TUESDAY
December 1, 1981

Published for the staff of Lane Community College.
Deadline for contributions is 2 p.m. on the day before publication.
Editor/Coordinator: Keli Osborn ext. 2201

TODAY...

CRAFTSY - An annual pottery sale gets underway today in the cafeteria. The Christmas sale offers wares made by LCC students and staff. Stop and take a look, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

AT THE GALLERY - North Dakotan artist Brian Paulsen's showing of small acrylic paintings continues through Friday in the LCC Art Gallery. Hour are 8 a.m.-10 p.m., Monday through Thursday; and 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday.

ELECTED, APPOINTED - Two individuals with community college ties now are associated with the Oregon School Boards Association. Wayne Chambers of Albany, a member of the Linn-Benton Community College board, is new president of the statewide organization. Jack Liles, former dean of instruction at LBCC, has joined the association as assistant director of Labor Relations & Field Services.

STILL ACCEPTING DONATIONS - United Way's books on LCC have been closed, but donations still are welcome. Joe Amrine, loaned executive, says several late gifts from LCC people "present absolutely no problem with the bookkeeper. We are happy to receive any gift, no matter how late it is." So, if there is someone who still wants to contribute, contact Charles Bentz, Social Science; Sue Kangas, Adult Basic Education; or Diane Dann, College/Community Relations. Amrine closes his note by wishing "all at LCC best wishes for the holidays."

INTERLUDE - The Carl Woideck Trio will perform in the cafeteria Wednesday afternoon, between 1:30 and 3.

I would like to express special appreciation from the Forestry program to the Math Department for the cooperation and coordination we have had from Ed Seabloom. This often has gone above and beyond the call of duty. Many thanks, Ed.
--John Phillips, Forestry, Science

JEWELTIDE SEASON - The Friends of the LCC Library will share in profits from a jewelry sale on campus Thursday. The sale will be conducted between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on the second floor of the Center building.

SHOULD BE - Within community colleges, there are goals to which importance SHOULD BE assigned and goals to which importance IS assigned. Among the findings of data recently collected by the Educational Testing Service, people agree community colleges have a major obligation to provide vocational/technical education. Also given high ranking by students, faculty, administrators, trustees, and community groups are intellectual orientation and developmental/remedial programs. Equal access, however, is not in the top five on the SHOULD BE list of any group. Students are especially interested in personal development and in counseling and advising; administrators are interested in effective management; and trustees are concerned about accountability. These findings and more are discussed in a page from Innovation Abstracts, available at Staff Development.

BUSINESS FAIR - Interested persons are invited to a business fair at the LCC Downtown Center Wednesday night. Sponsored by the Older Persons in Small Business Program, the fair will give students a chance to promote and display their products and services, and to develop a network of business contacts. The fair is open between 7:30 and 9. For information, call Warner Wong, ext. 7516.

SKYWATCHERS - A new planetarium program begins Friday at the Willamette Science and Technology Center. "Skywatchers of Ancient Mexico" traces pre-Columbian astronomy, including an unusually accurate calendar. The final segment of the 55-minute program details how the Aztec dependence on astrology aided the Spanish conquest of Central America, and the destruction of the native culture. Shows are Saturday and Sunday at 3 p.m.. Evening shows are Dec. 4, 11 and 17 at 8 p.m. For information, call 484-9027.

MUSIC AFTER DINNER - LCC's Performing Arts Department will present a free concert Thursday night in the LCC Theatre. "A Musical Potpourri" will contain varied pieces - including Christmas music - performed by the symphonic band, percussion ensemble and vocal jazz choir. Sidney Appleman, Nathan Cammack and Dan Sachs will direct the concert, which begins at 8.

OPEN HOUSE - Have you ever thought of becoming a dental assistant or practical nurse? Have you wondered what it is respiratory therapists do? Would you like to know what goes on in the Health Occupations Department? Get some answers to your questions at the department's open house on Monday. Scheduled between 9 and 11 a.m. in the Health building, the open house will give you a chance to meet faculty and staff, visit the facilities, talk about program requirements, and learn about health careers.

BOOK SALON - The Friends of the LCC Library begin a book discussion series next week. Members and nonmembers alike are invited Tuesday, between noon and 1 p.m., to talk about which books they would like to read and what time is best to meet. Bring a brown bag lunch; coffee and tea will be provided. The meeting will take place in Room 316, Center (Library).

PRESIDENT CALLS FOR SPENDING FREEZE - Because of the seriousness of the state revenue shortfall, President Schafer has placed a temporary freeze on all hiring (new and replacement), capital outlay and other general fund expenditures - unless they are found absolutely necessary for the operation of college programs. The freeze may be lifted following the actions of the special legislative session scheduled to begin Jan. 11, 1982. In a Dec. 1 memo to all budget administrators, President Schafer said, "Never before in the history of the Oregon community colleges have we faced such massive cuts. The challenge we all face is determining how best to retain the qualities which have made LCC unique among the nation's community colleges. The survival of the institution as we've known it is at stake. It's not a pleasant task we face, but with your assistance I'm confident that we'll find the best possible alternatives available to deal with this state crisis."

TODAY...

SHOP EARLY - The Bookstore will close at 3:30 p.m. today for a staff inservice meeting.

ART SHOW ENDS - North Dakotan artist Brian Paulsen's showing of small acrylic paintings ends today in the LCC Art Gallery. Paulsen has shown his work in Coos Bay, and in more than 200 exhibitions nationwide during the last 19 years. The gallery, on the first floor of the Math/Art building, is open until 5 p.m. today.

STRESS REDUCTION - How is your stress today? If you're having problems coping with stress, stop by the Student Health Services Apple Booth on Stress Monday. The booth will park in the cafeteria lobby between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

ART IN THE LIBRARY - The LCC Library features a display of works by Kim Kimerling, a local artist who will be leaving for Nigeria in January. Kimerling works with acrylic, oil, watercolor, macrame, sculpture, stitchery and weaving. He is represented in collections throughout the world. The exhibit is open to view 7:30 a.m.-10 p.m., Monday through Thursday; and 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday. The show ends Dec. 17.

PAYROLL NEWS - Work-study timesheets are due in the Financial Aid Office Monday, and payroll verification sheets for work-study employees will be available from Personnel Services on Tuesday. Payroll verification sheets for regular personnel will be available next Friday.

FINANCIAL SERVICES MESSAGE - The Financial Services Office, including the counter, will close between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tuesday.

