Effective meeting trainings begin this week

Effective meetings are essential to the success of an empowered organization. Jon Broome will begin training sessions on holding effective meetings titled "Blending People with Process" on Friday, March 3, from 9-11 a.m.; 12:30-3:30 p.m.; and 3-5 p.m. in the Boardroom. Using active learning techniques, participants of this training will learn skills to create successful meetings and meeting behaviors. To register for one of these trainings, leave a voice mail message with Julie Baker at Ext. 2199.

"MacNeil-Lehrer"/"CBS Sunday Morning" tape available

Lane's Dislocated Worker Program received a mention in a "MacNeil-Lehrer News Hour" story on Jan. 19, and a "CBS Sunday Morning" story on Oct. 23, both about Oregon's successful economy. Institutional Advancement has a tape of the stories. If you'd like to borrow the tape, call Joan Aschim at Ext. 2591. Institutional Advancement thanks Media Arts and Technology for editing services.

Greg Fishwick named director of Education Reform

A growing need to define the role of community colleges in education reform prompted Vice Presidents of Instruction Jim Ellison and Larry Warford to assign Greg Fishwick administrative responsibility for education reform. In spite of efforts to tinker with the Oregon Educational Act for the 21st Century (HB 3565) in this year's legislature, significant changes are in the offing for community college education. Those changes are driven by accreditation agencies, federal funding opportunities, the Oregon State System of Higher Education, business and industry, parents, and educators themselves.

Fishwick is administering a $163,000 state grant for staff development which includes six major projects. The largest project is an "Education Reform Summit" to be held Friday, May 19—mark your calendars now! And if you're a full- or part-time member of Lane's teaching faculty this term, you should have received the Educational Reform Faculty Survey to be returned by this Friday, March 3. Add Greg to your staff directory at Ext. 2007 in Center 15E.

Faculty launch assessment project

In response to an accreditation recommendation, faculty are establishing and training a team to better formulate, articulate and assess specific outcome-oriented objectives to do an even better job of meeting students' learning needs. The Assessment Team's mission is to empower, motivate, facilitate and coordinate the entire faculty on the program, sequence and class levels to infiltrate their teaching and student learning with a comprehensive assessment scheme. The objective is to make significant progress toward this goal within three years. The team will meet on Wednesday, March 8 from 2:30-4 p.m. in Apprenticeship 215, followed by another meeting on Wednesday, March 29, same time and place. For more information, contact Dan Berger at Ext. 2580.

Degree committee to consider math requirements

The Degree Requirements Committee will discuss math requirements for the associate of applied science degree on Thursday, March 2, at 3:30 p.m. in Center 446. All interested staff, faculty and students are encouraged to attend. - Jack Powell, Ext. 2420

Learn how to develop winning grant proposals

A workshop on developing grant proposals will be held Monday, March 6 from 10-11:30 a.m. in Health 106. Sarah LaMaster, grants coordinator, will give an overview of the components of successful grant proposals, and Bill Kyker from College Finance will describe how to develop accurate and appropriate project budgets. The college Grants Manual and Grant Writer's Workbook will be available for those who don't already have them. Current and future grants and contract administrators, their assistants and any others who may need to develop a grants budget in the future are urged to attend. Contact Sarah LaMaster, Ext. 2312, or Terry Grove, Ext. 2603, if you have questions.

International cooperative education info session open to all

Experience the world through cooperative education work experiences abroad. All students and staff are invited to attend an international cooperative education information session on Tuesday, March 7, from 3-4 p.m. in Apprenticeship 211. Share refreshments and discover opportunities for working abroad and experiencing another culture. Work placements are available in Great Britain, Mexico, Hungary, Turkey, Ukraine, Kenya, Germany, and Japan. If you cannot attend this session but want more information, contact Jane Russell at Ext. 2423 or Linda Myers at Ext. 2883.

Conference to be held for child care providers

"Caring for Children: A Wonderful Profession" will be held Saturday, March 4, from 8:30-3:30 p.m., beginning in the cafeteria on main campus. The conference is sponsored by the Child Care Resource Connection at Lane. For more information, call 726-3954.

