Grand opening set for Thurston center

President Jerry Moskus stands at the center of a community team celebrating the groundbreaking of the college's new Oakridge learning center.

The Lane Community College Learning Center at Thurston High School will be the first bond-funded neighborhood facility to hold classes, beginning winter term. A grand opening has been set for Monday, Dec. 8, with ceremonies from 6-6:30 p.m. and an open house from 5-8:30 p.m., at 333 58th Street in Springfield. Speakers will include agency officials and Lane graduate Jenny Hardy, now in her eighth year of teaching third grade at Maple Elementary School. She earned an associate of applied science degree in early childhood education from Lane in 1983. For more information about the opening, contact Therese Picado at 2060.

Choirs to perform

The Chamber Choir and Concert Choir, directed by Kimberly De Moss McConnell, will perform with the Eugene Gleemen, on Thursday, Dec. 4, at 8 p.m., First Baptist Church. Tickets are $6 for students $8 for adults. The Lane Choirs will perform again in Performing Arts main theater, Saturday, Dec. 6, at 4 p.m., for $4 at the door. Call 2202 for tickets.

W-2 notice

1997 W-2's will be mailed to the address as shown on your December checks or

LADD statements. If this is not your correct address, please call Personnel Services at 2211 and give us your new address. You may also want to update the number of exemptions you are claiming by filling out a new W-4 for the new year.

December 3 discussion will focus on SLI

Learn about the progress of the Strategic Learning Initiative at a panel discussion on Wednesday, Dec. 3, from 3-4:30 p.m. in FOR 309. Vice President Mary Spilde and several SLI committee members – among them, Margaret Bayless and Dennis Gilbert – will report on six current projects which the college launched last year: Learning Communities, Contact with Current Thinking in Every Discipline, New Faculty-Student Technology Roles, Learning Assessment, Experimental College, and Instructional Technology Infrastructure. Panel members encourage questions provided in advance through e-mail. The session is the fifth Strategic Conversation since last year – campuswide discussions about policies, ideas and challenges affecting the Lane community.

Huichol art exhibit continues through mid-December

The exhibit of Huichol art from Mexico has been extended and will be on display at the Library's Mezzanine Gallery through Friday, Dec. 12. The display includes brightly colored fabric wall pieces and beaded masks, animals, bowls and "lucky" eggs. Huichol art is intended to evoke the visions and spirit world of the Huichol people of central Mexico through the flowing, animated designs and rich colors. Pieces are for sale – with the smallest pieces starting at $13 dollars – and make wonderful gifts. For more information, contact Daniel Moret in the Library at 2318.

Now's the time to file for variable annuity

December is the month to think about filing a variable annuity election form with PERS. You may elect to have 25 percent, 50 percent, or 75 percent of your yearly contributions placed in the program. The form also may be used to stop future contributions to the variable program or to change the percentage of future contributions. All elections take effect January 1 and PERS will not accept forms for 1998 after that date. For further details or a form, contact Personnel.

Today

- Curriculum Approval Committee, 3:15-4:45 p.m., Boardroom.
- Strategic Learning Initiative discussion, 3-4:30 p.m., FOR 309.

NOTICE: The Dec. 4 Faculty Council meeting is canceled.

Meet Gail Campbell

Gail Campbell joined Lane this fall as affirmative action/equal opportunity analyst. She has previous experience in labor and employee relations and has owned a manufacturing business and worked as an estate executor, research company manager, and interagency coordinator. She is claimed as family in the Yakima and Warm Springs Nez Perce tribes. She earned a bachelor of arts in English and psychology from Michigan State University in 1968.

"My hope for LCC," she says, "is an embrace of all comers, and an honest appreciation of each individual associated with the college." She seeks an attitude of inclusivity "beyond title, status, pay level and other things that engender feelings of exclusivity ... affirmative action is, for everyone, a door to increased awareness of the world outside our own."

