The Mathematics Dept. produced its 100th video tape this week. Instructors Jim Snow, John Loughlin, and Dean McIntire have been primarily responsible for the tape production which began a year ago and has continued this year with a number of other math faculty and assistants involved in the project.

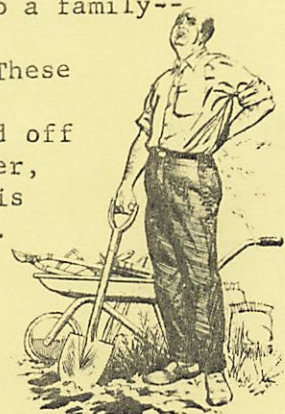

Word of their expertise has spread to other colleges, and Loughlin has been invited to direct a summer workshop in video tape production at Mt. Hood Community College, July 5-14.

GET YOUR LCC PLOT NOW!

A new opportunity is being offered to staff, students and the community-at-large by LCC. Family plots, each 250 sq. ft. in size, are now available--one to a family--on a first-come-first-get basis.

Now don't be misled. LCC is not going into the undertaker business. These plots are for gardening. At the suggestion of Board chairman Catherine Lauris, an unused area behind the apprenticeship bldg. will be sectioned off into garden plots for interested persons. The college will furnish water, but gardeners must supply their own hoses, seeds, fertilizer, etc. This is strictly organic gardening. No insecticides or weed killers are allowed.

Persons interested in growing a garden on campus should contact the College Facilities office. But be advised of two additional "LCC Gardeners' Guidelines": reasonable weed control must be practiced, and LCC can't be held responsible for any pilfering of garden produce!

18 PROPOSALS SUBMITTED FOR FUNDING

LCC staff prepared and submitted 18 proposals totalling $399,566 for funding under the Educational Coordinating Council's grant program for the improvement of undergraduate education.

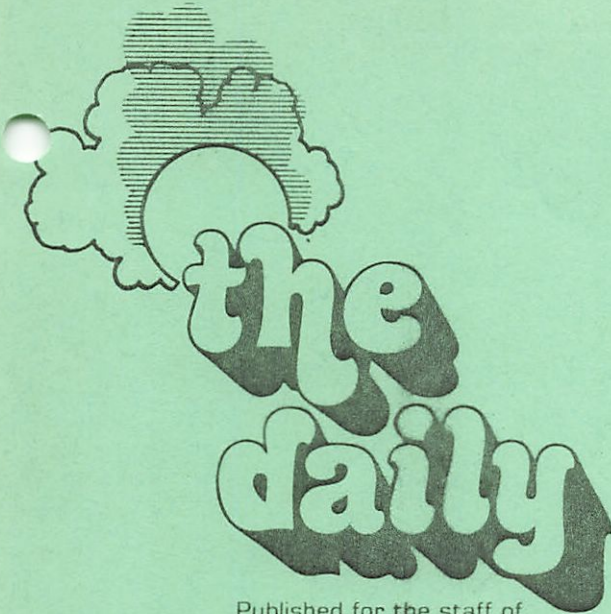

Two proposals are for joint projects with Linn-Benton, Umpqua, and SWOCC.

According to Dick Eymann, who coordinating the proposal writing, LCC submitted more proposals than any other institution. Notification of those selected for funding is expected in mid-June, he said.

Briefly, here are the proposal titles and the people submitting them:

-  Development of self-instructional material for remedial and developmental use in teaching writing. $44,885. EVAN ALFORD, LANGUAGE ARTS

ALTHOUGH THE weatherman was too cowardly to show up, some 800-1,000 local residents ignored afternoon showers Sunday to come out to the "Old Fashioned Concert on the Green," which--shortly before 2 p.m.--became the "Concert in the Cafeteria."

It was standing room only as presidential candidate Patsy Mink led off the afternoon activities by directing the concert band in its opening number. Gene Aitken's musicians put on their usual outstanding performance, which featured special appearances by Eugene trumpeter Ernie Carbajal and several cast members of "1776," the Lane County Auditorium Assn. 1972 summer musical. Dale Reed, KUGN program director, was master of ceremonies.

The rain didn't dampen the spirits of the refreshment crew, either. Jim Ellison, Wendy Westfall, Lucy Schafer, Judy Piercy, and the Dave Roof family sold nickel bags of popcorn and pop as fast as they could get them ready. And a couple of clowns circulated through the crowd to the delight of the youngsters.

THIS YEAR's STAFF theatre party attracted more than 200 staff and friends Friday night as the Food Services and Performing Arts Departments once again did an outstanding job in catering to the staff. Social committee chairman Lisl Fenner says, "the food was excellent and the show was 'fantastick'!" Surprise guests were former LCC dean of students Bud Hakanson and his wife.

FORMER SECRETARY of the Interior Stewart Udall will speak at an all campus meeting tomorrow (May 10) on behalf of the McGovern for President Campaign at 3 p.m. in the Board Room. His topic is "The Environment and McGovern's Position on the Issue." All staff and students are invited to attend.

JIM WEAVER, candidate for congressman in Fourth District, will speak at noon tomorrow in the student concourse area, second floor, the Center.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS last weekend the Titan's discovered you win some and you lose some. The Titan track team won 11 events and scored 216 points to walk away with the OCCAA Track and Field Championships in Coos Bay Friday and Saturday. Lane took firsts in these events: , high jump, long jump, high hurdles, 100 yard dash, the 220, the 880, the mile, three-mile, 440 relay and the mile relay. SWOCC was the runnerup with 97 1/2 points.

At the same time, the LCC baseball team lost a double-header to Linn-Benton at Civic Stadium. The first game was 7-0, the second, 5-2.

The men's tennis team defeated Marshfield High School 7-1.

The women's track and field team placed fourth in the Women's Sports Association Southern area track and field meet at Mt. Hood Community College.

WEDDING BELLS tolled for Mass Communication prof Mike Hopkinson and Kit Lucas, an LCC dental hygienist graduate, Friday at the Westside Church. The afternoon ceremony was performed by Mass Communication work study student Ken Mills. Ken is an ordained minister. Also representing LCC was the best man, Dennis Celorie, Mass Communication prof.

THANKS FROM JAN in the mailroom: "Jeff, Jason and I want to thank each of you for thinking about us at a very special time. All your gifts and thoughtfulness were much appreciated. Each one of the gifts has been such a help because of the unexpected earliness. Thank you so much! Jeff, Jan and Jason Burrell." In case you hadn't heard-- Jan gave birth to a 6 lb. 10 oz. boy, April 28.

EVELYN AVERY, part-time instructor in Language Arts, has been granted a one-year PhD dissertation fellowship to be used at the U.S. college of her choice. She will attend John Hopkins University in Baltimore, Maryland, where husband Don also has a fellowship.

