BOARD OF EDUCATION--In a five-minute session prior to the Budget Committee meeting last night, the Board approved the hiring of Jim Dunne as Head of the Mass Communications Department, and named John Wilson as the Director of Records Management Services. Dunne comes from Washington State University in Pullman where he is an instructor and has served as the town mayor. He will take over July 1. Wilson has been at LCC since 1975 as a programmer in Data Processing. He took over May 1.

BUDGET COMMITTEE--The 14-member Budget Committee got its first look at the $14.9 million proposed general fund budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year last night. The Committee indicated it hoped to make a decision on the proposal at its next session May 11. No tax levy in excess of the tax base will be needed to support the budget as the tax base passed last November will provide adequate tax support. The proposed budget represents the lowest (6.65 percent) increase the College has had in the past five years. In his budget statement, President Eldon Schafer said the budget will provide instruction for 7,633 full-time equivalent students or about 300 more FTE than are attending LCC currently. Personnel salaries and benefits are budgeted at the current level in the proposed document. At the completion of the negotiations process, funds will be reallocated from the proposed budget to fund the contract settlements.

CLEANUP CHARGES CANCELLED--The President's Dining room is now available for luncheons without a cleanup charge. College staff groups are encouraged to clean up their own trays when possible but the cleanup service is provided for any group which feels that its guests should not feel obligated to assist with this function. The Foodservice staff thanks you for your patience during the recent financial consciousness.

BROWN BAG FORUM--Dr. Khalid Babaa of San Francisco, information officers for the Arab League, will speak on "The Arab-Israeli Confrontation" in the Board room at noon on Wednesday, May 18. He will be on campus as the guest of Social Science Chairman Paul Malm. Paul describes Babaa as a politically moderate, highly articulate speaker.

BIRD NESTING POLICY--This new policy has been included in the Business Operations Manual: "Nesting places on the north and south ends of the Center Building, the cooling tower of the Physical Education facility, and other locations will not be disturbed during the time the birds are nesting. Other nesting areas that do not affect access to the structures, obstruct mechanical systems, or prevent planned maintenance to the buildings will be left undisturbed. Nests constructed above entry ways or other areas that create a hazard to pedestrian traffic will be removed, as well as those obstructing mechanical systems or planned maintenance. Nest removal, if required, is under the direction of the Director of Plant Services."

ARTICLE PUBLISHED--The Oregonian in its May 4 issue devotes a third of its "Forum" page to Social Science Chairman Paul Malm's views on mainland China. He advocates leaving that decision to time and history.

RECOGNITION--Employees retiring from the college staff this year and those completing 10 years of employment will be honored at a public observance in the Board Room on Thursday, June 9 at 3 p.m. Arrangements are being handled by Assistant to the President Bert Dotson.

JAZZ CONCERT--The LCC Jazz Ensemble will present a variety of big band sounds in concert Thursday evening in the Theatre. Selections will reflect trends in jazz styles from the classic tradition of the '40s to today's swing and rock. The original Bully Strayhorn chart for "Chelsea Bridge," as played by the Duke Ellington Orchestra in 1941 will be featured. "Dimetron" by the noted contemporary composer Randall Snyder will have its west coast premiere. Also: music from charts by Thad Jones, John Prince, and Bart Bartholomew. Ensemble director Barry Bogart, tenor saxophone soloist, will play Butch Nordol's bluesy arrangement of "Come Sunday." That's 8 p.m. Thursday and its FREE.

FROM OREGON NEWSPAPERS--Mt. Hood CC's April 19 election defeat was its fifth in a row over two years. President Stephen Nicholson says there are no more places to cut the budget. "We cut everything out last year." Board Chairman Rick Gustafson (a legislator) says the College will hold a June election and, if that loses, may quit trying this year. "Optimism is scarce," he said, "it's really demoralizing." The Gresham Outlook editorially supports the college but suggests that some voters resent real or imagined overbuilding in earlier years, insufficient emphasis on tech-voc courses, overemphasis on athletics, "sumptuous" new swimming facilities, scholarships to out-of-district students, and supposed plans to become a four-year school. ...One problem that Mt. Hood shares with other colleges is government-mandated increases in fixed costs. The Outlook reports that Mt. Hood must increase its present retirement contribution to PERS from $561,250 to $931,233 by 1981. The difference could support 357 FTE students. Nine Mt. Hood departments have budgets of less than $500,000. "Which department," asks the paper, "should MHCC eliminate to take care of the retirement program mandated by the state?" The Outlook's editorial answer is that, "If the legislature wants to impose new burdens, perhaps they should provide the money to pay the freight."

Developers and Department Heads should plan to attend. Other interested persons are welcome.

NOISE NOTICE--Department personnel should notify construction coordinator Curt Knudson, ext. 255, 48-hours in advance of broadcasts, taping sessions or other scheduled activities where excessive noise from heavy machinery or jackhammers might cause interference. FROM OREGON NEWSPAPERS--Clackamas CC lost its April 19 levy election by only 135 votes out of nearly 18,000 cast. Areas close to the college supported it, while rural areas generally were non-supportive. (Sound familiar?) There were more than a thousand undervotes--people who didn't vote on the college levy at all. Clackamas will vote again on May 24.... Chemeketa won on April 19 by 12 votes. Acting President Gary Edelbrock said, "we won because this campus worked together to get the budget passed. We cut our administrators by 20 percent in this budget and increased the tuition for students 18 percent next year, and still they all got together and supported the budget." ...Blue Mountain CC has cut electricity consumption by 32 percent since March by cutting inside and outside lighting (they heat with gas).