Gail's passion is fly fishing. Over the past 20 years, she has taught fly fishing, worked in a fly fishing store, run a fishing lodge, and volunteered for the Oregon Council of the Federation of Fly Fishers. This November she attended the Second International Festival of Women Fly Fishers in Baja, CA, doing organizational planning as a steering committee member while standing in 91-degree ocean water. She's a certified Casting Instructor (by the Federation of Fly Fishers) and loves to teach. "I like to show others, women especially, that fly fishing is not as hard or mysterious as it's made out to be, but in fact fairly easy, totally fun, and beautiful as well," she says. "Heretofore, fly fishing's been done almost exclusively by men, then handed down to their sons in the form of an oral tradition." Consistent with Affirmative Action's mission, she's interested in modeling and opening up this sport for women. Gail is the first woman member of the Evergreen Fly Fishing Club in Washington and one of the first few women members of McKenzie Fly Fishers.

React to college logo designs

The committee charged with developing a new logo and graphic identify for the college has finished the first phase of its work and has three preliminary logo designs available for staff to see and react to. You can preview them by visiting displays on the second floor of the Administration Building, at the Downtown, Cottage Grove or Florence Centers or by visiting the following web site: <http://www.premierelink.com/lcc>. You can make an e-mail response from the web address. To see the designs at the outreach centers, visit Debra Lamb at the DTC, Kim Dotson at Florence or the receptionist at Cottage Grove. Responses should be sent to Angela Miller, Institutional Advancement. The designs will be available for comment through Dec. 12.

Craig Taylor leading Northwest research association

Craig Taylor, director of Research and Planning, was recently elected to a three-year term as president of the Pacific Northwest Association for Institutional Research and Planning. This association serves Alaska, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, and Idaho and includes public and private two-year and four-year institutions. Taylor formerly served on the association executive board. "I've come to appreciate the many opportunities this organization provides for professional development," he says, "and also the rich collegial and interaction I've found through my work with members of this association."

Friday jazz concert to feature guest artist Jeff Uusitalo

The Lane Jazz Ensemble, directed by Ron Bertucci, adds a special concert featuring guest trombonist Jeff Uusitalo, on Friday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. in Performing Arts main theater. The South Eugene High School Jazz Band, directed by Ron Black, will join the event. Probably the finest and most "on call" trombonist in the Northwest, Uusitalo has made his international mark from his home base in Portland for over 20 years. He toured with the Stan Kenton band from 1975-76 and has performed with many well-known jazz artists such as Carl Fontana, Billy Higgins, Barney McClure, John Heard, Lou Levy, Rob McConnell, and others. He recently performed on The Jazz Summit television special on PBS. Tickets are $6 adults, $3 students, and may be purchased at the door. Special price for Lane staff: $5. Call the ticket office afternoons at 2202.

Advisory committee dinner well attended

Over 250 advisory committee members attended the annual advisory committee recognition dinner held last Thursday evening in the Cafeteria. Greg Harpole from the Oregon Department of Education was the featured speaker and Cooperative Education was the featured program.

Lisa Parker named employee of the month

Congratulations to Lisa Parker of Business Administration. She has been named Outstanding Classified Employee of the Month for December. Although Lisa hasn't been here for very long, she has certainly made a place for herself in the department. She is friendly and courteous to staff and students alike. She is always willing to go the extra mile without any expectation of recognition. She has on occasion, when speaking on the phone, actually called someone to make sure they were available before she transferred the call to them. She observes, anticipates and indeed leads in terms of new ideas, alternative approaches and better ways of doing things. She approaches problem solving with enthusiasm and creativity. She is also very resourceful, having been instrumental in obtaining furniture and fixtures for the new department office.

More farms than ever enrolled in Lane program

To accommodate demand, the Farm Business Management program has enrolled the largest number of participants in program history. This fall there are 72 farms enrolled. "Actually, we have been enrolling fairly high numbers for some time," says instructor/coordinator Gary Valde. He had 67 participating farms last year and more than 60 each year since 1988. "This is an average of over 40 percent above FTE expectations for the program during these 10 years."