RETIREMENT - If you're considering retirement and would like retirement counseling at the Public Employees Retirement System (PERS) main Portland office, you should call ahead for an appointment. If you do, your benefits estimate can be completed ahead of time and you won't have to wait for a counselor upon arrival. To make an appointment, dial 686-7500 and ask for PERS. Once connected with the toll-free PERS message phone, leave your name and telephone number, and explain that you would like to make a counseling appointment. The appointments counselor will return your call and take your retirement number (have it ready), gross monthly salary, home address and phone number, and your tentative retirement date. The counselor will tell you if you need to bring in a birth certificate and will set an appointment, which will be confirmed by mail.

BENEFICIARIES - Are your beneficiaries designated as you would wish, if they were suddenly to collect your life insurance, PERS and other benefits? Please review your policies and, if your beneficiaries should be changed, come to the Personnel Services Office to make necessary revisions.

MUSICAL MONDAY - Hiawatha will perform in the cafeteria Monday, between 1:30 and 3 p.m.

TALENTED BUNCH - Complimentary tickets are available at the Information Window for the 15th Annual American Legion Benefit Show. The talent show, sponsored by American Legion Post #40, is set for Friday, Dec. 18, at Springfield Intermediate School. A limited number of tickets are available on a first come, first served basis. Each ticket will admit one adult or two children to the evening show. They have been made available through a donation by the LCC College Aid Fund.

GIFT PROGRAM - Do you know anybody who works for Pacific Northwest Bell who is willing to donate to the LCC Development Fund? PNB has announced a new Educational Matching Gift Program in which the company will match donations between $25 and $1,000 made by full-time Bell employees. For details, refer your PNB friends to Bill Prows, Educational Matching Gift Program coordinator, at (503)242-6594.

OPEN HOUSE - If you would like to learn more about respiratory therapy, dental assisting, dental hygiene, medical office assisting, and nursing, attend the open house Monday in the Health Occupations Department. Stop by Room 276, Health, between 9 and 11 a.m.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS - The Social Security wage base has been hiked for 1982. The Social Security Administration has announced that the social security taxable wage base will be $32,400 next year. It's now $29,700. With the social security tax rate also going up to 6.7 percent (now 6.65 percent) next year, an individual earning $32,400 or more next year will have to pay $2,170.80 in social security tax, or $195.75 more than this year's maximum tax of $1,975.05. The employer will be paying an equal amount.

GIFT OF LOVE - LCC's Campus Ministry has begun a food sharing program for this holiday season. Those who have anything - canned and dried foods, turkey, money - to share, may leave items at the Campus Ministry Office, Room 125, Center; Student Activities, second floor, Center; and at the table in the cafeteria. TODAY...

MUSIC - Hiawatha will perform in the cafeteria today, between 1:30 and 3 p.m.

OPEN HOUSE - Don't forget the open house in the Health Occupations Department today. Stop by room 276, Health, for information about dental assisting, respiratory therapy, medical office assisting, nursing and dental hygiene.

MODERN PROBLEMS - If you're having problems coping with stress, visit the Student Health Services Apple Booth on Stress. Someone will be on hand to talk with you between 11:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. today in the cafeteria.

CLASSIFIED - Members of the bargaining council for the LCC Employees Federation will meet at 5 p.m. today in room 205, P.E. The council will meet again Tuesday - same time, same station.

COLOR POWER - Color consultant Sandy Hultgren will demonstrate how color influences individuals and which colors are best for them in a talk beginning at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday. "Personal Color Power" is part of the Women's Program Brown Bag Series, and will take place in room 216, Administration. For information, call ext. 2336.

FINAL WARNING - Financial Services will close its counter and other operations between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Tuesday.

BASQUE - Ray Echevarria, an adjunct professor at the University of Nevada, will present a 45-minute slide show and 45-minute question-and-answer period on the Basque culture Thursday. He has taught about Basque culture at Idaho State and Boise State universities in Idaho, and in Onate, Spain, through the Boise State Studies Abroad Program. His lecture will be free. Bring a lunch, enjoy the music and look over artifacts. Sponsored by LCC's Campus Ministry, the program begins at 11:30 a.m. in room 105, Health.

POPULARITY POLL - According to an unpublished 1981 study by the American Association of Community and Junior Colleges, nursing ranks as the top occupational program in community colleges by enrollment. The rest are business management, secretarial studies, accounting, data processing, police science, electronic technology, agriculture, engineering technology, auto mechanics, drafting, banking, fire science, real estate and aviation technology.

THE NEW TECHNOLOGY - A Seattle conference set for Jan. 28, 1982, will educate participants about using the latest high technology communications media and techniques. A group of new technology experts will meet for a teleconference to 22 locations throughout the United States and Canada, and Isaac Asimov will give the keynote address. The cost of the conference is $90 to members of the International Association of Business Communicators, and $110 for others. For more information about this conference and other staff development opportunities, call ext. 2360 or check the Staff Development Office bulletin board. The office is in the back of the library in the far right-hand corner.

OPEN SHOW - LCC dance students will demonstrate what they have learned this term in a free show Wednesday afternoon. "Open Show" begins at 3 in the auxiliary gym. For information, call Mary Seereiter, ext. 2549.

MORE SLIDES - The Associated Students of LCC are sponsoring a lecture and slide show about Richard Notkin's miniature sculptures - now on display at the University of Oregon Art Museum - Wednesday morning. The presentation is scheduled between 10 a.m. and noon in room 308, Forum.

CHAUTAUQUA - The Oregon Committee for the Humanities is seeking proposals for educational programs that can tour the state in July and August as part of the second annual Humanities Chautauqua. Members are looking for projects that combine history, literature, ethics, archaeology, folklore and other humanities fields - and for presenters who are specialists in one or more of these subjects. Deadline dates are Dec. 21 and April 2. The committee expects to support about ten projects. Each project tours independently. Those funded last year featured mime, history, period architecture, and the history of the labor movement. For information, call Lisl Fenner, ext. 2364.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT - The LCC annual Christmas Concert is slated for Thursday night in the main theatre. The Concert Choir, directed by Dan Sachs, will sing pieces by such composers as Bach and Palestrina; the Baroque Orchestra, directed by Nathan Cammack, will play the Pachelbel "Canon," among other works; and the Chamber Choir, directed by Wayte Kirchner, will sing Britten's "Ceremony of Carols." The concert begins at 8 p.m., and is free.

COLOR POWER - Color consultant Sandy Hultgren will demonstrate how colors influence people and which colors are best for them in a talk beginning at 11:30 a.m. today. Part of the Women's Program Brown Bag Series, "Personal Color Power" will be discussed in room 216, Administration.

LITURGY - Father James Dieringer will lead the liturgy in celebration of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary, at noon today in room 308, Forum.