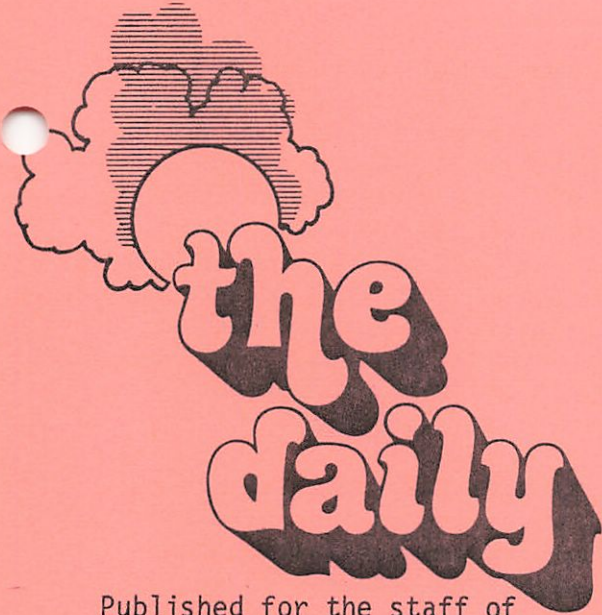

NURSING DEPARTMENT CHAIRMAN Mary Fiorentino is back on campus after attending the week-long convention of the American Nursing Assn. in Detroit as a delegate from this area.

TWO LCC STAGE BANDS, under the direction of Gene Aitken, will perform in a jazz festival at Sheldon High School, tonight at 8 p.m. The Clark College stage band, a regional winner in the American College Jazz Festival will be the guest band. Admission is 50¢.

JOHN KERRY, national organizer of Vietnam Veterans Against the War will be the speaker at a dinner sponsored by the LCC chapter of VVAW, Thursday, May 11 at 5 p.m. Admission is 50¢. The dinner will be held in the Staff Lounge, second floor of the Center.

"OUR GRANDPARENTS USED THESE THINGS. Why?" is the title of an antique display featured in the library. The items are numbered and an answer sheet with corresponding numbers, explaining their uses is posted nearby. One of the more interesting pieces is a blood-letting instrument. There are about 40 items that were commonly used in decades past.

LINN-BENTON CC District is voting for the second time today on its 1972-73 operating budget. Of the 13 community college in Oregon, 5 levies have passed, 2 were defeated (this includes Linn-Benton), two will vote later (LCC and Chemeketa), and four will not hold an election. Those passing levies are: Blue Mountain, Central Oregon, Clatsop, Clackamas and Treasure Valley. Those not voting are: Mt. Hood, Portland, Rogue and Southwestern Oregon. Umpqua has already faced two defeats.

THE COLLEGE CABINET adjourned its meeting in the board room early yesterday afternoon to attend the official opening of the Election Information Center at 837 Willamette Street. Photo displays, pamphlets, coffee and donuts and answers to questions await visitors. The food is being supplied by the Student Senate, which also is staffing the center on Fridays from now until May 22. Volunteers to staff the center at other times are needed. Call Lisl Fenner at Ext. 337. Has your department got any kind of display that ought to be at the center? Phone numbers there are 344-4281 and 82.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION tonight will discuss land development in the LCC Basin, residency requirements, student participation in national athletic and other events, garden plots on campus, and hear verbal reports from Jim Evans of the Priority Review Committee, Mike Rose of the Planning Task Force, and Dick Eymann on May 23 election activity.

Land Development in the LCC Basin: Real estate developers would like to see a community of 12,000 people in the 2,000 acres around LCC. But planners think this would require too much tax money to bring sewers, schools and other services. The College is taking a neutral stance while at the same time saying that Oregon Research Institute would make a compatible neighbor. Since the 1990 Plan limits development in the Basin to activities related to LCC, the College possibly could let ORI build on a landlord-tenant relationship. ORI could employ students, release instructors to teach for the College and its research projects could be used as class material in several departments. But the College will feel pressure to favor developer plans, because land value has increased from $168 an acre in 1967 to a reported $10,000 per acre. Institutional Researcher Marston Morgan comments in his report: "I can't help but suggest, somewhat wistfully, that in the future when we accept gifts of land from a generous donor, that we look to sharing with the donor the profits to be accrued from our acceptance."

Residency requirement: An out-of-District student is protesting the College rule that time spent in a collegiate institution doesn't count toward the residency requirement. At stake is the extra tuition cost assessed non-residents. The policy, however, is apparently legal and Dean of Students Jack Carter is recommending no change.

Student participation in national athletic and other events: The Board will decide whether the LCC stage band can participate in the Olympic College Northwest Jazz Festival on May 14. The Administration will recommend that national athletic competition be permitted, that medical insurance for athletes be furnished, and that auto insurance be extended to cover private vehicles used to transport athletes to games. But, these recommendations will be subject to prior reinstatement of sports dropped earlier because of financial problems: baseball, gymnastics, women's tennis.

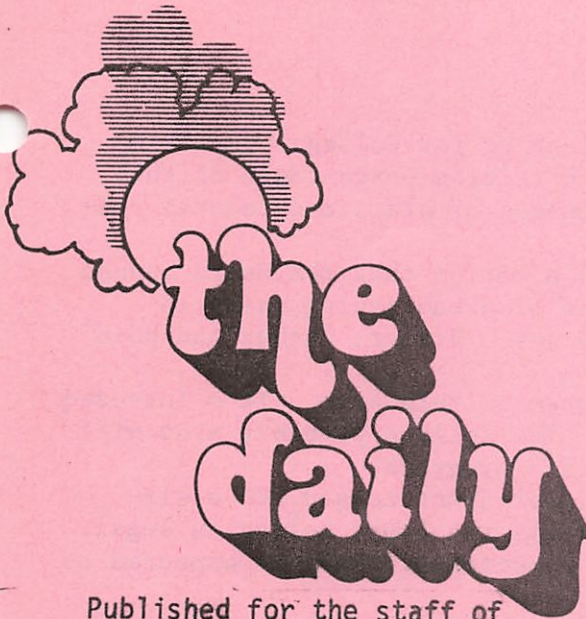

Garden plots on campus: There's room for 50 garden plots of 250 square feet or larger southwest of the Apprenticeship Building. Any citizen can use a plot. Contact Bill Cox at the College Facilities office. The garden committee--Cox, Freeman Rowe, Marston Morgan, Gary Washburn and students Lorraine Frances and Dede Neimoyer--has developed 8 guidelines. They include: 1) no family or family group will be allowed over 2,000 square feet; 2) no herbicidal weed control will be permitted; 3) the college will furnish water; 4) all gardening equipment will be furnished by the families; 5) the individual or family will furnish all seeds, fertilizers, mulches; 6) sawdust or excess soil that is on the LCC campus will be available; 7) reasonable weed control should be practiced for the appearance of the area; and 8) LCC cannot be held responsible for any pilfering or theft of garden products.

REMINDER: Stewart Udall will be on campus at 3 p.m. today to speak on behalf of the McGovern for president campaign. His topic will be "The Environment and McGovern's Position on the Issue." The meeting is in the board room.

