shared decision-making news

Board postpones bond election

The Lane Board of Education will seek voter approval of a bond, but not in November. Cindy Cable, Michael Dubick and Roger Hall favored going ahead with a $31 million proposal on Nov. 8 but Peter Sorenson and Cindy Weeldreyer did not. Pat Riggs-Henson and Jim Pitney were absent. Four votes were required to put the measure on the ballot. The next earliest date the college could go out for a bond is March.

The board agreed that the college has significant facilities needs. A crowded November ballot, an anti-tax public sentiment, and only two months to campaign were among the dissenting arguments given. The rejected proposal was scaled down from an original $64 million list of possible projects.

The board will resume bond discussions in December, and review the outcome of ballot measures 5 and 20—both of which could alter when and if schools could pursue bond funding.

The next regularly scheduled meeting is Sept. 14.

Annual Calendar Fair to be held next week

Purchasing Services and Boise Cascade Office Products will hold the annual Calendar Fair for all campus departments on Tuesday, Sept. 13, from 9 a.m.-12 p.m., in the northwest corner of the cafeteria. This is a great opportunity to order 1995 calendars for your department personnel. Refreshments will be served. See you there! - Steve Evans, Ext. 2453

Fitness Center opens two weeks early for employee orientations

Outstanding participation by Lane employees has led the one-year-old Fitness Education Center to open its doors two weeks prior to the return of students. Last year 358 Lane employees participated in the program. After new members have registered for the FEC class and completed a one-hour orientation session, they are free to exercise during any of the FEC open hours. Early employee orientations will be held Sept. 12-16 at 8 a.m., 12 p.m., and 2 p.m. For more information, see page 53 of the fall term class schedule or contact Patrick Lanning at 744-3987.

English Eurythmy Theater to perform at Lane

Performing Arts welcomes the English Eurythmy Theater for a special performance Friday, Sept. 16, at 8 p.m. This unique evening of theater, titled The Winds of Time, was created from three one-act plays by Thornton Wilder. Tickets are $10; Lane student tickets are $5. Call the Box Office, Ext. 2202 for tickets.

Bookstore closure

The Bookstore is closed through Sept. 19. If you have questions, please call Ext. 2256.

Computer Services establishes a "help desk" for staff

A "help desk" has been established in Computer Services to assist Lane staff with their computer hardware, software, network, and development problems or questions. If we can't help you over the phone, Ext. 4155, someone will come to your desk as soon as possible.

Health care ethics class offered fall term

Family and Health Careers will offer a class in health care ethics fall term. The course will explore ethical issues including: physician-assisted suicide, surrogate parenting, freezing human embryos, animal experimentation, and genetic engineering. Instructor Barry Nobel, J.D., Ph.D. has taught health care ethics at the University of California, and the University of Puget Sound. For details, see page 49 and 50 of your class schedule or contact Dr. Nobel at 344-3080.

FIPSE preliminary grant applications due earlier this year

The Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE) preliminary applications for comprehensive program grants are due Oct. 18. FIPSE reviews the five-page preliminary applications to select a pool of applicants to submit full proposals. To learn more about this grant opportunity and others, attend the grants workshops during inservice. Contact Sarah LaMaster, Ext. 2312 for more information about FIPSE grants and/or the workshops.

Luncheon tickets available

Luncheon tickets are available for Carolyn Desjardin's presentation on Sept. 12 at the Black Angus. Tickets are $5 and must be purchased by Sept. 8. Intercampus orders may be used for block purchases by departments. Contact Julie Baker, Ext. 2199.

Lane's all-faculty conference

Wellness humorist Leigh Anne Jasheway is the featured luncheon speaker at the all-faculty conference luncheon on Tuesday, Sept. 20. Tickets purchased by noon Friday, Sept. 16 are $2; tickets will be $4 at the door on Sept. 20. Get your ticket early from Julie Baker, Ext. 2199.

THANK YOU

To all my friends and co-workers at Lane, thank you for the best twenty six years of my life. This has been my home-away-from-home, my sanctuary at times, my family, and an exciting world of knowledge where all things are possible and opportunities are unlimited. I feel privileged to have gone to school here and to have worked here and to have known all of you. You're all very special and caring people. I'll miss you a lot. With lots of fond memories, Betty Hunt, Computer Services

Jean Geiger wins innovation award

Business instructor Jean Geiger has received the Innovation of the Year Award for 1994. Geiger won the award for upgrading business curriculum and equipment and for developing a prototype technical professional associate degree being used as a model statewide. Her curriculum upgrades included various software applications and new classes that integrated the use of E-mail, networks, and scanner programs. She also provided instrumental assistance in acquiring grants to upgrade computer equipment.

Geiger has taught at Lane since 1990. She was associate dean at Waukesha County Technical College in Wisconsin from 1986-90, a recruiter for Children's Hospital of Wisconsin from 1982-86, a nurse recruiter at St. Joseph's Hospital in Wisconsin from 1979-82, and a high school business education instructor from 1973-79. She has both a master's and bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

The innovation award is sponsored by the national League for Innovation in the Community College. One award is given annually at each of the League's 18 member colleges.