Contributions invited for senior companion gift

From Sandra Jones: The Senior Companion Program Advisory Council is recognizing the hard work of the Senior Companions at an annual Christmas Brunch. They would like to present a $10 grocery store gift certificate in a basket of fruit, nuts and candy. The seniors all work 20 hours per week helping other seniors and disabled adults. They are all low income and will appreciate this immensely. If anyone would like to help with a cash gift or the filling of the basket, please send or drop off at the Senior Companion office at 1445 Willamette, Suite 12, in Eugene, or send through campus mail. We will appreciate all the help we can get. If you have questions call me at 683-8043. Thank you!

Correction

The URL for the college events and meetings calendar on the web has been misprinted in previous Dailies. The correct URL is: <http://www.hometownonline.com/LCC/dayevents.phtml?show=.1>

PC e-mail readers can click on the URL and be transported directly to that web site; Mac e-mail readers may copy and paste the address into Netscape's location bar. People can also access the calendar via Lane's home page by selecting Calendars and then Events and Meetings Calendar.

Paychecks can be directly deposited

Did you know that your payroll check can be automatically deposited each payday into your checking and/or savings account through the Lane Automatic Direct Deposit (LADD) program? Think about it – no trips to the bank, no waiting in line, no checks lost in the mail (and no waiting for a replacement check). And, your money is available the morning of the payday. You will receive a deposit notice in the mail each payday. LADD forms are available in College Finance.

Communications workshop has openings

A few spots remain in the High Performance Communication Skills Workshops on December 15 and 22. These two days focus on building common individual communication skills such as giving and receiving feedback, raising issues, perception checking and continue with the application of these skills in group settings. As we work more and more in team environments, past workshop participants find they are able to problem solve and communicate more effectively after taking the workshop. To register, phone voice mail box 7775. If you have questions regarding the training, phone Julie Baker at 2199.

Theater supporters win tree decorating award

The Friends of LCC Theater, a group of staff and spouses, entered the Festival of Trees at Valley River Inn over Thanksgiving weekend. Coopers & Lybrand paid for a tree and decorations. Local performing arts organizations and restaurants provided complementary tickets and dinners as gift packages offered in auction with the tree. The Friends decorated the tree. The entry won the Most Elegant Tree Award in the amateur tabletop category. Nanci LaVelle, interim chair of Lane's Division of Arts, received the award on behalf of the group.

Work out in Lane's premier indoor fitness facility, the Fitness Education Center. El Nino got you down? We have Nordic Tracks too! For registration information, turn to page 61 of your winter term class schedule or call 2058. Visit our web page at <http://lanecc.edu:1080/webpages/lcc/healthpe/fec.htm>. Don't hesitate to drop by during finals week to check out the facility (PE 101). Hours will be 7-9 a.m. and 12-6 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Come join us this winter, and get on the "Pathway to Fitness"!

Board agenda

The Board of Education meets Wednesday, Dec. 10, at 5 p.m. in Renaissance Room for a closed executive session regarding labor negotiations, followed by an open work session on policy governance. The regular meeting begins at 7 p.m. in the Boardroom. Agenda: Wildish building elevator addition; 1998-99 Budget calendar, discussion/action; Zone 5 Budget Committee appointment; managers' family tuition waiver policy, discussion/action; advisory committee membership appointments; and audit report.

Tonight: Thurston grand opening

The grand opening of the Lane Community College Learning Center at Thurston High is tonight with speakers from 6-6:30 p.m. and an open house from 5-8:30 p.m., 333 58th Street, Springfield.

KLCC's Don Hein joins national audience research team

KLCC 89.7 FM Program Director Don Hein has been asked to join the Audience 98 team of research associates. Hein is one of eight public radio professionals nationwide who will examine questions about listening and giving that arose from Audience 98 data released in September by David Giovannoni's audience research analysis. The research team will analyze the data and issue reports between January and April 1998. Hein will focus on listeners' programming perceptions, investigating the characteristics of listeners who prefer national to local programming. Other associates will look at topics such as the values of various audiences sharing program tastes, listener's perceptions of on-air fundraising, the impact of underwriting on listener support, and the changing media use among public radio listeners.