DEADLINE FOR FILING for Faculty Section offices has been extended to Monday, May 15 at 5 p.m. Department secretaries have the nominating petitions and nominees are needed for all offices. The petitions must be returned to Jan Brandstrom, Science Bldg. Balloting will be May 18 and 19.

AN ORGANIZATIONAL meeting for the new Faculty Council will be held tomorrow at noon in the board room. All departments should have representation at this meeting. For details contact Paul Patrick, Ext. 248.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

OCCA Convention at Coos Bay.

OREGON RESEARCH INSTITUTE could become LCC's neighbor as a tenant of the College. The LCC Board of Education last night authorized the Administration to negotiate that possibility with ORI. The 1990 Plan restricts development in the LCC Basin to those activities directly related to the College. Since ORI would be compatible, it could take some action such as deeding its 11 acres west of the campus to LCC and then leasing them back. ORI reportedly has the option to use 3/7 of the LCC lagoon; taking them on as a tenant probably would put total control of the lagoon back in the hands of the College.

Other Wednesday night business:

Chairman Mike Rose (language arts prof) of the Planning Task Force reported that his group will recommend that a College Assembly be organized next fall. It would include about 40 representatives of faculty, classified, students, and administrators who would act as a hearing body on major campus issues. The goal would be a system of community government for the College with more people participating in decision-making.

Chairman Jim Eveans (business prof) of the Priority Review Committee said his group had delivered its first report to the President and that it had suggested strong recruiting for Summer Term. He said that as much as $50,000 additional state reimbursement could be received if 400 FTE students could be enrolled. Last year's enrollment was 333 FTE students. Evans said the committee has met 16 times and soon will deliver a final report to the President and then dissolve.

The stage band won the right to go to Washington D.C., if it wins a regional contest this Sunday at Bremerton, WA. Cost of both trips will be defrayed by non-College groups.

The question of national participation for athletic teams was deferred to a later meeting. The discussion got hung up on whether baseball, gymnastics and women's tennis should be put back into the athletic program ahead of funding for participation in national events.

Board member Robert Ackerman asked for a report at the next meeting as to what Board policy might say on the subject of students being permitted to assign their own course grades. He said he opposes this.

The Board endorsed the concept of greater state funding for College operations without loss of local control. The property tax and tuition percentages of the College's revenues are rising slightly while percentages of state and federal contributions are tending to decrease slightly.

A three-to-three tie with one abstention followed a motion that the Board oppose the current escalation of the Vietnam war as a means of establishing peace in southeast Asia. Ackerman, Mention and Lauris voted yes. Brauer, Barber and Reid voted no. Freeman abstained.

LCC will become part of the Community School program in this area. It's intended to open facilities to the public on a wider basis. The College probably also will be asked for funding in the future to operate activity programs.

Time spent in a collegiate institution still will not count toward LCC's six-month residency requirement. The College attorney says the Board policy is legal.

Bids are to be called for maintenance of 249 IBM typewriters. Cost is expected to exceed $5,000.

The College will have $17 million worth of insurance on its buildings and equipment at a cost of $33,000 as of July 1. The cost is going up 50 percent because colleges are high risk areas these days. But LCC is probably the only college on the west coast with a $1,000 deductible clause, Agent of Record John McBurney told the Board. The rest have $10,000 clauses.

A letter from the Oregon Board of Education indicates that LCC may get an additional $2.6 million in future construction match money. The OBE hadn't previously credited the College for some of the local construction expenditures.

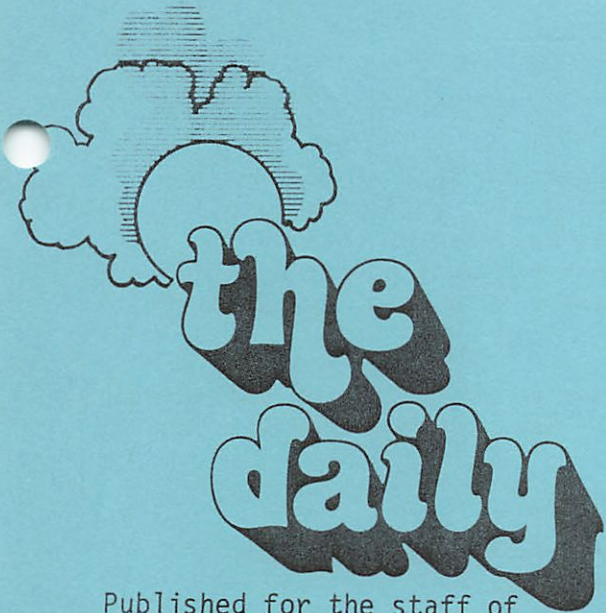

Heceta House has been used by 750 people this fiscal year, reports Bill Watkins. Sixty-two percent of them were LCC people; the rest came from other educational institutions. The house was used 111 days, 66 percent of that by LCC people. Average group size was 15. Revenue from non-LCC groups produced $1,000. Cost of operating the house for the year was $800.

DONATIONS FOR COURIER JERRY SIROIS are still being accepted at the College Facilities office. Jerry was injured in a motorcycle mishap recently and will be off work for some time. His good arm received extensive damage and he is being transferred today to Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland for more intense therapy. This is a time when the staff can really let Jerry know how much it appreciates the little things he does for LCC. Contributions should be given to Margaret Knutson or Deloris Herman, college facilities secretaries.

REMINDER TO FACULTY: the deadline on filing for faculty section offices has been extended to Monday, May 15 at 5 p.m. All offices still need nominees, especially for president and secretary. Nominating petitions are available from all department secretaries. Please return completed petitions to Jan Brandstrom, counselor in the Science Bldg.

COMING NEXT WEEKEND: the Spring Staff Gary Washburn Golf Tournament. This year the first half (18 holes) will be played at the Tokatee Course up the McKenzie River, and the second half will be played at Emerald Valley in Creswell. Staff wanting to play on the Tokatee Course should sign up with Sharon Cuddie, secretary in Health & P.E. as soon as possible. Her extension is 277. Tee off times for Tokatee are between 9:12 and 9:44 a.m. Saturday, May 20. Watch next week's Dailies for information on the second half scheduled for June 5. This year Gary will provide gift certificates for the champion of the overall Tourney (36 holes) and for winners of each half. There will be other prizes for individual efforts.

LCC's TRACK TEAM added the Region 18 Junior College title to its list of season honors by out-distancing 12 other Northwest schools Saturday at Lane. The Titans scored 123 1/2 points, comfortably ahead of runner-up Blue Mountain CC, with 85. Lane got a big boost from distance men Randy Griffin and Bill Cram who finished 1-2 in the mile and then reversed their finishes in leading the 3-mile field. Defending champ Dennis Hilliard and Dan Van Camp added more LCC points by finishing 1-2 in the 880. Strong-armed Steve Maryanski won Lane's other first, by throwing the javelin 16 feet.