List of high school staff available

A 1994-95 list of district high school counselors and career education staff is available from Shan Titus, High School Relations, Ext. 2688.

Writing tutors needed

The Writing Center needs tutors with work-study grants or who would like to earn a free class for 30 hours of tutoring. The tutor must have completed WR 121 with an "A" grade, be presentable, responsible, and relate well to people. Students interested in meeting students from other countries will find tutoring especially appealing. Interested students should contact Sharon Thomas in the English, Foreign Language and Speech Department, Ext. 2145.

Deadline today for faculty open enrollment

Faculty employees interested in changing from one medical insurance plan to another or in adding a dependent to medical or dental insurance coverage may do so during open enrollment. The deadline for open enrollment has been extended to Sept. 20. New enrollment forms may be picked up at the receptionist's desk in Personnel Services. All changes received by Carol Goldsberry in Personnel Services by 5 p.m. on Sept. 20 will be effective Oct. 1.

New insurance rate charts are available for faculty

New insurance premium rate charts for faculty are available in the forms rack inside Personnel Services. Charts are available for 10-01-94 and 11-01-94. Note that new insurance rates for HMO Oregon and Blue Cross vision will change on 01-01-95, but the actual premium increase amounts are not yet available. If you have any questions, please contact Carol Goldsberry in Personnel Services at Ext. 2590.

Instructor of the Year back from whale study

Science instructor Terri Herbert is back from a three-week study of blue and humpback whales at a research station on the Farallon Islands, a sanctuary about 35 miles west of San Francisco. Herbert was named Instructor of the Year for 1993-94 in June.

Herbert worked with a team from Oregon State University. "The really exciting news is that the blue whales are making a comeback. Their populations are increasing." Research will continue for three more weeks but Herbert's back to teach marine ecology, marine biology, and seabirds and mammals at Lane.

Some comments from the students who nominated her for the teaching award:

"She is an amazing teacher, one of the best teachers I've ever had."

"She wants us to succeed."

"I think Terri has not forgotten what it is to be a student."

"LCC is very lucky to have her."

Herbert joined the part-time faculty at Lane in 1990. She has a bachelor's degree in biology, a master's degree in science education, and teaching credentials from Oregon State University. She has taught in middle school and was named the Oregon Science Teacher's Association New Science Teacher of the Year for 1986-87. She teaches part-time at Hatfield Marine Science Center in Newport.

shared decision-making news

Board to resume bond discussion in November

The Lane Community College Board of Education met Sept. 14 and decided to continue discussion of a construction bond at its November meeting, after the Nov. 8 election.

Approved unanimously were:

- $20 million cap on funds in the local government investment pool, up from $10 million, to maximize interest income
- appointment of Linda DeWitt as temporary director of financial aid
- renewal of a helicopter lease

The board discussed the institutional effectiveness measurement plan annual report, the accreditation visit scheduled for Oct. 12-14, and the statewide community college funding formula. President Jerry Moskus said a formula would soon be adopted by the colleges' presidents. The first formula proposed in December would have cost Lane $8 million. A second proposal made in June would have cost the college $2.3 million. The latest proposal would cost Lane $1.2 million. The final proposal likely will include a "hold harmless" clause to keep schools that would lose money level-funded until their funding matches their FTE. Funding will be based on FTE, said Moskus.

The next regular meeting is set for Oct. 12.

Foodservices will close early on Friday

The Snack Bar will close Friday, Sept. 23, at 2 p.m. for department inservice activities.

Dryer fire cause unknown

A small laundry fire in the Physical Education building at noon on Monday started in a dryer lint trap and traveled into a dedicated duct, said Security Manager Paul Chase. Security and Campus Services staff evacuated the building. Two Goshen fire department trucks arrived within minutes and contained the fire. The building reopened about 2 p.m. The fire chief was unable to determine the cause. Chase recalls no other laundry fires. There were no injuries.

Continuing insurance into retirement

Classified and management employees need to remember that changing insurance carriers and/or adding dependents must be done at open enrollment prior to the date of retirement to continue insurance coverage into retirement. Faculty employees must have two years of immediate prior coverage with OEA Choice before retirement to be eligible to carry their insurance into retirement. Once you retire, you cannot add a dependent or change insurance carriers. - Carol Goldsberry, Ext. 2590

Teamwork serves students, wins a pat on the back

Sharon K. Moore and Debra Lamb

The LCC Foundation presented the 1994-95 Eldon G. Schafer Endowment for Innovation Awards at the all-staff meeting on Monday.

Admissions Director Sharon K. Moore and Continuing Education Coordinator Debra Lamb won a $250 Pat on the Back Award as a team for changing admissions procedures to allow students to register for either credit and noncredit classes from either the main or downtown campuses. In the past, noncredit registration was conducted downtown and credit registration was done at main campus.

Caterpillar-Pape' to give third $50,000 gift to diesel tech

Pape' Bros. Inc. of Eugene, one of the Pape' Group companies, and Caterpillar Inc. of Peoria, Ill., are donating $50,000 in cash and in-kind donations to the diesel technology program for the third year in a row. Mechanical Technologies Chair Ted Kotsakis says the donation shows the manufacturer's satisfaction with the quality of Lane's program.