SCENES - Cecilia Ostrow will present a slide show, "Heart to the Wilderness," this afternoon in room 308, Forum. The show is slated to begin at 2.

INSURANCE REPRESENTATIVE - Liz Kelso, the insurance agent of record representative, will be in Personnel Services today between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

SNEAK PREVIEWS - The Staff Development Office is making five films available for preview this morning. They are "Courtesy is the Answer," "Delegate - Don't Abdicate," "Effective Telephone Calling," "Telephone Manners," and "The Training Memorandum." All five will be available in room 9, Center, between 9 and 10.

BOOK DISCUSSIONS - The Friends of the LCC Library meet today to talk about what kinds of books would spark conversation in their new book discussion series. Members and nonmembers are invited to attend the noon meeting in room 316, Library. Bring a lunch, if you wish; tea and coffee will be provided.

STAFF DIRECTORIES - The 1981-82 LCC staff directories are available at the Information Window on the first floor of the Administration Building.

RETIRING - Two "from the beginning" LCC staff members - O. Jed Merrill and John Jacobs - are retiring in 1982. Merrill, a Construction Technology instructor since 1965, will semi-retire Jan. 1 to teach part time, take some classes and "learn to relax." He worked for the Eugene Technical-Vocational School for four years, was a building contractor and a carpenter. During LCC's formative years, he served on the influential Staff Personnel Policies Committee and was a leader in the Staff Association. Jacobs, who heads the Science Department, will retire July 1 after 30 years in education. When the College was founded, he was the first head of both Science and Mathematics. He hired all of the present Science faculty and about half of the present Math faculty. After touring California community colleges with architects who were drawing what is now the main campus, he helped design present science facilities. He says he plans to use the first part of his retirement to "complete projects."

CLIPS - Don not use paper clips instead of staples in your U.S. mail. Paper clips may get extracted by the sealer and cause time-consuming and costly repairs for the LCC mailing machine.

FINANCE TOPS AGENDA - Wednesday night's meeting of the LCC Board of Education will focus on probable additional cuts in state funding support. Projections of cuts ranging from $1 million to $4 million in the next 18 months have been discussed. A suggestion list of a hundred possible ways to make up the difference will be considered. Suggestions include a tuition increase and surcharge to ideas for fundraising through raffles, bingo, rock concerts and planting crops on the playing fields. The session, open to the public, will begin at 8 p.m. in room 216, Administration. Also on the agenda are the College audit, course changes, Budget Committee appointments, academic probation and reports on CETA programs.

MUSICAL WEDNESDAY - The Phil Curtis Trio is slated to play in the cafeteria between 1:30 and 3 p.m. Wednesday.

NEW BOOK - Paul Armstrong, a member of the LCC Language Arts faculty until his retirement, has a new book. Of Two Mind contains 115 poems and verses, both serious and flip. It should be in the LCC Bookstore later this week at $4.95 per copy. Those who would like an autographed copy may contact Armstrong at 342-1590.

DANCE SHOW - LCC dance students will show what they know in "Open Show" Wednesday. The performance begins at 3 p.m. in the auxiliary gym. For information about this free event, call Mary Seereiter, ext. 2594.

CERAMICS - Ceramic sculptor Richard Notkin will lecture about his work Wednesday morning in room 308, Forum. An exhibition of his miniature sculptures is on display at the University of Oregon Museum of Art. Notkin also will give a techniques workshop in the Ceramics Department at 1 p.m. Wednesday. His morning lecture begins at 10 a.m., and is sponsored by the Associated Students of LCC.

GIFT OF LOVE - LCC's Campus Ministry has begun a food sharing program for this holiday season. Those who have anything - canned and dried foods, turkey, money - to share, may leave items at the Campus Ministry Office, room 125, Center; Student Activities, second floor, Center; and at the table in the cafeteria. If you need help or know someone who does, contact Campus Ministry at ext. 2814.

BENEFICIARIES - Are your beneficiaries designated as you would wish, if they were suddenly to collect on your life insurance, PERS and other benefits? Please review your policies and, if your beneficiaries should be changed, come to the Personnel Services Office to make necessary revisions.

SPANISH MASS - The Rev. Frank Knudsel, vicar for the Hispanic Apostolate, will celebrate a Spanish Catholic Mass for the 450th anniversary of the Feast of the Virgen de Guadalupe this Friday evening. Everyone is welcome to the mass, which begins at 7:30 at the Newman Center, 1850 Emerald St., Eugene. A potluck will follow.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT - The LCC annual Christmas Concert is slated for Thursday night in the main theatre. The Concert Choir, directed by Dan Sachs, will sing pieces by such composers as Bach and Palestrina; the Baroque Orchestra, directed by Nathan Cammack, will play the Pachelbel "Canon," among other works; and the Chamber Choir, directed by Wayte Kirchner, will sing Britten's "Ceremony of Carols." The concert begins at 8 p.m., and is free.

MINIATURES - Ceramics sculptor Richard Notkin will lecture and show slides about his work this morning in room 308, Forum. He also will give a techniques workshop at 1 p.m. today in the Art Department. His morning lecture begins at 10. His work is now on display at the University of Oregon's Art Museum.

BOARD MEETS - The LCC Board of Education will meet tonight to talk about probable additional cuts in state funding support, the College audit, course changes, Budget Committee appointments, academic probation and reports on CETA programs. The board's meeting begins at 8 p.m. in room 216, Administration.

AFTERNOON SOUNDS - The Phil Curtis Trio will play in the cafeteria between 1:30 and 3 p.m.

DANCE FEVER - LCC's dance students will perform that which they have worked on all term in an afternoon "Open Show" in the auxiliary gym. The performance begins at 3 today, and admission is free.

FOODSERVICES LOSING MONEY - The College is making changes in Foodservices to counter the approximate $25,000 loss suffered last academic year. Prices were hiked 15 percent last July 1, low-sales items were removed from the menu, snack bar hours were cut to reduce labor by 116 hours a week, and outside sales of bakery goods were increased. The level of service and food choices probably will be trimmed considerably during the Christmas and spring breaks. Services next summer may also be trimmed because expenses run ahead of income in the summer. The present management contract with Mannings Inc. will be evaluated when it expires in June.

ATTENTION INSTRUCTORS - The items instructors want placed on reserve need to be in the Library for processing at least two weeks in advance of student need. If you have questions, call Jeremy Gunn at ext. 2273.