300% BOOST DUE IN FEDERAL AID?

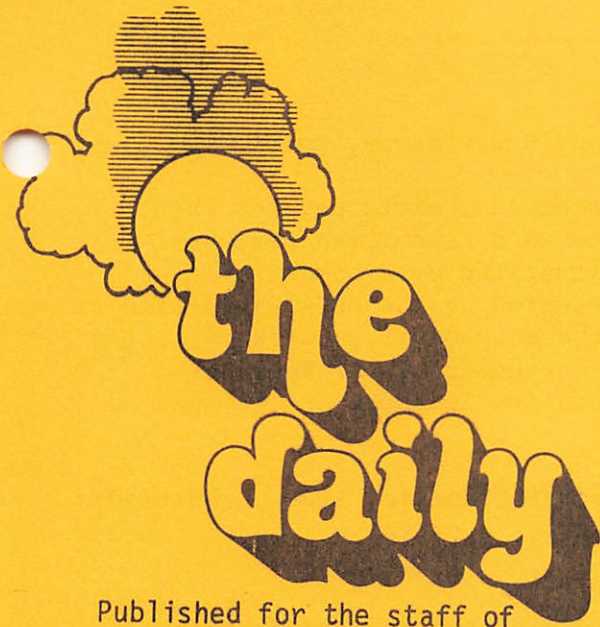

A massive increase in federal financial support for schools and drastic changes in state support programs appear almost inevitable within the next two or three years. School finance authorities see all indicators pointing in the same direction: a quantum jump from the current 7% federal share of total school costs. In fact, Nixon Administration officials say they are considering more than a 300% boost to the current $5 billion annual federal contribution. Simultaneously, Democratic leaders are also committing themselves to massive increases. Thus, no matter how the election goes, the tide for more federal school dollars will probably not be impeded.

A series of events is converging to cause the revolution: court cases requiring equalization of per-pupil expenditures within states and the discovery by politicians, and especially by Pres. Nixon, of the political appeal of efforts to reduce or eliminate the property tax as a school revenue source. Charles Saunders, deputy commissioner for external relations at the U.S. Office of Education (USOE), says the new HEW Task Force on School Finance, headed by U.S. Comr. of Education Sidney P. Marland, expects to have a school finance legislation proposal for the President by late summer. "We are assuming that something will have to be done in every state to equalize expenditures and that the federal government, through new assistance, will have to encourage them to act," Saunders said. The Administration is also exploring ways to help states reduce or eliminate the property tax as a source of school income. A move in this direction, which he said is being seriously considered, could result in a new annual federal investment in education of from $12 billion to $15 billion. If the states take over the school finance responsibility and if they move to equalize per-pupil expenditures, then the federal share may have to go up from the present 7% to 30% of school costs, Saunders said. The jump is being considered, he added.

Of major significance to the new direction of school aid is what happens when states begin to equalize expenditures. Since states are expected to raise all districts to a per-pupil expenditure nearer the "high spending" districts, the cost of "leveling up" is going to be large. To "level up" districts to within 95% of the highest spenders in each state will add at least $9 billion to the nation's bill for schools, authorities estimate. Rep. William D. Ford, D-Mich., thinks it may force states to raise taxes by over 30% just to "level up" their districts to within 80% of the highest spenders. Most authorities believe the federal government will have to pay all or part of this new expense in addition to the cost of property tax relief.

Efforts to equalize per-pupil expenditures and to "level up" are now under way in numerous states. The California State Board of Education has approved a new statewide property tax of $2.50 per $100 assessed valuation to replace the local property tax and to achieve equalization. In New York, the Fleischmann Commission has called for a statewide property tax of $2.04 on every $100 of "true" value. Legislative actions to equalize and "level up" in Maryland and Nebraska have been thwarted, but the issue is expected to be revived. Meanwhile, new federal figures show equalization and "leveling up" to the 90th percentile will cost $731 million more in California, $537 million more in New York and $401 million more in Illinois. Marland believes the "leveling-up" figure will have to be at least 70% to 80%.

Report on the OCCA Convention for Classified Staff--by Judy Piercy, curriculum clerk.

All five resolutions (time-and-a-half pay for overtime, extra pay for shift differential, a person to be hired or designated as a classified personnel director, release time for classified staff, classified development of evaluation procedures for classified staff) presented by the OCCA Classified Section were approved. As a reminder, all of these resolutions were initiated by LCC delegates. The resolutions will now be discussed by our Board of Education. It will report back to the OCCA Executive Secretary as to what action should be taken.

The new OCCA Classified Section officers are George McKenzie, SWOCC, chairman; Joe Gassner, COCC, vice chairman; Jane Hickey, TVCC, secretary-treasurer; and Laurel Dye, LBCC, member-at-large.

All amendments to the OCCA Classified By-laws were approved. Again, these were all initiated by LCC delegates.

Several LCC staff were appointed to various committees. Evelyn Tennis and Steve John were named to sit on a panel to discuss and respond to questions on collective bargaining. Judy Piercy was appointed to chair an ad hoc committee for the purpose of preparing an all-state study on salary schedules, vacation and holidays for classified staff. Doris Koumoungis was appointed to replace Bob Stewart (no longer with LCC) on the OCCA Student Rights Commission.

"TROUBLE DOESN'T HAPPEN NEXT TUESDAY" is the title of a book written by Col. DALE PARNELL, STATE school superintendent, has expressed surprise at the estimated 14 percent increase in Oregon community college enrollments in 1971-72 compared to the previous year.

"The fact that enrollments continue to jump is not only surprising but indicates that public demand for community college post-high school education programs continues at a high level," Parnell said.

He said the enrollment increase this year has not been as dramatic as in some previous years. There was a 38 percent increase in student headcount in 1967-68 compared to 1966-67, for example.

But the fact that, more than a decade after the first community college opened its doors, Oregon still apparently has not reached the saturation point is educational history, says Parnell, although some colleges may have.

An estimated 135,190 students (full-time and part-time) were enrolled in Oregon's 13 community colleges in 1971-72. That's 17,893 more than 1970-71, an increase of 15 percent. (When the 100 percent increase shown the the state's newest community college, Rogue, is subtracted, the state's overall enrollment increase is 14 percent.) Four community colleges this year showed enrollment increases that were higher than the state total percentage of increase. Chemeketa, in Salem, with an estimated 1,994 full-time equivalent students, had a 29 percent gain over 1970-71. Mt. Hood, est. 5,059 FTE, 27 percent increase; Linn-Benton, est. 1,678 FTE, 22 percent increase; Clatsop, est. 870 FTE, 14 percent increase.

Portland Community College, est. 9,718 FTE, and Lane, est. 5,711 FTE, remain the state's giants.

