BUDGET CUT, ELECTION SET SEPT. 17 -- Lane Community College's budget committee acted relatively quickly last night in slashing nearly a quarter million dollars from the college's tax requirements for next year, and then just as promptly approved the 1974-75 budget at the total of $9.9 million. Only Board member Jim Martin voted against the two motions, continuing his stand in favor of cuts from the contingency fund and in opposition to cuts from the general fund.

In all, $243,660 was trimmed from local tax requirements leaving a balance of $576,449 outside the six percent limitation to be sought Sept. 17. Reductions in revenues for next year include the $243,660 in local tax monies, $45,000 in federal FTE, $25,300 in net working capital, and $28,589 in "transfers in". There will be an increase of $182,610 in tuition. Meanwhile, reductions in expenditures include a little over $7,000 from the office of instruction, $44,556 from instructional departments (amounting to one percent), $22,168 in student services departments, $20,000 in college facilities, and a total of $80,000 in reserve for capital outlay (which includes $45,000 from the veterans' cost of instruction account). The new tax request will mean a tax rate of about $1.59 per thousand, or a ten cent reduction from the $1.69 tax level recommended on July 9.

In other business the Board:

- * refused to accept either of the two bids on the new maintenance building, agreeing with Bill Cox and the building's architects that the bids were far too high. Instead, the Board agreed to allow the architects to study a variety of options, including hiring a contractor for cost plus a fee and negotiating with contractors item by item.

- * listened to architects predict that the Siuslaw Skills Center could run as much as $65,000 over estimates if modifications weren't made. The Board approved several adjustments, primarily deletion of two bays in the mechanics area, some storage space, and a switch from a wood floor with crawlspace to a concrete slab. Later, the Board put the possibility of a wooden floor (which would allow more flexibility) back in with an extra $12,000 in construction funds.

* hired a new dean of business operations.

NEW DEAN HIRED -- Anthony D. (Tony) Birch, assistant director of the budget and fiscal policy division of the state department of higher education, has been hired as the new dean of business operations.

He replaces Jerry Fischer who has returned to private business in South Dakota. He has worked for Boeing, the U of W, Linn-Benton CC, OSU, and has been at his present position since last October. He is included in Who's Who in the West and a member of the state department of higher education computer network planning team.

NEW ESTIMATES LOWER TAX RATE -- County assessors' estimates that the true cash value (TCV) of area homes will increase about 13 percent this year has lowered the estimated tax rate about seven cents per thousand to $1.52 for 1974-75--subject, of course, to approval of the special levy Sept. 17. Bill Mansell said the increase in TCV is about 5 percent above what had originally been expected this year, and could conceivably go higher, which in turn, could further lower the estimated tax rate.

CLASSIFIED TO VOTE ON AGREEMENT---Classified employees will vote tomorrow (Tuesday) on the tentative agreement reached last week by the Board and classified negotiating teams. All who are in the classified bargaining unit (in other words, you don't have to be a member of the American Federation of Teachers to participate) are eligible to vote at one of the two meetings scheduled for the Board Room. Day and swing shift employees will meet at 5 p.m. and graveyard workers will meet at a time of their choosing.

Many of the terms of the agreement must be kept secret until tomorrow but a large number of them are available for study in a notebook in the library office. Those that aren't outlined in the notebook will be explained in detail at tomorrow's meetings. National AFT representative Lloyd Zimmerman will join the LCC negotiators in explaining the agreement.

Both the Board of Education and the classified staff must ratify the agreement before it becomes effective.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED---Volunteers are being sought who are willing to hold question-and-answer "coffee hours" in their homes prior to the Sept. 17 special election. Coordinator for the coffee hours Barbara Piercey said that volunteers should plan to hold the coffees between Sept. 9-16 and urges that they invite at least 10 guests. Coffee, refreshments and publicity will be provided by the college unless the host or hostess wishes otherwise. To volunteer call Mrs. Piercey at 687-8811 or Anne Stewart at ext. 340 on campus. And if you can't hold a coffee your help is still needed for telephoning other election volunteers. For details call Mrs. Piercey.

GYMS OPEN---After being closed for sanding and resealing the gym floors are working again...and so are the gyms. Badminton junkies can be back on the courts again beginning today.

PAYROLL WORKSHEET CHANGE---For this month only, Payroll worksheets will not be available from the business office until 2 p.m. on Aug. 22.

BOARD TO MEET WEDNESDAY---Status reports on the Siuslaw Center and maintenance building projects will be presented to the Board of Education Wednesday during a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Adm. 202. At the Board's last meeting architects were authorized to make cuts in the Siuslaw Center to bring expected construction costs closer to the budget. The Board is also expected to deal further with the Dennis Celorie appeal and to hold some preliminary discussion on a review of Board Policies 2151.1 and 4151 (Institutional Bill of Rights and the Right to Appeal). The discussion will be considered a first reading so that changes or modifications can be discussed with the Board and staff over the next few meetings. A review board will be involved in any consideration of policy changes.

CLOTHES AVAILABLE---Childrens' and baby clothes are available on a need basis from the Asbury United Methodist Church (1090 Berntzen in Eugene) each Wednesday.