GIVE TO THE LIBRARY - Members of the LCC Friends of the Library and other library boosters may want to donate money to the library to purchase specific books. Library staff members have compiled a list of 19 titles - available at the reference desk. On the list are Rollo May's Freedom and Destiny ($14.95), Jon M. Smith's Scientific Analysis on the Pocket Calculator ($17.50), Judy Chicago's Embroidering Our Heritage: The Dinner Party Needlework ($34.95), and the McGraw-Hill Encyclopedia of Science and Technology ($662). Any contributions are welcome - including gift books. A book plate with a name as donor will be placed in gift books, and all donations qualify for tax deductions.

APPOINTMENT - Associate Dean Jim Ellison, Division of Instructional Services, has been named with 18 others to an advisory committee that will help create a nonprofit center for producing public access programs for Teleprompter's cable television system.

RENAISSANCE ROOM - Don't eat too much during the holidays. Save room for a gourmet lunch at the Renaissance Room during winter term. Menus have been sent to departments.

SPICY SALE - The Native American Student Association will sell spice grinder sets Thursday, between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m., in the cafeteria. Purchase something spicy for the holidays.

VOICE YOUR CONCERNS - The quarterly steering committee meeting for the Productivity Center will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday. Contact any one of the following members with concerns and comments: David Anderson, ASLCC; Julie Aspinwall-Lamberts, Productivity Center; Shirley Baldwin, Data Processing; Tom Birkenhead, Business; Jim Ellison, Instructional Services; Dan Hodges, Counseling; Peggy Marston, CWE; Mitch Stepanovich, Library; Pat Williams, Development Fund; Vern Whittaker, Financial Services; John Kocher, Social Science; Vern Ho, Staff Development; Sandy Ing, Student Health; Ron Mitchell, Social Science; Donna Morgan, Facilities; Anne Stewart, Staff Development; and Casey Fast, Productivity Center.

END-OF-TERM DANCE - Nightwing will play at a Friday night dance sponsored by the Associate Students of LCC. The cost is $1.50 per person, and the dance is scheduled between 8 p.m. and midnight.

ORNAMENTS SALE - Dental hygiene students will be selling handmade Christmas tree ornaments Friday morning in the cafeteria to raise money for a graduation party.

RENAISSANCE ROOM - Wednesday...Sea Breeze Mocktail, Antipasto Appetizer, Meatball Sandwich
CAFETERIA MENUS - Wednesday....Cafeteria: Veal Alfred, Fishwich w/Coleslaw, Braised Sirloin
Tips w/Noodles

Vegetarian: Spanish Rice and salad

TODAY...

FALALALALALALALALA - Tonight's annual LCC Christmas Concert begins at 8 p.m. in the main theatre. The Concert Choir, Baroque Orchestra and Chamber Choir will perform in the free concert.

ABOUT BASQUES - Ray Echevarria, an adjunct professor at the University of Nevada, will present a 45-minute slide show and 45-minute question-and-answer period on the Basque culture today. Echevarria has taught about Basque culture at Idaho State and Boise State universities in Idaho, and in Onate, Spain, through the Boise State Studies Abroad Program. His lecture is free. Sponsored by LCC's Campus Ministry, the program begins at 11:30 a.m. in room 105, Health. Bring a lunch, enjoy the music and examine the artifacts.

PRODUCTIVITY TALK - The quarterly steering committee for the Productivity Center will be held at 2 p.m. today. ---

PAYROLL - Payroll verification sheets will be available Friday from Personnel Services. They should be returned Monday.

GET TOGETHER - The Associated Students of LCC are sponsoring a dance Friday night in the cafeteria. Scheduled between 8 p.m. and midnight, the dance costs $1.50 per person. Nightwing will play.

BREAKFAST FOR CLASSIFIED - The third annual Management Group Appreciation Breakfast for classified employees will be served the morning of Friday, Dec. 18, in the snack bar. If you're a classified staff member, you're invited as an honored guest. Your manager should contact you soon about a ticket. Sandra Ing, Student Health Services, is chairing the event for the second time, in cooperation with Staff Development and Foodservices. Managers contribute funds to underwrite food costs, and do the cooking, serving, cleaning up and so on.

EVALUATION COMPLETED - Inquire at Staff Development, if you would like to read the participant evaluation of the Sept. 14 all-staff administrative meeting. The overall rating was 3.3 out of a possible 5. More than half the 280 respondents rated most aspects of the session at 4 or 5. They liked the optimism and abundance of information about the College. They said weaker events of the activity were "my rear" and an unanswered question, "Why is life the way it is?".

INSURANCE - Brian Wenzl from the OEA will be in the Personnel Services Office between 8 a.m. and noon Friday to answer faculty questions about insurance coverage.

BASKETBALL - The Titan women's basketball team hosts Pacific University of Forest Grove Friday night. That game begins at 6, and will be followed by a men's basketball game at 8. The men are taking on the College of the Siskiyous from northern California.

HUMANITIES TRAVELS - The Oregon Committee for the Humanities is seeking proposals for educational programs that can tour the state in July and August as part of the second annual Humanities Chautauqua. Committee members are looking for projects that combine history, literature, archaeology, ethics, folklore and other humanities fields. They also seek presenters who are specialists in one or more of these subjects. Deadline dates are Dec. 21 and April 2. The committee expects to support about ten projects; each tours independently. For information, contact Lisl Fenner, Instructional Services, ext. 2364.

HOLIDAY SHARING - LCC's Campus Ministry has begun a food sharing program. Those who have anything - canned and dried foods, turkey, money - may leave items at the Campus Ministry Office, room 125, Center; Student Activities, second floor, Center; and at the table in the cafeteria. If you need help or know someone who does, contact Campus Ministry at ext. 2814.

FACULTY INSURANCE - Brian Wenzl from the OEA will be in the Personnel Services Office between 8 and 11 a.m. today.

BASKETBALL IN EUGENE - Both LCC's women's and men's basketball teams play their sport tonight on campus. The women host Pacific University in a game beginning at 6; the men's game against the College of the Siskiyous team begins at 8.

DANCING - The Associated Students of LCC host a dance tonight with the band Nightwing. Scheduled between 8 p.m. and midnight in the cafeteria, the dance costs $1.50 per person.

DETAILS - Payroll verification sheets are available today in the Personnel Services Office.

LITTLE TITANS - Present your young, athletic friends with gift certificates to the Little Titans Baseball Clinic March 6 and 7. The clinic will offer persons aged 7-15 nine hours of instruction, a T-shirt and a Saturday lunch. LCC's baseball team and coaching staff lead the clinic. Certificates cost $30 with a $5 discount for LCC staff members. Call the Athletics Office at ext. 2215 for information.