Treasure Valley CC is the only one which lost more than a few students this year. Its FTE enrollment dropped by about 159 students for an estimated total of 1,086, a 12 percent decrease. Officials say they had a smaller than usual first-year class last fall and fewer than usual of those students returned for another term. Also, the college may be experiencing a leveling-off of its student body, as some other colleges have seen. For example, SWOCC in Coos Bay lost three students for an estimated 1,234 FTE.

Other enrollment figures (estimated FTE) and percentage increases are: Blue Mt., 1,120 (6%); Central Oregon CC, 1,031 (6%); Clackamas, 1,924 (4%); Lane, 5,711 (2%); Portland, 9,718 (10%); Rogue, 504 (100%); and Umpqua, 1,060 (2%).

PHOTO DISPLAY of Apprenticeship and Industrial Technology scenes will be viewed tonight at the craftsmanship awards banquet of the Southwestern Oregon Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. The dinner will be held at the Black Angus. Associate Dean Ray LaGrandeur is to briefly describe LCC's construction programs. Adult Education Coordinator Joris Johnson arranged for the display.

A BENEFIT picnic and rock concert will be held at Jasper Park this Saturday (May 20). A meal, all the beer you can drink, soft drinks, and balloons for the kids will be included at a cost of $2.25. All proceeds are being donated to the ADC. The picnic, titled the Archie Bunker benefit picnic, is a class project for Mary Foresteri's public relations class. Tickets may be purchased from Gina Ing, Mass Communication secretary, Ext. 392 or first floor Forum. --John Early.

"TROUBLE DOESN'T Happen Next Tuesday" is the provocative title of Col. Sallie Chesham's book on her experiences working as director of the Salvation Army's Old Hat program among the disadvantaged of Chicago's slums. In addition, Col. Chesham won the Chicago Poetry Award for 1970, with her collection of poems, "Walking With the Wind" and in 1965 published a history of the Salvation Army, "Born to Battle," on the occasion of the Army's centennial. Col. Chesham will be on campus today at 11 a.m. in FOR 309. Her talk will be on the social and economic environment of the big city ghetto and, in particular, her own work in Chicago in the Old Hat program. All students and staff are invited to attend.--Lisl Fenner, Community Services secretary.

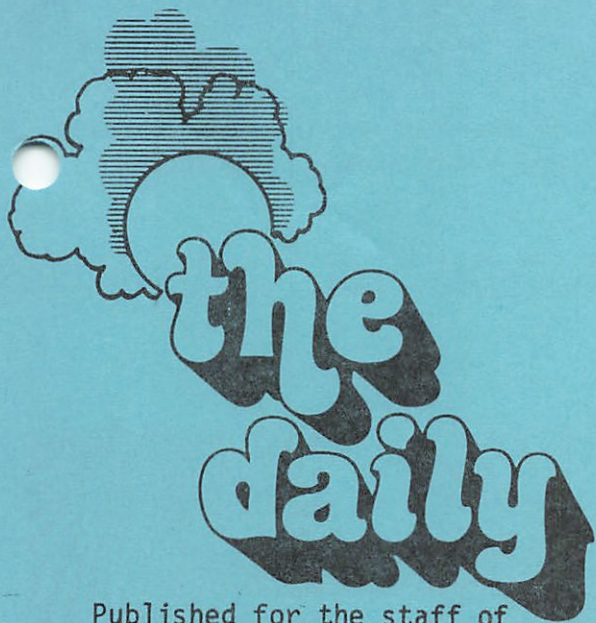

DUE TO the recent bad weather the Adult Student Housing Project will not be completed until June 17. The first 80 units were originally scheduled to open June 10, but the late rains have forced a one-week delay. The other 80 units will be ready July 1. The project is located at 475 Lindale Drive, Springfield.

THE CONCERT choir and vocal ensemble, directed by Wayte Kirchner, and the stage band, lead by Gene Aitken, performed at an afternoon assembly at Willamette High School yesterday.

ALL-AMERICAN rating has been won by a student newspaper advised by former LCC student Don Wilt, ex-Marcola resident. Wilt, who took journalism classes at the old Bethel campus, teaches at McNary High School in Salem.

THE FOLLOWING paragraph was omitted from the Faculty report on the OCCA Convention. In the faculty section meeting Dick Wysong, of Portland Community College, read a letter from the college presidents stating that in the future they would communicate with Don Shelton, the OCCA Executive Secretary, THROUGH THE ADMINISTRATION SECTION rather than directly. This item is something the faculty section has been working toward for three years, so we are pleased at this action.--Jim Snow, math prof.

EXPERIMENTS IN MOTION GRAPHICS

John Whitney

EXPERIMENTS IN MOTION GRAPHICS is a companion piece to the brilliant "motion graphics" film, Permutations. Here John Whitney, himself, narrates and explains the elaborate processes involved in programming and animating his designs. He discusses his difficulties in creating images that "impinge upon the emotions and feelings directly," and his prediction that one day "an art of computer graphics" will be a regular part of television programming. Mr. Whitney attempts to define "motion graphics" through comparisons with music ("...art that moves in time") and language (...dots as letters; dot patterns as words; and dot structures relating to each other in time and forming "sentence structures.") But he finally concludes that "motion graphics" is a unique form: "...comparisons with either language or music are tenuous at best. For example a simple succession of the same graphic figure (or word) over itself again and again is certainly not producing anything like the effect of the musical canon and is without parallel in linguistics."

EXPERIMENTS makes exciting, informative viewing either on its own or paired with Permutations. Whitney's informal explanation makes an instructive introduction to the "abstract" or "kinetic" film, a genre too often misunderstood.

"The narration makes it possible for a layman to understand how films are made by a computer."

HISTORY OF TELEVISION

Charles Braverman

The birth and progress of the medium, which communications experts call "an extension of the nervous system," is presented with wit and humor in this twenty year review. You'll see everything from the antics of Milton Berle to Richard Nixon campaigning on "Laugh-In."

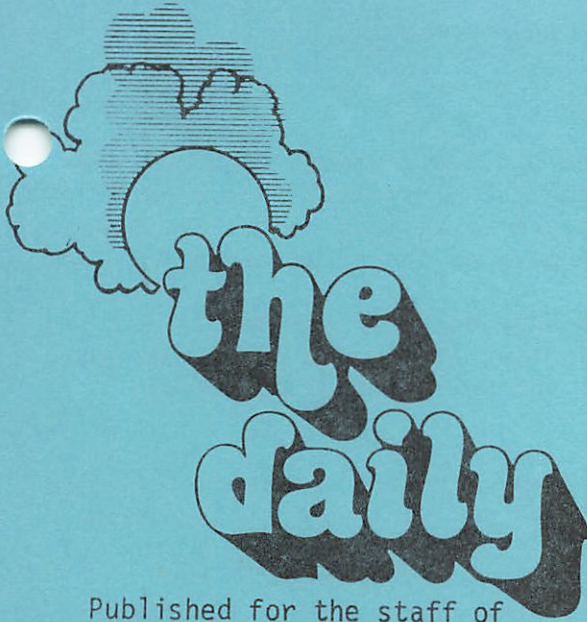

HISTORY OF TELEVISION is a nostalgic, light-hearted and highly entertaining potpourri which has an instant appeal not only to media students but to anyone who has ever watched TV.

