Media include fiber-weaving, basketry, felting, papermaking, embroidery and more. Pat Spark, fiber artist and past board member of the Handweaver's Guild of America (HGA), juried the entries.

The show is organized annually by the HGA. This year's sponsors are LCC, Northwest Weaver's Guilds, and the Lane Regional Arts Council. It runs in conjunction with the Northwest Weaver's Conference, "Weaving Tales," from June 16-28 at the Lane County Fairgrounds. Conference exhibits will be open to the public on Saturday, June 22.

LEAGUE NEWS - The League for Innovation in the Community College says it has submitted a proposal to the Hitachi Foundation on "Community College Forums on Critical Community Issues" based on successful pilot forums at Lane, Bakersfield, Cuyahoga and Richland community colleges.

KUDOS - Oregon Economic Development Department JOBS Administration Manager Ron Bassett-Smith commends LCC for its cooperation in providing sites for training sessions. He wrote, "Your organization continues to demonstrate a commitment to valuing partnerships and people." Velma Jesser received thanks for showing LCC to instructor Glenna Sites of Johnson Community College in Overland Park, Kansas. Sites wrote, "Each person you introduced me to gave me further insight into the student oriented things that are happening in your program." Pat Chase is credited with giving a Grants Pass mother of three and wife of a timber worker the courage to study nursing at her local community college which originally had discouraged her. The woman saw Chase during a visit to Eugene and wrote to President Moskus that "Without her helpful attitude and good advice, plus the added few minutes she took to encourage me, I would not have returned to my local community college." Grace Glenn, who graduated this spring from Lane's culinary program, wrote President Moskus to say, "...the two-year culinary program at Lane gave me the skills and experience needed to get accepted to the Culinary Institute of America." Counselor Betty Vail is cited for her dedication in giving injured worker Mary DuBois the skills and optimism she needed to return to the workplace, in a letter to Bob Marshall from vocational rehabilitation counselor C. Kay Ridley-Hartgrave.

KLCC TO RECEIVE AWARD - The College's radio station will receive the first annual Community Arts Award presented by Lane Arts Council on Wednesday, June 12, beginning at 6 p.m., at the Council's 15th Birthday Party, at the Willamette Street Theater. ## BOARD REPORT

BUDGET PASSED - The Board of Education adopted the 1991-92 College Budget of $79,219,860, up from 1990-91's $71,012,447, at its Monday, June 10 meeting. It also appropriated $41,528,764 for the General Fund, 6.8 percent more than 1990-91. In related matters, trustees resolved to levy $20,633,220 in property taxes and authorized the College to participate in short-term borrowing to cover a cash-flow deficit projected for December prior to receipt of property tax revenues.

AIR QUALITY IMPROVEMENTS AUTHORIZED - The Board approved spending $250,000 from 1990-91 and 1991-92 budgets to install an exhaust system for the welding lab in Apprenticeship Building. Administration said the system should solve air quality problems reported by staff in the fastest and most economical manner. Work should be done this summer and in place by fall. Peter Sorenson questioned The Register-Guard's portrayal of the story as "poisoning our employees" when the Facilities Committee had already agreed to recommend these improvements to the Board before the story appeared.

FOUR SPORTS CUT - It took five motions and nearly two hours of deliberation for trustees to reluctantly support the coaches and Administrations' recommendation to cut four athletic programs in order to competitively fund the remaining four. The vote was Larry Perry, Peter Sorenson, Pat Riggs and Jim Pitney for, and Larry Mann against. Chuck Ivey and Cindy Weeldryer were absent. Cut were men's baseball and cross-country, and women's volleyball and cross country. Remaining are basketball and track and field for men and women. No one in the audience spoke against the cuts. Coaches Harland Yriarte, Dale Bates, and Lisa Youngman reiterated their reasoning as outlined in background documents to do four programs right rather than underfund eight programs.

TRANSFERS, BIDS APPROVED - Year-end budget transfers for 1990-91 were approved and all bid awards on the consent agenda were approved. The bid awards covered purchase of medical and dental equipment, telephone system equipment upgrade, Classline system upgrade, purchase of an airplane and sale of a helicopter and an airplane.