Answers to your questions about the college logo project

There has been a lot of interest in the preliminary logo designs. The college logo committee has received many comments and also questions. Here are answers to the most common questions:

- * These are preliminary designs. We need your reaction to individual elements within the designs, as well as to each design in its entirety. You don't have to pick one, but can react to the elements in all three. If you already responded and didn't understand that, feel free to send another response.
- * We are showing them in black and white because at the moment we are concentrating on shapes. Our final choice will be used in color and black and white.
- * We are developing a new logo for the college because it is important for the college to have a strong and recognizable graphic identity. A strong graphic identity increases the college's visibility. Repeated use in connection with college programs and services increases awareness of the college and the variety of its offerings. The college has not gone through a thoughtful logo process for many years and currently is using two logos. The one that appears on college stationery isn't bold enough to serve many of our needs and does not work on the web. The bolder one that is used in promotional materials has been called "unfriendly" and also doesn't work on the web.

The final day for receiving input is this Friday, Dec. 12, so please e-mail or send your written comments to the college logo committee, c/o Angela Miller, Institutional Advancement, by Friday.

Small Business Management program thriving

The Small Business Management program continues to be very popular with local owners of growing businesses. Coordinators and instructors Jean Names and Bill Klupenger are working with nearly 80 businesses throughout Lane county. There were over 40 completed applications for the Small Business Management program for only 25 spaces. Three years ago, less than half of the participant-businesses had their own financial accounting software. Now almost all do. Many more are using the Internet and more are paying for assistance from outside professionals such as accountants, attorneys, and bankers.

Last week to change insurance for classified, managers

Classified and management employees interested in changing from one medical insurance plan to another, or adding a dependent to medical/vision or dental insurance coverage, may do so during open enrollment through Dec. 12. New enrollment forms may be picked up in Personnel Services. All changes and additions must be received by Personnel by 5 p.m. on Dec. 12, to be effective Jan. 1.

Insurance notice to classified bargaining unit employees

From the Joint Classified/Management Bargaining Team: Many of you have expressed a desire to have the option to add dependents and/or change between the indemnity insurance and HMO options when the current classified contract negotiations are finished. We have confirmation from the college's Agent of Record that Regence Blue Cross/Blue Choice HMO will allow another open enrollment period at that time, in addition to the standard open enrollment period ending Dec. 12. The joint classified/management bargaining team is still discussing insurance coverage and cost impact issues. Remember, there will be no change in the amount of payroll deduction on December checks as a result of the impending insurance cost increase. The possibility of any impact of subsequent payroll deductions from paychecks is still under discussion. We will keep you informed of future changes as they develop.

Classified Council meets

Classified Council meets Thursday, Dec. 11, from 8:30-9:30 a.m. in PE 205. Contact Elaine Marsh at 2104 or Carrol Barton at 2273.

Faculty Council report

Faculty Council discussed the college policy on incompletes at its Nov. 13 meeting. Council members will seek feedback from their respective departments on the following: 1) Should a fee be charged? 2) Should an incomplete grade be processed automatically or should the faculty member facilitate the process? 3) Should there be a one year deadline for a student to complete the coursework? Members emphasized that in order for students to be eligible for a grade of incomplete they must have satisfactorily completed 75 percent of the coursework. Council reminded faculty to include the policy on incompletes on their class syllabi next term.

Council also heard from Roka Walsh who now staffs the ITC lab. She announced that there are many program applications available for staff to use. She is also accepting suggestions for multimedia uses, web and distance learning, online classes, etc.

Faculty Council's next meeting is Thursday, Jan. 8, from 3-4:30 p.m. in the Boardroom.

Sen. Ron Wyden to visit

U.S. Senator Ron Wyden will speak to Steve Candee's American Government class on Monday, Jan. 5, from 9-9:50 a.m. in FOR 307. His topics will include the declining trust in government and the results of the recent Congressional session that just ended. There is room for a small class in addition to Steve's and other individual guests who may wish to attend. For more information call Steve Candee at 2188.