Financial aid exit interviews scheduled

Federal regulations require that students receiving a Federal Stafford Loan or a Federal SLS Loan while attending Lane must attend an exit interview during their last term of attendance. The exit interview outlines financial planning, disclosure statements, repayment procedures, how to correspond with the lender, secondary markets, loan consolidation, options for making payments, and the consequences of default. Exit interviews are scheduled for Monday, March 6, at 10 a.m. in Health 269, 2 p.m. in Health 269, and 6 p.m. in Forum 309; and Tuesday, March 7, at 9 a.m. in Forum 307, 1 p.m. in Forum 310, and 4 p.m. in Forum 307. The sessions will begin on time and latecomers cannot be admitted. Each session will last approximately 50 minutes.

Board and Budget Committee to meet

The Board Budget Committee will meet on Wednesday, March 8, at 5:30 p.m., in the Boardroom for an orientation meeting. The Lane Community College Board of Education meeting will follow at 6:45 p.m. also in the Boardroom. The board will be asked to approve a resolution and notice of bond election for the $42,770,000 general obligation bond on the May 16 ballot. The Board will also consider a recommendation to award a contract to supply microcomputers to the college, and to install network boards into existing college microcomputers, to Omnitek.

Board members run unopposed

Roger Hall, Chair

Roger Hall of Eugene and Jim Pitney of Junction City are running unopposed for reelection to their seats on the Lane Community College Board of Education. Candidates must live in the zone they represent but are elected by voters from the entire college district. The election will be by mail on March 28. The four-year terms of office will begin July 1.

Reelection will place Hall in his second term as an at-large representative. He is a radiologist and general partner in M.R. Imaging Associates. He received his medical degree from Kansas University Medical School and postdoctoral training at Henry Ford University in Detroit. He is past board and foundation member at McKenzie-Willamette Hospital and past president of Maude Kerns Arts Center. Hall does bronze sculpture as an avocation, and sometimes relaxes by fly fishing.

Jim Pitney

Pitney, the Zone 2 representative for 20 years, is running for his sixth term of service. He is a retired farmer and dairyman and lives on the 1853 land claim of his great grandparents. He holds a bachelor of science degree from Oregon State and is active in numerous civic organizations including the Junction City Historical Museum. Pitney offers the following thoughts to Daily readers:

"On this 30th anniversary of the founding of LCC, I think how lucky I am to have been involved for almost 20 of those years in the growth and development of education and lifelong learning for all the people of our community. I sometimes wonder how much I had to do with this success, for it was the staff and faculty, board of education, the community, everyone working together and individually who made it happen. Whether innovative or daring, inventive or repairing, planned or spontaneous, the ideas, work, energy, and enthusiasm came from you who cared. I look to the future challenges of our society with excitement and awe. I believe LCC is the leader in serving the needs of our community and must continue to do so. Betty and I thank you for your friendship and cooperation, and for fulfilling, enjoyable times that have changed our lives."

Brown bag workshop offered on service learning grants

"Learn and Serve America: Higher Education" grant opportunities will be described at a workshop today from noon-1 p.m. in Business 204. The program funds community service activities and service learning. Most projects involve community partners. Priority issues are community policing, victim assistance, neighborhood/community environment, early childhood development, and K-12 success. The next grant deadline is April 12. Call Sarah LaMaster at Ext. 2312 for more information. Bring your own lunch. Beverages will be provided.

Technology priorities to be proposed

Priorities for college use of technology, particularly in instruction, will be proposed by members of the Technology Think Tank to College Council at council's meeting today from 1:30-3:30 p.m. in the Boardroom. The "tech tank" formed at a fall 1994 in-service workshop and includes members from all employee groups who believe the college should systematize its approach to technology and coordinate resource use.

Think Tank facilitator Bob Barber highlights six forces driving the need for technology planning in a memo to council: the bond and its technology components, grants with technology emphases, the campuswide network coming on-line, professional development spending on technology training, demand from faculty and staff, and the willingness of faculty and staff to take responsibility for planning.