CUTS SHAPING UP - The numbers are gradually becoming more refined as LCC readies for the impending cut in state funding. Dean Bill Berry told the Board of Education Wednesday night that the total impact could range from $741,400 to $3.4 million. The FTE (full-time equivalency) cut could range from 671 to 2,685. The real numbers await the Legislature's session, which begins Jan. 11. A tuition increase of $1-2 a credit hour was discussed Wednesday night, as was a surcharge of $5-10. Those at the board meeting also talked about possibly reducing part-time classified staff by 50 percent to save $220,000 and part-time faculty to save $800,000. Reducing staffing levels to 1978-79 levels, when 8,500 FTE students were served, could save about $1 million. All options will be kept open until the amount of the cut is learned. The existing freeze on all avoidable spending will continue. In an effort to soften the cuts, the Board asked the Administration to prepare a resolution to the Legislature urging action to increase state revenues.

NEW APPOINTEES - The Board of Education Wednesday appointed two new people to the College Budget Committee. They are Bob Jeremiah of Cottage Grove and Gary Straube of Junction City. Holdover members are Lester Zook of Springfield, Dean VanLeuven of Veneta and three Eugeneans - Alexander Stalowitz, Annette Crawford and Edna Wooten. The budgeting process begins after the first of the year and ends with adoption at mid-year.

HONOR - Bill Porter, an LCC Cooperative Work Experience coordinator, has been named by the Air Force Office of Special Investigations as the nation's outstanding mobilization augmentee. Porter, a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserves, has served the OSI as a special agent for the last 14 years. He recently returned from a classified overseas duty tour involving anti-terrorist activities. Porter will be guest of honor at a special awards banquet in Washington, D.C., this spring.

If you expected the 1981-82 staff directory before this week, you are not the only one. Illness and higher-priority instructional printing helped delay its arrival. But it's out, and credit is due several individuals. Helen Blaylock of Work Processing typed the copy; having it in memory will make production of next year's directory much easier. Nearly everyone, if not everyone, in Printing/Graphics contributed in some way to the final product. Special thanks go to Gary Anderson for his graphics work, to Nadine Bryant for her camera work, to Ram Rattan for his printing work, and to Carol Kaminski for her bindery and trimming work. It was a lot of work at that.

--Keli Osborn, College/Community Relations

CORRECTIONS - There are, unfortunately, corrections that need be made in your new staff directories. The correct extension for the student literary magazine Denali is 2330. Iris Messina's listing, now under Language Arts, belongs under Social Science. Art Tegger, Language Arts, has had his extension changed to 2419. Please share these corrections with colleagues who may be unaware.

BREAKFAST - Managers, have you invited your classified staff to the Dec. 18 breakfast? Don't forget to call Staff Development, ext. 2260, to report how many tickets for staff you need and what kind of job you would like at the breakfast.

HONOR - Doug White, head of the Health Occupations Department, has been reelected president of the University of Oregon Alumni Association. White received master's and doctoral degrees from the university.

BOOKSTORE BUYS - The bookstore's booksale continues with items marked 40-60 percent off. In addition to Christmas items, the bookstore also is stocking copies of Bob Hoffman's Pitfalls to Avoid/Am I Doing This Right?, a guide to the financial aid labyrinth students and prospective students face. Another book on hand is Paul Armstrong's Of Two Minds. Armstrong, a retired Language Arts instructor, has compiled poems both flip and serious in his new book.

COMMUNITY TELEVISION - In the near future, Lane County will have several cable television channels and a public access center in which to produce community programming. To introduce area residents to these new resources, the National Federation of Local Cable Programmers, in cooperation with the Metropolitan Cable Commission and the Oregon Student Public Interest Research Group, are sponsoring a workshop at the University of Oregon Sunday afternoon. George Stoney, co-director of the Alternate Media Center at New York University, will address "Why Community Television is So Important;" and Sue Miller Buske, executive director of the National Federation of Local Cable Programmers, will talk about "What's Happening in Community Television Across the Nation." Local people also will talk at the workshop. It all begins at 1 p.m. Sunday in the Erb Memorial Union at the University of Oregon. For information, contact Diane Abernathy at 345-3269.

KELSO HERE - Liz Kelso, the insurance agent of record, will be in the Personnel Services Office Tuesday between 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

THIS IS IT - You can support the work of LCC's Campus Ministry in a harmless way Friday night. A benefit party featuring John Klobas (LCC Social Science) and The Polka Pipers is planned at St. Paul's Parish Hall, 475 Satre, Eugene. Dance, hoist your favorite beverage and snack on pretzels and sausages. Admission to the benefit is $3, with food and beverage costing extra. Tickets are available at the Campus Ministry Office, room 125, Center; they also will be available at the door. The party is scheduled between 8 p.m. and 1 a.m.

SHORTHAND REFRESHER - If you need to brush up on shorthand, the LCC Business Department may be able to help winter term. A shorthand lab will be in session between noon and 1 p.m. daily. Enroll as an auditing or credit student. For information, call Velma Jesser, Business, ext. 2534. Call her before Dec. 19. Classes begin Jan. 4.

LIBRARY GIFTS - LCC Library staff have compiled a list of books that would make great gifts to the College. You can donate money toward purchase of specific titles, or make contributions in other ways. On the wanted list are Quantitative Ethology, by Patrick W. Colgan ($26.50); The Dinosaurs: A Fantastic View of a Lost Era, edited by Byron Preiss ($16.10); and The Second Stage, by Betty Friedan ($12.95). Take a look at the list, now available at the reference desk. All donations qualify for tax deductions.

ADVANCE NOTICE - The LCC Library will close during the break, Dec. 21-23 and 29-31.

DAILY SCHEDULE - The Daily will be printed as usual this week. Fewer copies than usual will go to some departments Friday and during the break, with publication planned for Dec. 21 and 30. The 2 p.m. deadline for ads and news will apply.

FREE LEGAL INFORMATION - TEL-LAW is a collection of tape-recorded messages written by attorneys on a variety of legal subjects. A free service of the Oregon Bar Association, TEL-LAW allows anyone to call a toll-free number and request playback of a tape on a particular subject. The LCC Library's reference desk has free brochures on TEL-LAW, listing categories of law and tape numbers for topics within each category.

APPRECIATION - Marv Clemons, Lane Education Service District, visited campus in November with 22 business education teachers. He thanks Susan Watkins and the rest of the Word Processing staff for their presentation, and Business instructor Greg Harpole for his explanation of LCC's business education program. The highlight of the day, Clemons says, was a gourmet meal in the Renaissance Room....Charles A. Stamps, a higher education representative with the Oregon Council of Career and Vocational Administrators, thanks Dean Gerald Rasmussen for his presentation at a November meeting. The timely topic was recruitment and transfer agreements.