Bus trip deadline

Everyone's welcome to join the Saturday, Dec. 13, shopping trip and tour to Portland. Stops include Pioneer Courthouse Square, NW 23rd shopping district, and a St. Helens excursion to view the annual parade of ships on the Columbia River. Cost is $20 per person. Reservations and payment are required by Dec. 11 in College Finance; use account number 101-541-8017-000000-4610. For more information, contact Alen Bahret in Computer Services at 2247 or Vickie McKenna in College Finance at 2606. The trip is sponsored by the Classified Professional Development Team and LCC Employees Federation.

Application deadlines for learning community courses

Apply by February 9 for fall term and to get your course into the annual schedule. Winter and spring learning community course applications submitted by Feb. 9 can make it into the annual schedule. Optional later deadlines for winter and spring will be announced (however, by waiting your course will not be in the schedule). Submit applications to Margaret Bayless or Katie Morrison-Graham.

Logo deadline is Friday

There continues to be a lot of interest in the preliminary logo designs. The committee has received many comments and questions. Please turn in paper or e-mail reactions by Friday to the college design committee, in care of Angela Miller, Institutional Advancement. Some questions and answers:

Q. Why didn't you hold a contest to design the logo?

A. We did not hold a contest or ask students to design the logo because the project includes more than creating a graphic. It also includes help with designing college publications and web pages, as well as providing a graphics manual and help with technology to make it easy for college staff to use the new design. We were looking for an established graphic designer who could provide this range of services and followup help if needed. We selected the designer by sending a request for proposals to design firms and our graphic design faculty. We received nine responses, interviewed four and selected Oslund.

Q. What are you going to do with staff input?

A. We have made this a very open process because we want to hear staff ideas. We also are viewing staff as a kind of test market to see how the designs are viewed. The committee will take this input and use it to influence the ultimate design.

Meet Bob Baldwin

Bob Baldwin was hired as procurement specialist in September. He previously worked as financial specialist in Training and Development in 1996/97. Before joining Lane, he was a tax accountant at Carter and Carter. He is treasurer for Friends of Sorenson and is past treasurer for the Democratic Party of Lane County.

Bob earned a master's degree in tax accounting at Portland State University in 1994 and a bachelor of science degree in political science from the University of Oregon in 1991. He is available to speak on campaign finance reform, tax policy, and tax law. He can be reached in Purchasing Services at 2574.

It's time to file for variable annuity

December is the month to think about filing a variable annuity election form with PERS. You may elect to have 25 percent, 50 percent, or 75 percent of your yearly contributions placed in the program. The form also may be used to stop future contributions to the variable program or to change the percentage of future contributions. All elections take effect January 1 and PERS will not accept forms for 1998 after that date. For further details or a form, contact Personnel.

Huichol art exhibit ends Friday

Friday's the last day for the exhibit of Huichol art from Mexico in the Library's Mezzanine Gallery. The display includes brightly colored fabric wall pieces and beaded masks, animals, bowls, and "lucky" eggs. Huichol art is intended to evoke the visions and spirit world of the Huichol people of central Mexico through the flowing, animated designs and rich colors. Pieces are for sale, with the smallest pieces starting at $13 dollars, and make wonderful gifts. For more information, call Daniel Moret at 2318.

W-2 notice

1997 W-2's will be mailed to the address as shown on your December checks or LADD statements. If this is not your correct address, please call Personnel Services at 2211 and give us your new address. You may also want to update the number of exemptions you are claiming by filling out a new W-4 for the new year.

Carl Perkins grant internship funding deadline extended

Board report

The Board of Education extended the family tuition waiver for managers at its Dec. 10 meeting. The president will negotiate some cost-saving modifications to the program for fall term and later.

The board accepted five retirements: Tom Birkenhead, business instructor, July 1; Hal Davis, construction technology instructor, Dec. 12; Willie Kealoha, culinary arts instructor/coordinator, Feb. 27; Don Savoie, culinary arts instructor, Feb. 28; and Don Wilson, social science instructor, Feb. 27.