Eight priorities outlined in the memo call for a technology coordinator or council, a planning procedure, a study and database of resources, smoothly bringing the collegewide network on-line and providing training, a computer users' handbook, a well-staffed and well-equipped instructional technology center, a series of discussion meetings, and a collegewide dialogue to deal with the challenges of technology.

For more information, attend the council meeting or contact Barber at Ext. 2838.

LCC students join AmeriCorps ranks

Twelve of 16 students selected for an AmeriCorps project in Oregon and Washington are from Lane. Ten of the 12 are energy management technician program majors and the other two are program graduates. The graduates are the state directors for the project. Called the AmeriCorps Green Lights Project, the students are auditing lighting in public schools and other public buildings and making recommendations on how to improve lighting efficiency and save taxpayer dollars. They are receiving a living allowance plus education awards payable toward student loans or tuition. Current students also are earning credit toward their degrees. Schools could cut their lighting bills as much as 50 to 75 percent, says project manager Marc Ross of the Bonneville Power Administration.

The project is a national pilot. It is sponsored by BPA and the Environmental Protection Agency and is the first AmeriCorps project to use students as lighting auditors. AmeriCorps was created by President Clinton in 1993 to help students earn an education by performing community service work.

The energy management training program at Lane is the only one in Oregon, and one of only two in the Northwest. The program receives funding from BPA. Rober Ebbage of Science coordinates the energy management program at Lane. Dixie Maurer-Clemons of Cooperative Education placed the Lane students with AmeriCorps.

Lane respiratory care student wins scholarship

Dana Chamberlain

Lane respiratory care student Dana Chamberlain has won a $720 scholarship for first-year students from the Oregon Society for Respiratory Care, plus a $30 one-year membership in the American Association of Respiratory Care. She won the scholarship based on a paper addressing why she chose respiratory care as a career and what she hopes to contribute to the profession.

Students from Lane, Mt. Hood Community College in Gresham, Rogue Community College in Grants Pass, and Apollo College in Portland competed for the award. It was announced at the OSRC meeting on Feb. 2 at Valley River Inn in Eugene. Photo by Dan Welton.

Suggestion box to include concerns

The suggestion box sponsored by Classified Council is now located near the Library reference desk. Council would like to hear from any employee who has either a suggestion (a problem with a proposed solution) or a concern (a problem without a known solution). One can submit on any form; there is a stack of forms on the shelf near the box. - Carrol Barton, Ext. 2640

Faculty Council news

Faculty Council will meet on Thursday, March 9, from 3-4:30 p.m. in the Boardroom. Agenda highlights are creating department charters, and unpaid leaves for faculty.

At council's Feb. 23 meeting, Vice President Linda Fossen and English instructor Margaret Bayless discussed the student complaint procedure and reviewed a draft handbook of student rights and responsibilities. The handbook will help guide students through LCC bureaucracy and to delineate due process. The draft handbook will be disseminated for staff and student review.

Fred Beisse, Computer Information Technology, discussed a proposal from the Technology Think Tank asking all of the councils, unions and professional development teams to consider action that can be taken to help the college systematize and coordinate its efforts to integrate the use of technology on campus. Beisse noted that faculty input is crucial to this process. Members discussed the need for leadership and funding and debated the merits of designating a technology council, standing committee or person to oversee the implementation and use of technology on campus. - Kim Buchanan

Classified Council report

At its Feb. 22 meeting, Classified Council heard an update on the status of the air quality in campus buildings. Kay King, Family and Health Careers, told council about staff complaints due to odors from chemical and other sources such as diesel exhaust and food. King said she has been tracking the progress of efforts to improve air quality since 1991. Although many problems have been identified, King said only a few have been corrected. Council will continue to monitor the problems and will also ask the Safety Committee to address the issue.

In other business, council critiqued a final draft letter inviting classified members of the organizational development cadre to attend council meetings. Members also heard a report from Myrna Seifert, Performing Arts, on the effective practices campaign that LCCEA President Dennis Gilbert discussed at a recent all-faculty meeting. Council meets today at 3 p.m. in PE 205. - Kim Buchanan

Forensics team update

The LCC Forensics team (speech, oral interpretation and debate) has earned 13 trophies this year. Earlier this quarter, the team won the sweepstakes award for division three schools at the Pacific Lutheran University tournament in Tacoma, WA, and also took first place in parliamentary debate at the Willamette University Invitational in Salem. Last weekend, two Lane teams tied for third and fourth at Oregon State University's tournament with 28 teams competing. Lane is ranked 29th in the nation in parliamentary debate and 23rd in the northwest for overall forensics competition.