NO CLIPS, PLEASE - The mailroom requests you not use paper clips in U.S. mail. They sometimes are extracted by the sealer in LCC's mailing machines, causing time-consuming and costly repairs.

SUPPORT AT SALEM - State Superintendent of Public Instruction Verne A. Duncan came out strongly in support of community colleges in a Dec. 11 statement to the state Board of Education. He said: "Our community colleges are in danger of jeopardizing the very mission for which they were created. The substantial drop in the level of state support for these colleges has resulted in the elimination of many of the programs which are most important to local communities; those programs which help the unemployed get retrained for new occupations and programs which help people upgrade their skills to become more productive workers. These cuts have also reduced the flexibility of community colleges to respond to the needs of the business and industrial communities as they seek skilled workers for new plants and plant expansions. The recent cutbacks in enrollments and the tuition increases at the state's four-year colleges and universities are forcing many students to complete their lower level collegiate work at community colleges. This in turn places demands on community colleges to provide more college transfer courses which eventually will detract from vocationally oriented programs. I don't want to see our community colleges become the equivalent of junior colleges. They have so much more to offer and the vocational and self-help aspects are too important to lose. I suggest that further cutbacks in community college support may help the state with a short-term problem, but will contribute to prolonging the economic depression in this state by assuring the continued unemployment of unskilled workers, even while positions remain vacant in industry for want of adequately trained workers. These cutbacks will also discourage tax paying, job providing industries from locating or expaning in Oregon. The long-term consequences are too severe to accept the short-term benefits." Duncan suggested that fundraising alternatives be considered.

YOUR RESPONSE - The Oregon Legislature will meet in a special session Jan. 11 to act on the state's budget crisis. You can reach area legislators then at the Capitol Building, Salem 97310. Their local addresses are: Dist. 39 Rep. Grattan Kerans, 1015 Willa Way, Eugene 97404; Dist. 40 Rep. Margie Hendriksen, 296 W. Eighth, Eugene 97401; Dist. 41 Rep. Mary Burrows, 255 Spy Glass Drive, Eugene 97401; Dist. 42 Rep. Vern Meyer, 708 Level Lane, Springfield 97477; Dist. 43 Rep. Larry Campbell, P.O. Box 10225, Eugene 97440; and Dist. 44 Rep. Peg Jolin, 31251 Joe Geer Road, Cottage Grove 97424. There is another opportunity for asking questions and expressing concerns about the state's revenue shortfall; several legislators will solicit testimony from Lane County citizens in a public hearing set for Monday, Jan. 4. The day-long hearing will begin at 8:30 a.m. at Harris Hall, Eighth and Oak streets in Eugene.

SERVICES - For the friends of Vicki and Aaron Doughty, services will be held for April ~~leigh~~ today at 2:30 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 531 S. 10th St., Cottage Grove. A fund has been started at Vicki's and Aaron's request for additional equipment for the Lorane Fire Department (paramedics). Call Phyllis Braun, Counseling, ext. 2204, by Thursday. (Vicki is Counseling secretary.)

ART DISPLAY - Local artist Kim Kimerling's display continues through Thursday in the LCC Library. Kimerling, who will head for a teaching job in Nigeria in January, works with acrylic, oil, watercolor, macrame and other media. The library is open until 10 p.m. tonight and Thursday night.

SUGGESTIONS WELCOME - President Schafer invites all staff members to add suggestions to the list of more than 100 possible ways to trim expenditures that will result from a cut in state funding. Send your ideas to Bert Dotson, Assistant to the President.

KEY STILL MISSING - The Xerox key for the Health Occupations Department has been lost. Call Marlene Makie, ext. 2617, should you find it.

ATTENTION, INSTRUCTORS - The items you want placed on reserve for winter term need to be in the LCC Library for processing at least two weeks in advance of student need. If you have questions, call Jeremy Gunn, ext. 2273.

RETIRING WAYS - Everyone is invited to a retirement reception for John Phillips, Science, on Thursday afternoon. It gets started at 2 p.m. in room 205, P.E.

BREAKFAST NEWS - This year's Classified Appreciation Breakfast will be better than ever. Ed Ragozzino, Performing Arts, has arranged to have live Christmas music; and Anne Stewart, Staff Development, has planned a raffle. Classified staff members will need to sign the backs of their tickets for raffle eligibility. The drawing will be held at 8 a.m., and you need not be present to win. Breakfast is served between 6:30 and 8 a.m. Admission is free to classified staff, but a ticket is needed. They are available from Staff Development, ext. 2260.

MANAGERS - Two dishwashers are needed for the 8-8:30 a.m. shift after the classified breakfast Friday. Call ext. 2260 to volunteer; free training is available.

OREGON: PEOPLE AND PLACES - One of LCC's most popular courses, Oregon: People and Places, will be offered Tuesday evenings during winter term. Team-taught by Ryan Anderson and Milt Madden, Social Science instructors, the course includes lectures, slides and guest speakers. For information about registration, consult the time schedule or call the Social Science Department, ext. 2427.

TODAY...

RECEPTION - Today's retirement reception for Science instructor John Phillips begins at 2 p.m. in room 205, P.E.

POLL - Teachers and principals ranked third and fourth in contributions to society's good, a recent Gallup Poll on perceptions of 12 professions reveals. Released exclusively to the National Association of Elementary School Principals and the National Association of Secondary School Principals, the poll also has the public expressing a belief that teachers and principals experience a level of stress only slightly less than medical doctors. Asked to evaluate the prestige or status of the professions within the community, those surveyed placed principals sixth and teachers seventh, just ahead of funeral directors. Medical doctors ranked first in community status, followed by judges, clergy, bankers and lawyers. Clergy represented the group benefiting society the most, while advertising practitioners fell into last place as improvers of general welfare. (TE Reports, Dec. 10, 1981, submitted by Staff Development.)

GRANTS - The LCC Development Fund again is soliciting idea papers from staff members and recognized student organizations for small grants. Papers are due by Feb. 1, 1982. Ten grants of up to $1,000 each will be awarded. For information, call Lyle Swetland, ext. 7522.

TRANSIT - Pass the word to students about the PASS. LCC students (not staff) now can purchase a bus pass at a reduced rate - three months for the price of two, $32. ## TODAY...

SHARING PROGRAMS - Those who want to donate food and other items for needy persons can drop by the Campus Ministry Office, room 125, Center, by 3 p.m. today. Thanks to those who have given.

INSURANCE - Brian Wenzl, the faculty OEA representative, will be in the Personnel Services Office between 8 and 11 a.m. today.