Charles Braverman (American Time Capsule, The Sixties) produced the film in cooperation with the three networks and their producers.

Experiments In Motion Graphics will be on Campus through 5/23/72, History of Television through 5/25/72. Instructors wishing to use these films should schedule them through Audiovisual Services.

- *and quality instruction for students (the key to the whole thing) by faculty members

ELECTION EFFORTS are focused on influencing voter attitudes rather than the usual attempt to get selected college friends to the polls. LCC is unable to influence to any major degree the type of voter who will cast a ballot in the primary, for national, state and local issues are likely to bring out a massive electorate.

A continuing effort to influence voter attitudes favorably has been carried out since the September election. Such activities have included:

- *luncheon-campus tours for community leaders
- *general campus tours for adults (promotion has included a mailer with 47,000 EWEB billings and radio, TV and print advertising)
- *39 presentations throughout the District about Homeowners' Property Tax Relief
- *production and showing of a slide program about LCC to several dozen groups and on tv
- *appearances before community groups by staff members
- *the Skills Fair
- *the Concert-on-the-Green
- *administrative conferences with the media concerning the budget and other public issues
- *an intensified effort to get media coverage about LCC people and programs
- *3 special tabloid sections in the Valley News to about 25,000 voters
- *an issue of LaneAlum in the Register Guard to about 75,000 voters
- *various student community service projects such as the creation of a picnic area at Knowle's Creek by Industrial Tech people and a playground at Florence
- *a Presidential newsletter to opinion leaders

A last minute mailing of a Voter's pamphlet about the LCC levy request went out Wednesday and Thursday to 58,000 registered voters in the LCC District. Last minute appearances on radio and TV to talk about the budget are being made by the president. Stories about the levy request appeared this week in most of the print media.

What can staff and students do? Remember to vote Tuesday and get your family and friends to vote. This election could be close enough that our people could make the difference. Take the time to answer questions about the College from neighbors. BE POSITIVE ABOUT LCC.

Contact Lisl Fenner at Ext. 334 if you can help staff the Election Information Center this weekend or Monday. Contact Kathy Dave, ADM 208, if you want some publications to hand out to friends.

TWO POSITIONS on the LCC Board of Education will be filled during Tuesday's primary election. Each is being sought by the incumbent and one challenger.

Dr. Albert Brauer, a Florence physician and the sole remaining member of the original LCC Board, is seeking re-election to the Zone 1 position. Opposing him is Norman Noble, a construction laborer and mathematics researcher from Dunes City, Florence. Zone 1 represents the Florence, Mapleton, Blachly, Fern Ridge and Crow-Applegate School Districts.

Seeking the Zone 4 seat is Stephen Reid, a logging contractor and rancher from Fall Creek, who was appointed to fill the remainder of Dr. Dean Webb's term in October 1971. His opponent is Charles Goldspink, a Creswell High School social studies teacher. Zone 4 represents Creswell, Pleasant Hill, South Lane, Lowell, Wesfir, and Oakridge School Districts.

LCC's ANNUAL spotlanding contest will be held Friday, May 26 at 1 p.m. at the Springfield airport. The public is invited and admission is free. First and second year Flight Technology students will be competing for trophies in three landing accuracy tests. They will be required to perform a soft field, a short field, and a 180 degree side approach landing and will be judged on how close their plane lands to a designated mark on the landing strip. Judging in the contest will be done by members of the Flight Technology lay advisory committee and advanced students in the program. Trophies will be awarded to students who earn the most points in the judging events. The airport is located on north 28th Street in Springfield.

THE LCC WOMEN's track and field team tied for ninth place at the Women's Regional Championships in Ellensburg, Wa., Friday and Saturday. LCC's Lorraine Hein placed first in the shot put with a put of 39'10", and Beth Boehmer placed fifth in the 3000 meter (about 2 miles) run with a time of 11:56. Twenty schools competed.

EVERYONE is invited to a shower honoring Wendy Cox, bookstore clerk, Thursday, May 25 in the staff lounge, 2nd floor Center Bldg, from 2-4 p.m. Wendy will wed Don Bittle May 27. In place of gifts there will be a wishing well to help speed Don and Wendy to their new home in Israel.

A PUBLIC Board of Education work session Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. will concern itself with two items:

1. Final agreement on the SPPC package for next fiscal year; and
2. Review of the 1000 series of Board policy.

The 1000 series relates to bylaws and operating procedures for conducting Board business. Purpose of the review is to update procedures and develop separate Board policy and administrative rule books.

THE BOARD will meet in closed session with the SPPC at 7 p.m. Wednesday to wrap up this year's negotiation on the staff economic package. Eleven items remain on the list which the Board and the SPPC agreed to discuss before the end of May. They include: 1) evaluation of classified staff, faculty, department chairmen, administrators; 2) job descriptions for classified positions; 3) classes during working hours (classified staff); 4) advertisement of classified job openings; 5) work load and class size; 6) distribution of curriculum, travel, and staff development funds; 7) part-time faculty responsibilities; 8) part-time faculty contracts;

LEVY DEFEATED: District voters yesterday turned down LCC's request for a one-year $894,682 levy beyond the six percent limitation.

The unofficial vote was 41,941 no, 26,770 yes.

In the Board races, both incumbents won. Stephen Reid of Fall Creek easily defeated Charles Goldspink of Creswell 33,826-12,248 for the Zone 4 seat. Reid has been serving in that position by appointment since last October.

Dr. Albert Brauer of Florence narrowly defeated Norman Noble, a Dunes City construction laborer and mathematics researcher for the Zone 1 seat. The vote was 25,018-23,273. The sole remaining charter member of the Board, Brauer will be serving his third four-year term.

IN OTHER CONTESTED RACES, APPARENT WINNERS ARE:

-  Attorney General - Joe Smith, D
-  County Commissioner - Frank Elliott, D; Andy Maxon, R.
-  Sheriff - David Burks, D; Barney Issel, R.
-  Circuit Court judge - Helen Frye
-  Rep., 39th Dist. - David Red Fox, D; Wayne Whitehead, R (unopposed)
-  Rep., 40th Dist. - Larry Perry, D; Margaret Patoine, R (unopposed)
-  Rep., 41st Dist. - Alton King, D; Mary McCauley Burrows, R
-  Rep., 42nd Dist. - Nancie Fadeley, D; B.J. Rogers, R (unopposed)
-  Rep., 43rd Dist. - Richard Kennedy, D; David Stults, R.
-  District Attorney-- runoff in Nov. between Robert Naslund and Pat Horton

A 63 percent voter turnout was recorded in yesterday's primary election.

Six departments have yet to notify the Council of their representatives. They are: Business, Data Processing, Flight Technology, Food Technology, Industrial Technology and Social Science. Please notify Joyce Harms of your selection.