All-state scholars named

Sheri Gianuzzi and LOSTEIN Kirkpatrick have been named to the Oregon Community College Academic All-State Team. Teams are formed at community colleges around the nation and compete for national recognition from the American Association of Community Colleges, Phi Theta Kappa and USA Today. Gianuzzi and Kirkpatrick lunched with President Jerry Moskus on March 2. Today they are in Salem meeting other all-state scholars, Gov. John Kitzhaber and legislators. Gianuzzi will receive an associate of applied science degree in computer network operations. She plans to pursue a bachelor's degree in finance at the University of Oregon. Kirkpatrick will receive both an associate of arts transfer degree and an associate of science degree in criminal justice. She plans a career in police internal affairs.

College Council report

Assistant to the President Linda Waddell told College Council at its March 7 meeting that citizen advocates of Lane's $42.8 million bond request have mailed letters to Lane employees asking for support. The advocates campaign theme is "Bond with LCC." The election is May 16.

Vice President Jim Ellison said Faculty Council recommends changing the definition of the Y grade from "no basis for grade" to "no credit given." He asked council how to amend administrative rules accordingly. Council raised various concerns including that a Y grade implied a lack of high standards, but agreed that faculty should set grading policy. Council will discuss amending the administrative rule at its next meeting.

Instructors Bob Barber and Fred Beisse presented the work of the Technology Think Tank and asked council what steps should be taken to ensure a coordinated approach to technology and its use at Lane. They said the themes of planning, coordination and leadership must be addressed. They also asked for direction for their group, which self-formed at the fall 1994 in-service. Council applauded Think Tank efforts and agreed with its concerns. The vice presidents will meet with the Think Tank to begin exploring a planning process.

In other information, Paul Colvin of Campus Services said student input on how to use funds from the Ashlane student housing settlement will be solicited at photo ID and through ASLCC; and Cynde Leathers of Telecourses said PBS has contacted Lane about becoming a site to make the associate of arts transfer degree available via telecourses.

Council's next meeting is Tuesday, April 4, from 1:30-3:30 p.m. in the Boardroom.

Sony coming to campus

Representatives from Sony Disc Manufacturing will be on main campus on Tuesday, March 14, from 11 a.m.-1:30 p.m. in the cafeteria to provide information about Sony and current job openings. No applications will be available but they ask interested individuals to bring a resume. For more information, contact Joan Adams, Job Placement Office, Ext. 2326.

Anne Bacon named outstanding employee

Anne Bacon has been named Outstanding Classified Employee of the Month for March. She is lab coordinator in Instructional Computing and has served Lane since 1983. She started out as lab coordinator for Social Science, then Center lab coordinator, and assumed her current post in 1991.

Comments from Anne's nominators include: "Anne's caring attitude and quality work performance make it an honor to be her colleague." "She lives the mission statement of LCC." "I've never heard her say 'can't'." "There is no lead in her feet." "Anne has the patience of Job." "...a true professional employee..." In addition to her regular duties, she played a key role in setting up training for Symantec employees, and is a member of the Joint Review Committee and Network Task.

Anne has three associate of science degrees from Lane in programming (1983), computer operations (1983), and dental hygiene (1972).

No stranger to awards, she was named CWE Employee of the Year in 1987, received the Oregon and Washington Community College Council Award for Educational Excellence for developing technological access for special needs students in 1988; won an Outstanding Contribution to Vocational Education Award in 1989; and has helped win various grants for Lane.

Spaces are available for trainings titled "Holding your ground peaceably" on Wednesday, March 22, from 9-11 a.m. or Thursday, March 23 from 10 a.m.-noon. Both trainings will be in Center 420. Reservations are not necessary. Learn the characteristics of healthy boundaries and a variety of formats in which to express them. Questions? Julie Baker, Ext. 2199.