In other business the board awarded a $93,000 contract to Morris P. Kielty to add an elevator to the Wildish Building, approved the 1998-99 budget calendar, approved 1997-98 advisory committee appointments, and accepted clean financial audits for 1996-97 for the college and KLCC.

In the interest of encouraging diversity, Adam Young invited applications for appointment to the Zone 5 seat on the Budget Committee. He said applicants should send a letter of interest to him at 2250 Patterson #88, Eugene OR 97405, by Jan. 12. Any qualified voter in Lane's district may serve, except college employees.

The next meeting is scheduled for January 14.

Thurston opening a success

The Thurston community learning center was ready for its visitors at the open house activities this week because of many staff from across campus who made the extra effort to make it all happen. Many thanks to Paul Colvin, Mike Ruiz, Chuck Reid, Virginia Brady, Judy Ann Fuller (and many other Campus Services staff), Nick Cheshire, Lee Hallin, Thad Cowdin, Casey Adams, Bob Vogel, Ann Bacon, Eric Anderson, Dennis Mills, Carol Lynn Morse, Addie Lou Willis, Peggy Hudson and Ross Jackson, Printing/Graphics staff, Food Services staff, Diane Dann, Joan Aschim, Susan Sutton, Katie Lytle, Darlene Baker, Verne Whittaker, Jack Jones, Mike Smith, Jennifer Staniak, Patty Horton, Luci Amabisca, Cynde Leathers, Delna Coe, Joan Benz, Kaya Stasch, Geri Meyers, Bruce Voyce, Julie Leonard, President Moskus, the vice presidents and Board of Education members, and others who joined in on the effort of getting the center ready to go and providing Lane services and information at the open house. Special thanks to Therese Picado, for organizing the event! Yes, it does really take a whole college to make these centers and college events successful! - Debra Lamb, Continuing Education

Health tips

- If you eat lots of margarine and other processed foods containing hydrogenated fats, cut back. When the fat in food is hydrogenated, some of it becomes "trans" fatty acids, which may increase the risk of heart disease just like the saturated fat in butter. Substitute vegetable oil for butter or margarine in cooking. If you follow a low-fat diet, it's okay to eat a small amount of butter or margarine.

- Many types of shellfish - notably crab, scallops, mussels, clams, and lobster - are actually slightly lower in cholesterol than chicken or beef. Even though shrimp and crayfish have about twice as much cholesterol as meat, they contain much less fat, and their fat is largely unsaturated and includes heart-healthy omega-3 fatty acids.

Condolences

It is with deep regret that the loss of Bobby Foster is announced. Bobby passed away on the night of December 15 at his home. He was surrounded by his family and friends throughout the evening. Bobby has been an important part of the Health, Physical Education & Athletic Department for about 27 years, and will be dearly missed.

The funeral will be held on Monday, December 22 at 10 a.m.. The Celebration of Life Service will be held at St. Paul Catholic Church, 1201 Satre in northeast Eugene (Coburg Rd to Bailey Laneto Satre). A reception will follow at the Double Tree Inn on Gateway Rd (formally known as Gateway Red Lion) at 11:30 a.m. Condolences may sent the Foster Family at 3211 Kentwood Drive, Eugene 97401. If you have questions, feel free to contact Patrick Lanning at 2547 or at home 334-5098.

M.J. Anderson is an accomplished carver who lives and does her work in Nahalem, Oregon. "I am an artist carving with with personal, social and political themes," says Anderson. "I carve stone as I feel it is the least artificial of art forms. While classical imagery of the figure is predominantly from a male perspective, my work is that of a woman carving the story of woman in the first person." The soft, curving forms of the female body are apparent in Anderson's work, but removed from youthful perfection. Breasts sag and abdomens swell. Ms. Anderson continues, "My work with the female torso has evolved into a celebration of woman on her own terms rather than an image imposed upon her. I attempt a direct presentation of woman's essence and endurance, unapologetic and grounded in her being."

Art Department Gallery hours are Mondays through Thursdays from 8 a.m.-10 p.m. and Fridays from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. For more information, call 2409.