TALENT SHOW - Many tickets to tonight's American Legion talent show are available at the Information Window, first floor, Administration Building. Each ticket admits one adult or two children to the benefit, which begins at 7:30. The annual show is being held at 1084 G St., Springfield.

POLKA BENEFIT - Dance, drink and snack on pretzels and sausage at tonight's benefit party for the LCC Campus Ministry. The festivities begin at 8 p.m. at St. Paul's Parish Hall, 475 Satre (Coburg Road, east on Bailey Lane, right on Satre), and the party will continue until 1 a.m. Admission is $3, with food and beverage costing extra. Tickets are available at Campus Ministry and at the door. John Klobas (Social Science) and The Polka Pipers will provide musical accompaniment.

HOLIDAY HOURS - The LCC Bookstore will close at 1:30 p.m. today. On Monday and Tuesday of next week, the bookstore will be open between 8 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. On Wednesday, it will close at 5 p.m., and will be open between 8 and 5 the following week. The LCC Library will close during the break, Dec. 21-31. The Career Information Center will be open between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. during the break.

DAILY DAYS - The Daily will be published Monday, Dec. 21, and Wednesday, Dec. 30, during the break. A regular publication schedule will resume Monday, Jan. 4. Please submit items for inclusion in The Daily by 2 p.m. the workday before publication.

HOLIDAY MUSIC - Listen to the sounds of "A Renaissance Christmas" at 8:30 Christmas morning on KLCC radio. The Boston Camerata Singers will sing from The New England Conservatory of Music at 89.7 on the fm dial. The program will include chants, hymns and familiar Christmas carols from Spain, Italy, France and Germany. Before Christmas arrives, other holiday music will be featured on KLCC. Monday night's "Christmas at McCabe's" will combine the talents of guitarist John Fahey and Medieval musicianship of Robin Williamson and His Merry Band. The program will contain the sounds of Celtic harps, tin whistles, the mandocello and other instruments, and will include entertaining anecdotes and tales suitable for the season.

TIME OFF - Classified and management employees will be off Thursday and Friday, Dec. 24-25, and Monday, Dec. 28.

MAIL RUSH MESSAGE - Once again, the LCC mailroom is anticipating close to 10,000 pieces of incoming mail because of the holiday buildup at the post office. According to established holiday procedure, the mailroom staff members are asking that on Tuesday, Dec. 29, you bring outgoing and intra-campus mail to the mailroom between 1 and 3 p.m. - at which time you will be able to pick up incoming mail. This, in the past, has enabled the mailroom staff to deliver departments' incoming mail on a timely basis.

ELECTED - Pat Williams, assistant director of the Development Fund, has been chosen to chair the Productivity Center Steering Committee for winter term. The post will be rotated term by term.

PERSONNEL CLOSING - The Personnel Services Office will close between noon and 1:30 p.m., Monday.

DEVELOPMENT - Classified staff, help set priorities for classified staff development by serving on the Staff Development Advisory Committee. Contact Gail Currin, Counseling/DTC, ext. 7594, about the four committee openings.

THE BUS - Lane Community College's mobile classroom, The Bus, begins winter term operations Jan. 4. The schedule will be: Mondays, Harrisburg, by the city park; Tuesdays, Waltherville, at the McKenzie Food Liner; Wednesdays, Oakridge, at the Willamette Activity Center; and Thursdays, Veneta, at Harold's Market. The Bus parks in communities between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

CITY RETIREMENT - Helen Howard, the assistant city librarian of the Eugene Public Library, will be honored with a retirement reception Wednesday, Dec. 30. The reception is scheduled between 2 and 5 p.m. in the library's lecture room.

MAIL RUSH MESSAGE - Once again, the LCC mailroom is anticipating close to 10,000 pieces of incoming mail because of the holiday buildup at the post office. According to established procedure, the mailroom staff members are asking that on Tuesday, Dec. 29, you bring outgoing and intra-campus mail to the mailroom between 1 and 3 p.m. - at which time you will be able to pick up incoming mail. This, in the past, has enabled the mailroom staff to deliver departments' mail on a timely basis.

CHRISTMAS DINNER - Lane County Senior Services is sponsoring a Christmas dinner for local senior citizens at the Valley River Inn. The dinner is planned to provide a gathering place and meal for those who would otherwise be alone on Christmas day. The meal, which will begin at 1 p.m., will feature turkey and trimmings. Contributions, entertainment, transportation of seniors on Christmas day, and gifts that can be used as door prizes are needed. More than 230 individuals are expected, and seniors will not be asked to pay for their meals. A contribution can will be available, but Lane County Senior Services does not want to discourage attendance by charging those who cannot afford to pay. For information, and to help, contact Richard Weinman, 687-3999, or Mornin Coleman, 342-5081. For reservations, call 687-4038 today.

CHEAP THRILLS - December is half-price month at the Willamette Science and Technology Center, which is presenting planetarium shows and films through Jan. 3. "Skywatchers of Ancient Mexico" traces the development of astronomical knowledge in pre-Columbian Mexico. It is being shown weekdays at 2 p.m. and weekends at 3. A seasonal star show, "Winter Skies," is showing on weekends at 1 p.m. Several films, including a spectacular animation on the human quest for flight, are slated. Admission for adults is $1 - for students, 50 cents. The center is located at 2300 Centennial Boulevard. Phone 484-9027 for information.

HOLIDAY HOURS - The LCC Bookstore is open between 8 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. today and Tuesday. It will close at 5 p.m. Wednesday; next week, it will be open from 8 to 5. The LCC Library is closed this week and next. The Career Information Center is open between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on days this and next week.

DAILY - The Daily returns Wednesday, Dec. 30. Submit items for publication by 2 p.m. next Tuesday, Dec. 29.