PRESIDENT'S CONTRACT APPROVED - President Jerry Moskus' contract was approved at an annual salary of $77,200 and a contract period of three years retroactive to his anniversary date of March 1.

STATEMENTS - Statements included outgoing comments from 16-year board member Larry Perry, student body president Michael Omogrosso, and LCCEA president Jay Marston. Perry did not run for re-election and will be replaced by Roger Hall, who was present in the audience. Omogrosso and Marston's terms expire June 30. Their replacements are Ernie Wood and Donald Micken, respectively.

Jerry Sirois advised the Board that classified staff are very concerned about their contract negotiations. Said Sirois, "We've been firing missiles, not negotiating. We haven't accomplished much. There are 365 classified staff with 2,400 years of combined experience who believe in this College. Tell your negotiators to negotiate."

President Moskus gave a legislative update. He reported that HB 5010, which supports funding LCC's new tax base, was passed by the Joint Ways and Means Education Subcommittee, a positive step in the process. He said lottery funds for equipment for community colleges were reduced to $5.2 million from $6 million. Moskus, who was out of town during lottery fund publicity, said, "No one in the community college system in this state intentionally disregarded the guidelines. The state needs to be clear in its directions." He also said that HB 3565, the education reform bill, is up for vote this week.

FEES APPROVED - The Board approved a long list of special student fees, including the child care fee voted in by students this spring. Trish Rosewood, student, distributed a report of how ASLCC might use the child care fee.

PERSONNEL APPOINTED - The Board approved appointment of James K. Boutin as instructor in Health and Physical Education/Athletics, Barbara L. Delansky as director of Student Activities, Shelley Dutton as Bookstore manager, Eugene Humes as instructor in Industrial Technology, and Georgia Lee Paez as director of Counseling.

DISTRICTING UNCHANGED - Present zones for board representation were contined since research has shown populations to be growing equivalently among zones. A proposal to change the method by which Board members are elected was dropped after legal counsel advised that such a change must be initiated by citizen petition.

MEETINGS SET - The Board will meet for a work session on June 29 at the Downtown Center. A July meeting will not be held except for a possible telephone meeting to call for a bid award vote on Apprenticeship Building improvements. The next regular meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, August 14, 7:30 p.m., ADM 216.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE - The following article is borrowed from Legislative Digest published by the Oregon Community College Association.

June 7, 1991

$7.1 million added to community college grant-in-aid

The Education Subcommittee of the Joint Ways and Means Committee voted to fund Oregon's community colleges at $141.1 million for the next biennium.

In action taken June 3, the subcommittee passed out House Bill 5010, which represents the budget for the Office of Community College Services. The bill contains the grant-in-aid funds for community colleges. The $141.1 million appropriated represents an additional $7.1 million over previous action by the subcommittee. This "add-back" comes as the result of increased revenues from the May 15 revenue forecast. The Governor had designated $135.5 in her recommended budget.

In addition, the subcommittee voted to appropriate $50.5 million targeted for replacement monies. At the present time, it is estimated that the $50.5 million will allow the replacement of local property tax lost by colleges in 91-93 including the new tax base for Lane Community College and the ongoing serial levy of Clackamas Community College.

The bill also contains the appropriation for the Office of Community College Services. The bill now moves to the full Ways and Means Committee and then to the House floor.

ON SHARED DECISION-MAKING - President Jerry Moskus has written a response to the Report of the Shared Decision-Making Task Force. Titled "Shared Decision-Making Revisited," it has been distributed widely throughout the College. Interested persons may get a copy from union heads or members of the various Councils. Dr. Moskus invites feedback by October 1.

Some interesting sentences from the paper: "We need happy, empowered people, but we also need clear lines of responsibility, rules, and efficiency....If LCC overemphasizes human relations concerns, we risk inefficiency and poor service to students. If we undervalue human relations, we risk an inflexible, dispirited campus....The problem that we have not really addressed is whether all views on an issue are equally valuable....Generally speaking, the wider the gap between the expert and the decision-maker, the more shared decision-making should be exercised, so that the gap between local expertise and knowledge of the larger context can be closed....Our ultimate goal should be to make experts on specific organizational matters more knowledgeable about the larger organizational context so that they can be empowered to make decisions that further the organization's mission, goals, objectives, strategies, and directions...."