SPRING TERM
Seventh Week

THURSDAY
May 12, 1977

SHORT SESSIONS--In its hour-long meeting last night, the Board of Education allocated funds to provide adequate women's restrooms in vocational shop areas of the campus. Those restrooms will be ready by fall term in areas such as mechanics, welding, and automotive technology where women students are beginning to enroll in the traditionally male-dominated trades. The Board also authorized one-year tuition scholarships for one student from each of the 23 area high schools plus seven such scholarships for students in the LCC high school completion program. The Board also approved a one-year unpaid leave of absence for Mass Communications instructor Jeff Young. That leave will begin fall term.

In a 10-minute session, the 14-member budget committee approved the $14.9 million proposed general fund budget for the 1977-78 fiscal year. The budget now goes to the Board of Education for a public hearing June 29, and that body's approval. LCC will not go to the voters for a tax levy in excess of the six percent limitation this year, as the tax base passed last November will provide adequate tax support. The proposed budget represents under a seven percent increase over last year, the lowest percentage increase in the past five years.

TONIGHT--The Jazz Ensemble will present a variety of big band sounds in concert tonight in the Performing Arts Theatre. The selections will reflect trends in jazz styles from the classic tradition of the 40s to today's swing and rock. The concert is free and will begin at 8 p.m.

DIAL-AN-ANSWER--A telephone information service, Dial-An-Answer, is now in operation at LCC. In cooperation with the Oregon State University Extension Service, LCC will make available some 450 informational tapes. To use the Dial-An-Answer system, an individual may call 747-0831, 747-0832 or 747-0833, and request a tape on an area of specific interest. The system will be available from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday. The system will be closed weekends. Lists of the tapes available will be at Extension Services offices and libraries in the county, as well as from LCC and the Downtown Center. Each tape in the system has a number to help individuals identify the requested tape. While the tapes are primarily agricultural in content at present, Keith Harker, Dean of Learning Resources, says a series of tapes providing information about LCC will soon be added to the selection.

DOCUMENTARY SHOWING--"The Thorne Family Film," a feature-length documentary about an Eastern Oregon family, will be shown at LCC on Tuesday, May 24, at 3 p.m. in Center 011. The showing of the 82-minute movie is sponsored by the Home Ec. Department. No admission will be charged. "The Thorne Family Film" explores the history and heritage of a family who homesteaded near Pendleton in the 1880s. Today the more than 300 descendants struggle to hold the family together despite the loss of rural ties and the demands of urban life and occupations.

MAY PAYDAY--Payroll worksheets will be available Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in the Financial Services office. Completed worksheets, signed by the Department Head, with timesheets and leave records attached, are to be returned to Financial Services by 5 p.m. Friday. Payday will be May 31.

If the day is fair, the party will be held "al fresco" at the eastern end of Bristow Square between the Center Building and the Performing Arts theatre. If it rains, the party will be moved to the northeast section of the cafeteria. Coffee, juice, and a box lunch of chicken and potato salad can be ordered for $2 by filling out the form on the back of today's Daily and sending it with your payment to Mary Jeanne Jacobson.

FROM OREGON NEWSPAPERS--Clatsop CC at Astoria has signed a 2-year contract with its faculty. Teachers get a 2 percent increase in base pay in September and another 4 percent in April 1978. The second year of the contract calls for a 6 percent hike. The new pact increases base pay from this year's $8,894 to $9,994 in 1978-79....In a bylined column in the May 6 Oregonian, Steve Jennings swipes at community colleges for alleged "less than rigorous" enforcement of the in-state, out-of-state tuition assessments. And he says that "Duplication of course offerings at the university and community college levels also undermines higher education's attempts to pay its own way." He cites no evidence for the first charge, however, and neglects to point out in the second instance that the two systems do not duplicate students....The Wall Street Journal on May 5 reported that the University of New Hampshire bypasses admitting in-state students in favor of out-of-staters because it needs the extra tuition paid by the latter....Eastern Oregon State College says it needs $400,000 to comply with federal regulations providing full campus access to handicapped persons.

SPRING TERM
Ninth Week

MONDAY
May 23, 1977

GOODBYE WORK STUDY STUDENTS--Several hundred work study students in about 60 offices are out of work today because Financial Aids ran out of money a couple of weeks early. Over a million dollars is distributed annually and usually there is money left over at the end of Spring term. This year, however, too many students worked too many hours too soon. It's a very hard program to manage because it's impossible to predict how many will work all the hours they're allotted. To avoid turning away needy students and having money left over, Financial Aids stretches the budget to the breaking point. For the first time in the College's history, this year more students stayed in the program longer and worked the full number of hours allotted. So, the money was used up too soon.

NEW PRESIDENT--It was announced Friday that Arthur Binny, former vice chancellor at Coast Community College in Costa Mesa, Calif., has been selected president at Chemeketa Community College in Salem. He replaces Don Newport. Binny will take office July 1.

ON YOUR DIAL--KMPS, the campus radio station, has started broadcasting at 76 on the AM dial. The change came Friday. Prior to moving to the AM frequency, the station was broadcast in the cafeteria only.

LUNCH ON THE LAWN--Don't forget the Human Awareness Council's end-of-the-year party to be held this Friday at 12:30 p.m. at the eastern end of Bristow Square (near the Performing Arts Theatre). Everyone on campus is invited to attend. Susan Gilmore will be the guest speaker and Susan Arrow will lead a sing-along. Coffee, juice, and box lunches of chicken and potato salad are available for $2 each but you will have to take your check to Mary Jeanne Jacobsen in person because she's turning in the order tomorrow morning. Brown baggers are welcome.

TITLE IX MINI-WORKSHOP--All management personnel involved in hiring, Human Awareness Council members, and union presidents are reminded of the workshop today from 9:30 to 11 a.m. in Forum 302.