A check presentation ceremony will be held in President Jerry Moskus' office on Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 4 p.m.

The diesel technology program offers a two-year associate of applied science degree and a two-year certificate of completion. Students find work as heavy duty mechanics, truck mechanic, tractor mechanics, fuel injection technicians, and diesel tune-up technicians. Graduates enjoyed a 100 percent job placement rate over the last two years.

Florence center to develop nature trails

Bill Porter

LCC at Florence Director Bill Porter won an $1,800 seed money grant from the Eldon G. Schafer Endowment for Innovation to develop 70 acres of recently donated coastal property for educational purposes. The property features forest, wetlands and open sand dunes. Flora, fauna and land forms will be inventoried, specific features such as wetlands will be bordered off, group-study areas will be designated, and a self-learning trail walk with signs will be made.

BPA test may cause power blip tonight

The Bonneville Power Administration will be generating faults as part of a testing procedure tonight (actually 12:30 a.m., 1:30 a.m. and 2:30 a.m. Wednesday), reports Paul Colvin of Campus Services. The tests probably won't be noticed at Lane, but to be sure, turn off computers and other sensitive electronic equipment overnight.

Enrollment dips slightly

Credit headcount enrollment dipped 5.51 percent on Monday compared to the first day of classes a year ago and noncredit enrollment rose 2.83 percent. Vice President Linda Fossen says community college enrollment usually dips when the economy improves. In Lane County, the unemployment rate is down to 4.8 percent. Admissions Director Sharon Moore says colleagues at some neighboring community colleges report drops of around 10 percent. First-day figures include individual students enrolled in both credit and noncredit classes. Unduplicated headcount reports are issued later in the term.

Weekend College administrator needed

Instructional Services seeks a Weekend College administrator for 1994-95. The job requires approximately five hours each Saturday to oversee the activities happening on campus. Contact Marianne Kimball at Ext. 2306 for more information. Responsibilities begin Oct. 1.

Student ambassadors needed

High School Relations is recruiting for student ambassadors for the 1994-95 school year. Student ambassadors are Lane students close to high school age who lead campus tours, visit district high schools to promote Lane, and lend assistance in the High School Relations office. Minimum requirements are: completion of at least one year in credit classes, graduation from high school or GED completion within the last three years, and planned attendance for the entire 1994-95 academic year. Students work 10-12 hours per week and must have at least two mornings a week free. These are paid positions. If you know of any potential candidates who are outgoing and positive about their Lane experience, please refer them to the High School Relations office in Admissions. Application deadline is Oct. 4. - Shan Titus, Ext. 2688

Carol Sirois named employee of the year

Onlookers cheer Carol Sirois to the stage to receive the Outstanding Classified Employee of the Year Award.

Applause burst louder and lasted longer for Carol Sirois at the all-staff meeting last week than for any other speaker or honoree as she was named Outstanding Classified Employee of the Year. Board member Cindy Weeldreyer presented the award plaque. It was an emotion-filled moment.

"You want to say so much but it's hard to find the words to express the way you're feeling," Carol recalls. "Thank-you seemed the best way of putting it." People from all across campus keep stopping to say congratulations. "It's a real high. It keeps you going, knowing that you're appreciated, by your own staff and by people in other departments too."

Carol won the monthly employee award in May, qualifying her for the annual award. An admissions specialist, she joined Lane in 1975 and built a solid reputation for customer service excellence among staff and students. She is known for cheerfulness, initiative, follow-through, problem-solving ability, and calmness under stress.

Off duty, Carol volunteers for Campus Ministry and represents the college at the Lane County Fair. She serves her church and plays softball (her city league coed masters team, the Silver Streaks, placed first this season).

Carol has an associate of arts degree from Fullerton Jr. College and a bachelor of arts degree from California State University at Long Beach. - Photo by John Bauguess.

The Great Ping-Pong Ball Drop is Friday

Lane will again welcome students to the new academic year with The Great Ping-Pong Ball Drop on Friday, Sept. 30. Flight instructor Jason Woodruff will fly a helicopter over Bristow Square at 11:55 a.m. while flight instructor Bruce Gustafson drops 1,500 Ping-Pong balls to students waiting below. The helicopter will make two or three passes. The balls are numbered and redeemable for prizes. This year's grand prize is an RCA 25-inch color television donated by Target Stores. A barbecue lunch will be served for $1.75 and the band Caliente! will perform. The Ping-Pong ball drop is in its ninth year at Lane.

Student services specialist will assist DTC students

Patty Krebs, Student Services Specialist, is now providing admission and registration assistance, career information, and placement testing to all Downtown Center students, credit and noncredit, through a cooperative arrangement with Student Services and Continuing Education. Krebs is located in the Continuing Education office at the front counter of the DTC.

THANKS

Thank-you to Campus Services staff for getting classrooms ready for fall term at the DTC. They did the necessary wiring, painting of DTC 005 so it could be transformed into a computer classroom. Room 028, once used mainly for occasional craft classes, was painted and carpeted and is now booked days, evenings and Saturdays for a variety of classes. They both look great! - Debra Lamb