Track and field season to begin

Lane's track and field teams will be in action at Hayward Field on Saturday, March 18 in the Oregon Preview hosted by the University of Oregon. The meet begins at noon. This year's team is defending the NWAACC women's championship. The men are hoping to improve on last year's third place finish. A fine group of returning sophomores and a talented freshman contingent will challenge numerous school records this season. Watch The Daily for further track and field updates. - Tim Boyce.

THANK YOU

A huge thank you to all of you for the love and support you have given me since my accident. A special thank you to Sue Thompson, Sydney Kinnerman and Victoria Daniel-Miller for the get well card/book and gift they orchestrated this past Friday evening. I love you all. - Jim Dieringer, Campus Ministries

CARING IS SHARING

Counselor Betty Vail's son, Joshua, was killed in a car accident on Sunday, March 12. His funeral will be in Klamath Falls, but the family will hold memorial services for him here in Eugene on Sunday, March 19. Because there was no insurance coverage, the Counseling Department will collect money to help the family with expenses for the service. If you would like to contribute, please send your check to Shirlee Ford in the Counseling Department.

Lane student commended at Kennedy Center festival

Lane student Rick Gary has been commended for "outstanding performance" by the Kennedy Center's American College Theater Festival National Selection Team for his portrayal of Billy in Lane's production of "Wings." "Wings" was one of only two community college productions among 32 winners selected from 900 colleges and university entries nationwide. The productions were performed in February at eight regional sites. The other community college selected was Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College for its production of "Voice of the Prairie."

Council reports

- At Faculty Council's March 9 meeting, Fred Beisse of Computer Information Technology presented an outline of a recently developed CIT department charter. Council discussed the process by which the charter was developed and how departments should proceed with development of such charters in a restructured environment. Beisse noted that the two biggest considerations in developing the charter were restructuring and the manager/lead faculty position.

Council continued discussion of issues regarding unpaid leave; members will seek feedback from their constituents. Council has also been asked by the Technology Think Tank to consider how the college can best plan for integration of instructional technology on campus. The next meeting is Thursday, March 23 at 3 p.m. in the Boardroom. - Kimberly Buchanan

- At its March 8 meeting, Classified Council heard a presentation by Don Hein of KLCC, who chairs the Safety Committee. He told council the mandated committee must inspect the entire campus every quarter for unsafe or hazardous working conditions. He emphasized that safety insurance on campus involves not only injury prevention but awareness of potentially hazardous situations and correction of problems before they cause harm. He advised staff to report any such conditions to the committee.

In other business, facilitators Elaine Marsh and Carrol Barton reported on a recent open office meeting with President Moskus about Classified Council, saying he had high praise for the work council has done. The next meeting is Wednesday, March 22, at 3 p.m. in PE 205. - Kimberly Buchanan

Career fair scheduled

"Career Fair 1995: Explore the Possibilities" will be held in the cafeteria on Wednesday, May 3, from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Employers will be on site to provide information to career-seeking students and to recruit potential employees. Computer Support Committee begins work

Based on the recommendations of the Computer Standards Task Force, the Computer Support Committee has initiated work to develop a list of supported computer hardware and software. Supported products will be supported by Computer Services and Electronic Services in terms of compatibility, installation, training, maintenance, troubleshooting and upgrades. Committee members represent a wide spectrum of the college community and include key staff members of units currently providing technical support. The mission and charge of the committee include the following:

- a. Maintain a list of supported hardware and software and develop effective ways of communicating the list and changes to the list to college users;
- b. Consider and act on requests or inclusion of new products to the list in a timely way;
- c. Develop a framework for adopting technological advances and innovations, and therefore inevitable changes to the list, insofar as they affect the technical support capabilities of the college;
- d. Consider ways to improve service to users within the resources of the college and its technical support units;
- e. Communicate with users about new developments in software and hardware; and
- f. Actively seek student input regarding software/hardware being considered.

The committee is reviewing existing surveys of software and hardware use on campus and expects to create a tentative list of supported products by the end of April. Members of the campus community can contact any committee member to provide input to the preliminary list. In May, the committee will announce a more formal process to ensure that all members of the campus community, including students, have an opportunity to voice their views on the proposed supported products.