ALL STAFF members are urged to attend the public Board of Education work session at 7:30 tonight. The eleven items listed in Tuesday's Daily are those remaining from the original negotiations proposal which the Board and the SPPC agreed to discuss before the end of May. The SPPC will present background information and suggest disposition for some items. These items will not be discussed in a formal negotiations session and the SPPC has notified the Board that we wish to encourage relevant comment from the staff in the audience. For this reason we urge all interested staff to attend this session.

FOLLOWING YESTERDAY'S BUDGET defeat, Dr. Schafer said he will recommend to the Board that the college wait until word is received on federal Emergency Employment Act funding for next year before deciding on any budget cuts. The college this year received a $281,000 EEA grant, which made possible the hiring of 23 instructors and six classified employees. Notification of whether the college will be awarded a similar grant for 1972-73 is expected in June or July, the president said.

Dr. Schafer said he also will recommend that the college not hold another budget election until September.

At last night's Board work session, Board member Albert Brauer asked that the members meet with the administration prior to the next Board session to discuss possible alternatives and dates for the next election. The Board is scheduled to hold a special meeting May 31 to canvass Tuesday's election and is expected to hear the president's recommendations at that time.

A 2½ HOUR BOARD work session with the SPPC and interested staff members brought considerable discussion and in some instances action on 11 items left over from earlier SPPC-Board negotiations. These had been designated as basically "non-economic" items and deferred for discussion at a later time. Included are such matters as evaluation, faculty workload and class size, and classified job descriptions.

A summary of the SPPC recommendations and the resulting discussion and action by the Board will be printed in Friday's Daily.

LCC BOARD POLICY 4125.1 states in part that "prior approval must be obtained from the administration before an individual or group may solicit funds or business with students or staff or obtain faculty or student lists."

In an attempt to enforce this policy and protect staff from unwanted sales pressure, Controller Bill Mansell asks that staff members report to him any instances of unauthorized sales personnel or solicitation on campus.

THE COLLEGE ARCHIVES in the main reading room of the library is currently exhibiting a display titled "Records Management 1972" and subtitled "I know you're the archivist but what do you do?" Articles exhibited include samples of the variety of record forms an archivist must evaluate and preserve. Also shown are a few of the tools, gadgets, and gimmickry of the records management profession.

A ONE-DAY ART SEMINAR featuring two Oregon artists will be held on campus Wednesday, May 31, sponsored by the associated students. The visiting artists will be John Masterson, a print maker, and sculptor Bruce West. Both are faculty members at Mt. Angel College. The seminar is free and open to interested students, staff, and community members. Further information is available at the Student Senate office.

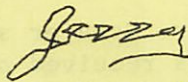

FRIDAY IS THE last day to buy peanut cluster or peppermint candy from Carolyn Hobbs, Ext. 386. Price is $1 per box and proceeds go to the White Bird Clinic.

A NOTE FROM JERRY:

Dear Friends:

I wish to express my deep appreciation and thanks for all your thoughtfulness. I am deeply grateful for all your good wishes and prayers. You have all made my stay in the hospital so much easier.

God Bless You All.

THE BOARD AND SPPC completed negotiations on the economic items in the salary-fringe benefit package Wednesday after agreeing to withhold the 2 percent cost of living increase from staff receiving salaries of $16,000 or more. The money will be used to finance the shift differential for classified employees, with some remaining allotted to the insurance program. The move was proposed after it was discovered that the cost of implementing the shift differential was considerably higher than indicated when originally presented and approved by the board.

SPPC POSITION OPEN: Since Charlie Bentz, Science, has resigned his position as college transfer representative on the SPPC, a new representative must be elected to take office at the conclusion of current grievance proceedings. Nominating petitions are available in department offices and at the information desk. Nominees must be dues-paying members of the Staff Assn. Nominations will remain open through Friday, June 2, with the election to follow during finals week.

THE FINAL NEWS SCENE program for this year will be seen this weekend and will feature a one-hour review of the year's campus events. Watch it at 9 a.m. Sunday on KEZI, Ch.9.

THE CLASSIFIED SECTION will meet next Wednesday at 4 p.m. in ADM 202 to hear a report on the completed SPPC negotiations and select representatives to attend an informal discussion session with the board June 7.

THURSDAY, June 1, is the deadline for picking up tickets for the June 4 graduation banquet. Persons who will be receiving degrees and certificates will be admitted free but must pick up a ticket at the Bookstore. Others planning to attend may buy tickets at $2.50 for adults and $ for children under 12, also at the Bookstore. The banquet will begin at 4 p.m. with Robert Hamill, former acting president of LCC, as master of ceremonies. Preceding the dinner, the baroque orchestra will present a concert at 2 p.m. in Forum 301.

THE STAFF ASSN. will meet at noon tomorrow in ADM 202 to discuss the proposed 1972-73 association budget outlined below:

| | 1971-72 BUDGET | PROPOSED 1972-73 BUDGET |
|--------------------------|--|--------------------------------|
| SPPC | $300 (this was in addition to a $300 carryover from 70-71) | $600 |
| Sections | $25 + $1 per section member * | $25 + $2 per member |
| Printing/office supplies | $150 | $200 |
| Part-time secretary | $300 | $200 |
| OCCA | $450 ($150/section) | $150 ($50/section) |

* It is impossible to give exact dollar figures since the total income and amounts allocated to sections are dependent upon the number who join the Staff Assn. next fall, president Steve John explained.

The proposed dues structure is the same as this year's, which is based on annual salary earned: less than $3,000 - $3; $3,000-$6,000 - $4; $6,000-9,000 - $6; $9,000-$12,000 - $8; $12,000-$15,000 - $10; and more than $15,000 - $12.

THE PLANNING TASK FORCE, set up to review campus planning and organization, has completed the first phase of its work and will submit its recommendations to the president today.

Copies of the Task Force proposal are available at the Institutional Research Office. Hearings will be conducted Friday (see tomorrow's Daily for time and place) to review the recommendations with staff and students and receive comments. Next week, a questionnaire concerning the proposal will be published in The Daily to obtain further staff and student reactions.

Marston Morgan, a Task Force spokesman, yesterday outlined three main recommendations contained in the proposal:

That LCC governance be reorganized along the lines of the "community government" concept to provide a better system of checks and balances.

This would be achieved by creating a major appeals and policy review body called the "College Assembly," including representation from all segments of the campus (students, faculty, classified, administration). The assembly would have the prerogative to review and make recommendations directly to the president on any campus-wide issue.

 That an overall priorities and planning group, called the "Coordinating Council," be established as the college's main policy making group. It would include representatives from all standing college committees and would be primarily responsible for making policy recommendations and formulating institutional priorities and planning recommendations based on input from the standing committees.

 That there be open membership on all standing college committees.

Morgan said the Planning Task Force is initially seeking feedback from staff and students on whether they approve of the "community government" concept.