"If a decision is not controversial and affects few people, it probably need not be shared. But if it is highly controversial and affects many people, an administrator is expected to invoke the shared decision-making process....Even under shared decision-making, we expect administrators with special expertise to propose solutions for the problems in their domain....Shared decision-making does not include autocratic decisions, nor does it include political pressure tactics, manipulation of the press, end-runs, or other time-honored techniques common on college campuses....We should not allow people to invalidate decisions by invalidating the process unless they can demonstrate first that the decision was a bad one. Otherwise, the decisioning process will be paralyzed."

Dr. Moskus said he is developing a proposed committee structure which will be ready for review this fall. Training for shared decision-making is being planned, a means for coordinating efforts in shared decision-making will be addressed next fall by College Council, decision-making responsibilities need to be sorted out, and additional emphasis will be placed on planning so that a shared sense of direction for LCC can guide decision-makers.

CARE TO INVITE THE GOVERNOR? - The Governor is willing to travel around the state for joint announcements and other visits which highlight successes. If your department has an event coming up this summer which you think might interest the Governor, please contact Larry Romine with details this week. He's at ext. 2303.

LOTS OF SUMMER PROJECTS - Campus Services crews are busy this summer with a host of repair and improvement projects which will cost some several hundred thousand dollars. The largest single project is to upgrade welding exhaust and air distribution in the Apprenticeship Building. Costs are expected to run from $150,000 to $250,000. Bids have been invited for eight electrostatic precipitators which wash air. Bids will be opened July 9. A second call for bids is about to go out for installation of the air cleaning equipment. The project is to be completed by fall.

Other projects: Some floor covering replacement in the Science, Business and Center Buildings and at LCC at Florence; Machine Tech roof repairs; repairs to exterior stairs and walks; duct cleaning in Center and Apprenticeship Buildings; replacement of heating coils in Apprenticeship, Industrial Tech, Forum, Machine Tech, and Auto Tech; replacement of Industrial Tech transformer; repairs to parking lots; changes to the CAM lab in Machine Tech; removal of underground storage tanks; some parking lot light improvements; replacement of some outside hand rails; installation of a new lighting system in the theater, plus miscellaneous small projects.

CHILD CARE AWARENESS RAISED - President Jerry Moskus reaffirmed the college's commitment to child care at a gathering of student parents and administrators on Tuesday, called by student Trish Rosewood. He said proposals for the $120,000 expected to be raised by a child care fee students approved in May include $60,000 to fund a student-run co-op and $10,000 to be added to an additional $23,000 college general fund subsidy for student parents to use Lane's existing facilities. Use of the remaining $50,000 is being debated. Rosewood wants it set aside to fund a permanent building for child care, but administrators advocate more planning since research so far shows that an additional building may not be necessary. Agreement should be reached in time to make a recommendation to the Board of Education at its July telephone meeting, said Moskus. In the meantime, a temporary module building and a full-time child care director have been proposed in addition to the co-op and subsidy.

Rosewood commended Moskus, Vice President for Administrative Services Dick Hillier, Specialized Student Services Director Sandy Ing, and others for their many hours of hard work on child care at Lane. She encouraged other students to get involved and stay involved. Moskus returned the compliment and echoed the call for continued student involvement.

HEALTH PROMOTION HAS IMPACT - A reader asks, "Why do we have Well, Well, Well...?" Editor Larry Romine of Institutional Advancement responds:

For years it has been estimated that about 48 percent of all deaths in the U.S. are caused by poor lifestyle habits. Examples: Cigarette smoking kills an estimated 390,000 people each year, heart disease 978,000, and drunk driving about 24,000. Further, emotional stress is linked to 60 to 90 percent of all medical visits. It follows that prevention is the single most important factor in maintaining health. Education has helped some people to make changes, hence the distribution by employers across the country of wellness publications. Well people don't use as much sick leave and tend to make fewer health insurance claims, the latter helping to hold down insurance costs. Well people are generally more productive and usually find life on and off the job more enjoyable.

About two-and-one-half years ago, Personnel Services Director Sue Colvin, on behalf of the Wellness Committee, asked Interim President Jack Carter to approve the start of an LCC wellness publication. He did, Dr. Larry Brown in Research, Planning & Evaluation named it, and 31 issues have since been published.