To expedite creating the tentative list, the committee has formed subcommittees for hardware and software. Members of the hardware subcommittee include: Rosemary Busby, Business Development Center, Ext. 2925; Tom Taylor, Electronic Services, Ext. 4444; and Teresa Vitus, Bookstore, Ext. 2679. Members of the software subcommittee include: Rich Freund, Counseling/CIT, Ext. 2435; Sarah LaMaster, Institutional Advancement, Ext. 2312; Jerry Ross, Computer Information Technology, Ext. 2827; and Jean Spriggs, LCC at Florence, Ext. 2090. Serving on both subcommittees are Nick Cheshire, Computer Services, Ext. 2804; Bill Fletcher, Computer Services, Ext. 2192; and Sylvia Sandoz, Instructional Computing, Ext. 2436. Contact any committee member if you have questions or input.

Faculty Guides connecting clusters to CAMs

The team of faculty guides pictured has been hard at work with Lane's staff development grant for education reform. Their goal is to align improvements in Lane's instructional delivery system with both state and federal school reform initiatives. The guides are responsible for presentations and exchanges with departments and clusters, working with high schools and other community colleges to articulate our programs with Certificate of Advanced Mastery (CAM) programs, and participating in a pilot partnership with the Oregon State System of Higher Education's Proficiency-based Admission Standards System (PASS) project.

Instructional Technology Initiative proposals funded

The response to the request for participation for the Instructional Technology Initiative was excellent. Over twenty project proposals from seventeen different departments were received. The following nine proposals for spring term were funded: Leslie Rasor/Kevin Young, ABSE, technology class for Adult High School; Jane Scheidecker/Bill Dotson, BDC, development of technology-based curriculum; BIS, Dave Oatman/Peg Allison, computer-assisted Zenger-Miller presentations; Counseling, Carol Lynn Morse & John Winquist/ Tim Blood; Human Relations at Work class; "Version 1.0" multimedia tool--continuation of approved curriculum development program; English, Foreign Language and speech, Jack Powell/Sharon Thomas, move toward modem-based composition classes as part of distance learning project; Mathematics, Tom Reimer/William Griffiths, Hypertext Markup Language, World Wide Web; Media Arts and Technology, Bob Prokop/Michael Hopkinson, develop competency modules in interactive presentations for Video Production I class; Science, Tom Wayne/Ahmad Rajabzadeh and Shelly Gaudia, develop a distance learning module in thermodynamics, link existing departmental network to HP9000 system; and Study Skills, Pat John/Doris Burkland and Cheryl Kempner, presentation of basic skills concepts. There will be additional opportunities for faculty to become involved. The Instructional Technology Initiative panel expect to approve 20 to 30 projects for summer term. For more information, contact Bob Vogel, Ext. 2459.

KLCC Spring Radiothon begins March 30

KLCC's on-air campaign for new and renewing members begins Thursday, March 30, at 5 a.m. during "Morning Edition." The Spring Radiothon will continue for ten days, ending Saturday, April 8 at 11 p.m., or until the goal of $105,000 is met--whichever comes first. The pre-Radiothon "Thon-Buster" campaign is now underway. Listeners are encouraged to make their contributions early either by mail or through a payroll deduction. Thon-Busters are also eligible to enter a drawing for two nights lodging at Skamania Lodge on the Columbia Gorge; a $250 gift certificate from Oasis Fine Foods Marketplace; or a Denon surround sound receiver from England Audio. Remaining premiums will be offered on the air during the radiothon. For more details, forms or a list of community premiums, contact the KLCC business office at Ext. 2224.

Zenger-Miller trainings begin today

"Working: Workplace Basics for Non-Supervisory Employees" training sessions begin Monday, April 3 with a morning session from 9:30 a.m.-noon and an afternoon session from 1:30-4 p.m. at the Downtown Center. Everyone is encouraged to attend this introductory session if you plan to take any of the following sessions. This session provides the best framework for getting the most out of the remainder of the trainings. To make your reservation, contact Peg Allison at Ext. 2923.