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES - "You can fool all of the people some of the time, and some of the people all of the time, but not all of the people all of the time." American higher education is finding - to its sorrow - the truth of Barnum's dictum. In our efforts to be all things to all people - all of the time - we (and I mean college teachers and administrators) have made so many promises that we cannot keep and played so many games with the facts that we have undermined our own credibility. It is, therefore, high time that we take a hearty dose of reality therapy, to prevent further damage and further confusion caused by our inability to distinguish between what we would like to be able to do, and what we actually can do. Four "immodest" proposals:

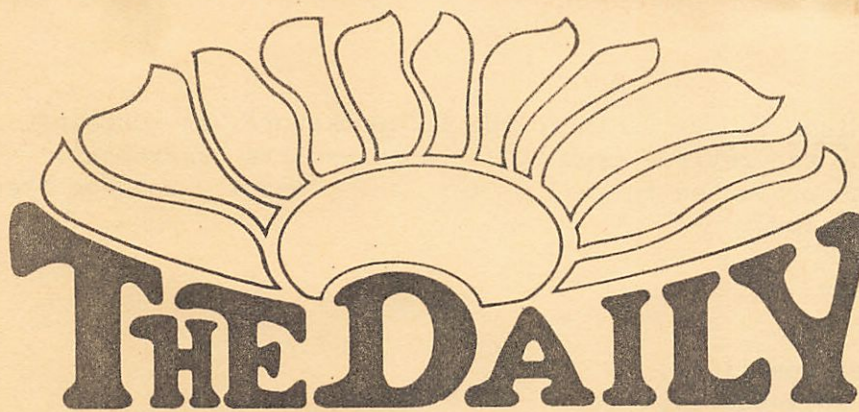

First: Stop telling prospective students how wonderful they are, how much more mature and aware they are than the generations which preceded them. Start telling them that they are neither better nor worse, but just as confused and unprepared. If anything, not as well prepared because they have not yet learned that there is no Royal Road to Geometry - or anything else - and the value of anything is directly proportional to the effort required to get it. This means that we will not offer students college courses for college credit for doing high school level work. We will not teach literature in English or any other language until we are sure that the student has mastered the basic structures and the basic vocabulary of the language. Second: Stop telling enrolled students that they have mastered the material of a given course when, in fact, they have not. This has two implications: (1) that we will give C's for minimum competency and F's for anything less. Grade inflation is lying, and sooner or later, the person lied to will hate the liar; (2) that we will determine carefully the minimum content and skills required for the completion of each course. We will not water down or simplify content when we see students struggling to achieve the minimum. Third: Stop telling parents, and the community at large, that we are teaching skills for living or values to make students moral. We do not educate the "whole person" and never have. This is the worst lie of all. People learn how to live by living, and they acquire an ethic by patterning themselves on the people with whom they live. We can enlarge the number of patterns available to them by our own example, and by the example of the historic or fictional people about whom we teach. That is all - and that is a lot - but not enough to warrant the inflated claims we have made and are still making. Fourth: Stop telling anyone that we prepare students to be successful at making a living. We don't - and never have. We offer a credential - a diploma - which has become a sort of union card for getting various kinds of work. Once our ex-students have started that work, their success or failure depends upon a range of personal characteristics which we have influenced only minimally. One of these characteristics - the ability to distinguish the difference between the ideal and the possible, and act accordingly - we are clearly not expert in ourselves. Which brings us back to where we started - telling the truth. The best education we can provide is one based on truth, and initiating such education requires that educators tell it.

WINTER TERM NOTES - This quiet week on the main campus will be enlivened Thursday when some students return momentarily to pick up financial aid checks. Classes begin Monday, Jan. 4, and late registration for winter term is scheduled in the lobby of the main gym all next week.

TELECOURSES - Ten college-credit television courses will be offered winter term in Eugene and Springfield - via educational cable channel 24. Fifty-one hours of weekly programming will be aired directly from campus beginning the week of Jan. 4. Courses also will be aired on Oregon Public Broadcasting stations, and on cable stations in Florence, Junction City and Oakridge. A new course, The Home Gardener, will be offered winter term. Others planned are Understanding Human Behavior; Voyage: Career and Life Planning; Your Health, Your Choice; The Drama of Child Development; Business English; Introduction to Business; The Art of Being Human; Math for Modern Living; and Consumer Education. For information and a broadcast schedule, call Cynde Leathers at ext. 2318.

ADVANCED DEGREE PROGRAMS - Staff members interested in pursuing advanced degrees should check the Linfield Off-Campus Degree Program and Walden University Institute for Advanced Studies materials in the Staff Development Office. Both programs allow candidates to complete degree programs with minimal on-campus time. Linfield offers a bachelor's degree and Walden offers doctorate degrees in philosophy and education.

FACULTY EXCHANGES - A listing of faculty seeking exchanges and exchanges available now is posted in the Staff Development Office. This list is compiled by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE).

A special thank you from the Library staff to the management staff members for the tasty breakfast enjoyed by all. We appreciate your effort and enthusiasm. P.S. We missed Santa!

WORKSHOPS - Workshops in computer programming and forestry will be offered in the Eugene area in January and February. The workshops are part of Oregon State University's Vocational Inservice Projects. The programming workshops will be held at the Radio Shack Computer Center, 390 Coburg Road, Eugene; scholarships are available for instructional costs for those in education. The forestry workshops will be held in Pleasant Hill and at Pape Cat in Eugene. Copies of the OSU announcement detailing these workshops are available in the Staff Development Office.

GIFT PROGRAM - Do you know anyone working for Pacific Northwest Bell who is willing to donate to the LCC Development Fund? The telephone company has announced a new Educational Matching Gift Program in which the company will match donations between $25 and $1,000 made by full-time Bell employees. For details, refer your Bell friends to the program's coordinator, Bill Prows, at (503) 242-6594.

SCIENCE - A new winter program at the Willamette Science and Technology Center will give individuals of all ages opportunities to explore the science world. Classes begin Jan. 19, and information about fees and registration is available by calling 484-9027.

POETRY - Paul Armstrong's Of Two Minds is available in the LCC Bookstore. It contains serious and not-so-serious verse by the retiree from LCC's Language Arts Department. The Flip Side of Paul Armstrong was published in 1971 by the Lane Community College Press. An example of Armstrongian verse follows.

Physio-sociology

Considering
All of my inner conflicts,
Bodies versus anti-bodies,
Cells versus cells,
Some units breaking down
To feed others that are busy building up -
With all this jungle competition
Going on inside me,
I marvel at the fact
That I make any effort at all
To get along with you or anyone.

GRANTS - The LCC Development Fund again is soliciting idea papers from staff members and recognized student organizations for small grants. Papers are due by Feb. 1, 1982. Ten grants of up to $1,000 each will be awarded. For information, call Lyle Swetland, ext. 7522.

CITY RETIREMENT - Helen Howard, the assistant city librarian of the Eugene Public Library, will be honored with a retirement reception Wednesday, Dec. 30. The reception is planned between 2 and 5 p.m. in the library's lecture room, upstairs at 13th Avenue and Olive Street.

DAILY SCHEDULE - The Daily resumes its daily schedule Monday, Jan. 4. Please submit items for inclusion by 2 p.m. the day before publication. Classified advertisements will run for two days, and extensions will be granted those who notify The Daily editor or Information Window staff. Please remember that all classified advertisements must come from staff members; ads placed under names of staff and relating to matters involving non-staff are prohibited. Please submit full name, department and campus extension with all items.