A workshop to explain the proposal to the Board is planned in the future. Implementation of the recommendations is at the discretion of the president and the board, Morgan said. The Task Force is recommending that the proposal be implemented next fall.

Members of the Task Force are Mike Rose, Language Arts, chairman; Steve John, Science; Margaret Knutson, College Facilities secretary; Laura Gauderman, Dean of Students secretary; and Jack Hart, ASLCC publicity director. Morgan is an ex-officio member.

THE PRIORITIES REVIEW COMMITTEE has completed its work and submitted a number of recommendations to the president. A summary will be published in Thursday's Daily.

ABE RECOGNITION: Some 400 Adult Basic Education students will be honored during a recognition ceremony at 8 tonight in Forum 301. Certificates will be presented to persons who have earned a GED or completed at least 30 hours of ABE classes. Ray Nott, appliance repair instructor, will be the guest speaker.

STATE TO FUND MANASSE STUDY: Some staff members have expressed confusion over the funding of a productivity study which will be conducted at LCC and five other community colleges in the state beginning this summer.

The joint study by management consultant Fred Manasse will be financed by state funds through the Educational Coordinating Council. There will be no cost to LCC.

The purpose of the study is to help the colleges make better use of their resources by reviewing their operations and suggesting possible changes in teaching methods and organizational structure. Dr. Schafer said it is hoped "the study will result in the release of additional funds for instruction."

Manasse will be on campus in mid June to confer with Marston Morgan, who will be assisting him in the LCC part of the study, and to lay the groundwork for his stay on campus in August.

The productivity study, originally proposed by the Oregon Board of Education, is to include two phases. The first will involve an in-depth review of two departments on each campus. Selected at LCC were Mathematics and Art & Applied Design.

WORK SESSION SUMMARY: Nine items, ranging from staff evaluation to part-time faculty contracts, were discussed by the Board, SPPC, and other interested staff during a Board/SPPC work session last week. Following is a summary of the SPPC position on each and reactions from the Board and staff.

EVALUATION: The SPPC proposed that evaluation procedures developed by the faculty and classified sections this year be placed on next month's board agenda for first reading and eventual adoption as Board policy. It also suggested the board direct the president to appoint appropriate administrators and chairmen to develop procedures for using their evaluation forms in time for presentation to staff during Fall in-service and to the board immediately thereafter.

REACTIONS: Several board members questioned whether staff members were acquainted with the proposals and had had an opportunity to provide input. The SPPC replied they had. SPPC Chairman Ted Romoser said he felt evaluation procedures should become part of board policy as a guarantee that such procedures are firmly established and understood by staff. This has not been the case in recent years, he said. Dr. Schafer and several others disagreed, saying they felt the board policy should remain a general overall statement concerning evaluation.

Staff Assn. President Steve John suggested as a compromise that a line be added to the current policy, indicating that evaluation procedures must be filed with the Board each year and cannot be changed without first filing a copy of the changes with the board. The board agreed to discuss this at its next meeting.

OTHER REACTIONS: Dean Case suggested that the policy statement on evaluation should include an explanation of what the board expects from evaluation and evaluation procedures. Board Chairman Catherine Lauris commented she feels evaluation should occur through various means and people. She suggested that students periodically write essays about the instruction they receive and that staff submit in writing comments they've heard about classes and instructors on campus.

MONDAY, July 17 has been set for the second LCC budget election vote. However, no decisions were made concerning what cuts if any would be made.

FRIDAY

Noon - Hearings on recommendations of Planning
3 p.m. Task Force, Library Conference Room.

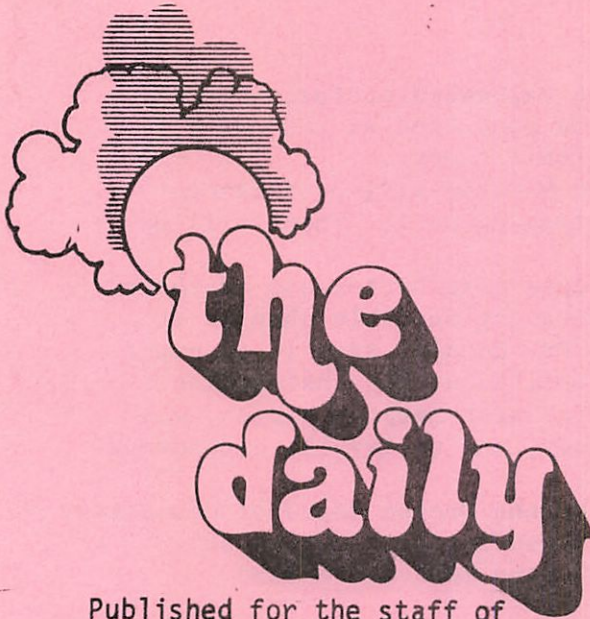

Noon - Blockhead game, grassy area north of the Center Bldg.

RECOMMENDATIONS of the Priority Review Committee have been submitted to the President. A copy of the 21-page report is available for examination by interested persons at the main circulation counter in the College library. Ask for Reserve item No. 7212. The committee has recommended cuts and changes which it believes could save the College about $275,000 next year. President Schafer has asked those mentioned in the report to submit comments to him by Friday, June 9. PRC members included: Bob Allen, Jan Brandstrom, Larry Davis, Jim Evans, Tom Klingbeil, Jack Carter, Mary Forestieri, Dale Gramley, Jack Kreitz, Doris Koumoungis, Dick Newell, Hank Douda and Floyd Wilkes.

SAME OLD STORY: It was basically south Eugene which supported the LCC levy at the May 23 election. We won 21 precincts and lost 115. All the supportive areas were in Eugene. Voters at these polling places were generally positive--Harris, Dunn, Parker, Fox Hollow, Edison, Crest Drive, Willard schools; Good Samaritan Center; 33rd Street Fire Station; Moose Lodge; U of O Student Union; South Eugene High; Roosevelt Jr. High; Congregational Church. LCC also has a downtown core of support--Dunham Motors, Celeste Campbell Hall, Monroe St. Recreation Center, St. Mary's Hall, Red Cross Bldg. LCC got a shade under 50% of the total Eugene vote, losing in the city by 60 votes. Voters were heavily negative at Blachly, Culp Creek, Swisshome, Walton, Lowell, Veneta, Elmira, Leaburg, Lancaster, and some parts of Bethel and Springfield.

MONEY realized from the decision to withhold a 2% cost of living increase for persons earning $16,000 or more will be used to finance a level change for custodians, and the insurance program, not a shift differential as stated in last Friday's Daily. There was not enough money for both the level change and the shift differential and it was decided to finance the level change at this time.

GOLFERS--it's time to sign up for the second half of the Gary Washburn Tournament scheduled for Emerald Valley Course in Creswell. Tee off time is 1 p.m. Monday June 2. Call Sharon at Ext. 277 if you're planning on playing.
