COLLEGE COUNCIL REPORT AND AGENDA

Policy governance is being tailored to Lane and is a work in progress, Board of Education Chair Roger Hall and Vice Chair Kathleen Shelley told College Council at its November 17 meeting. As work continues, stakeholder questions will be addressed.

Hall said the board's job is to set policy and hire the CEO, its only employee. Policy governance spells out the roles of the board and president. President Moskus added that with policy governance at the board level, the college has a greater need than ever for shared governance at the staff level.

The question of public access to the board was raised. Hall and Shelley said the board welcomes public input and will at least use it as "monitoring information" for policy reviews. "Just how people interface with the board is a discussion that needs to take place," said Hall.

The board's role in resolving disputes was another question. The board will retain final supervisory responsibility over staff and student grievances, but at what level the board reacts to grievances is under discussion.

The "shall nots" of the policies bothered some councilors but the presenters said it was simpler than listing "shalls" and provided more administrative latitude in meeting policy goals. The board will continue to develop ends statements. A rotating agenda to review annual goals has been established.

COUNCIL MEETS AGAIN TODAY, Dec. 1, from 1:30-3:30 p.m. in the Boardroom. Agenda highlights: December 9 Board of Education agenda; 1999-2000 academic calendar, and the college strategic plan. The meeting is open.

THANKS FOR GIVING

Thanks to all departments and individuals who so generously donated to the Thanksgiving food baskets sponsored in part by the International Student Community Program. A special thank-you to Student Activities, Industrial Tech and College Finance, for their extra contributions. With so much support, this really became a collegewide effort. This is the first year we collected enough food or money to help more than one family. The baskets were a huge success and truly blessed three needy students and their families. Thank you again.

Students will trade pencils for switches, routers, patch cables, punch-down blocks and other equipment at the Cisco Networking Academy to be offered at Lane's rural centers and participating high schools next fall. DRAFT STRATEGIC PLAN READY FOR REVIEW

The Strategic Planning Team presented the draft of the new strategic plan to College Council this week for review. Council representatives will communicate with their constituencies about the plan and bring back responses to the Strategic Planning Team at the council meeting on January 19.

"What we're hoping to get back are answers to questions like: Will the strategic plan, as written, assist us in removing barriers to student success?" strategic planning project director Ron Johnson explained. "Are there specific strategies, goals, and objectives that our group in particular can adopt as initiatives we can champion on campus? Is the strategic plan in general something that we are comfortable supporting?"

Following council's review, the plan will be revised as appropriate, then submitted to President Jerry Moskus for his approval. He will then submit the plan to the Board of Education for adoption. When the new plan is adopted, the Executive Leadership Team will be in charge of implementation.

The draft of the strategic plan is posted on the Lane web site so everyone can participate in the review process. See <http://lanecc.edu/research/strplan/home.HTM> or for more information call or e-mail Ron Johnson, 2544.

HOURS

Beginning December 7, the Financial Aid counter will be open Mondays through Fridays, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. and the phones will continue to be open from 8 a.m.- 5 p.m. The Students First! Center will provide additional assistance for students with financial aid questions. This change in hours will allow the Students First! team to enhance their financial aid skills and knowledge.

THANKS

Thank you! to Amy Riggins, Claire Ranney, Don Metzler, Robert Thompson, Hector Cash, and Lori Lilliefors for participating in recent off-campus student recruitment events! These individuals took time from their schedules to attend college fairs or parent nights at our local high schools on behalf of Lane. With an increase in requests from regional high schools for Lane to participate in college information "sessions", it's nice to know that these colleagues are here to help!

Wait! There's more! A thank-you to 14 Lane faculty for making room and allowing time in their classes for the 48 students from North Douglas Middle School who visited our campus on November 18. According to Julia Craig, their teacher "...we had a wonderful, wonderful visit! Students couldn't get over how welcome they were....teachers included the students in the class...everything turned out perfect." Paloma Amabisca, Student Recruitment Services

U.S. WWII WAR ORPHANS: Are you one? There are 183,000 + of us; but our names and records were destroyed by the government after we turned 18 or finished using our war orphans veterans education benefits. The American WWII Orphans Network (AWON) began in 1991. The goals are to find the WWII orphans, offer support for research of our father's military and ID records, and leave a historical record of who we were and are. If you are (or if you know of) a WWII American war orphan please contact me to add your name to our list. "Lost in the Victory: Reflections of American Orphans of WWII" is also available through AWON -- very interesting reading. Dixie Maurer-Clemons, Co-op. Education

FACULTY TO REVIEW STRATEGIC PLAN AT DECEMBER 10 MEETING

Faculty are asked to attend this important Faculty Council meeting on Thursday, Dec. 10, from 3-4:30 p.m. in the Boardroom, to review the college strategic plan. Once adopted, the plan will become the college's guiding document for resource allocation and planning. Ron Johnson, project director, will provide a brief overview of the strategic planning process. Council will devote the remainder of the meeting to evaluating the plan. All faculty comments and concerns will be compiled and forwarded to the Strategic Planning Team. The strategic plan is available online at <http://lanecc.edu/research/strplan/home.htm> and hard copies will be available at the meeting or in advance. If you are unable to attend, please review the document and send written comments, concerns and questions by January 17 to Tamara Pinkas, Faculty Council chair, 2011.

APPLYING FOR AN INTERNAL POSTING?

If you are applying for an internal posting at Lane, be ready for your interview by knowing how to anticipate interview questions, and being prepared to talk about your skills and abilities as they relate to the position. Attend the interview workshop on Wednesday, Dec. 9, from 12-1 p.m. in APR ANX 154 (Training & Development). To enroll, call Lynne Swift at 2503.

SENIORNET OPEN HOUSE WILL THANK SYMANTEC

The SeniorNet Eugene Computer Learning Center located in Laneis Downtown Center, Room 004, will have an open house on Saturday, Dec. 12, from 11 a.m.-3 p.m. The event will recognize equipment acquisitions made possible by a generous donation from Symantec. Refreshments will be served in DTC 202. Symantec will donate several software titles to be awarded as door prizes.

COLLEGE COUNCIL REPORT

THE COLLEGE STRATEGIC PLAN draft was presented to College Council at its December 1 meeting by project director Ron Johnson. Feedback included concerns that the plan mesh with policy governance ends statements still being developed by the Board of Education, and getting agreement in a large, pluralistic organization. Another question was whether a bilingual goal for staff was necessary for all job classifications. As to the plan's life expectancy, Johnson said it's a living document to be periodically reviewed and adjusted. President Jerry Moskus said strategies may be useful for a number of years while goals may change annually. Councilors were asked to gather feedback from their constituencies and report back to Johnson at the January 19 meeting. After review by various councils, the plan will go to the president and then the board. The Strategic Planning Team will consider modifications based on feedback at all steps.

THE ACADEMIC CALENDAR for 1999/2000 was reviewed by council for the second time. Since council's first review, the faculty union requested bargaining the calendar and it was pulled from the November board agenda. Council acknowledged concerns that holding classes a week longer than the University of Oregon might impact international students enrolled at both institutions, but offered no changes. The calendar must receive board approval in December to meet planning and publication deadlines.

COUNCIL WELCOMED MICHAEL MCDONALD, new instructor in English, Foreign Language and Speech, as the new faculty at-large representative. McDonald called the participative environment at Lane "a breath of fresh air." Council next meets on January 5.

TUTORING SERVICES ALIVE AND WELL

During 1997-98, the Central Tutor Program began collecting data on student usage of tutors, and registering those students who received six or more hours of tutoring in any combination of subject areas. A total of 477 students registered for almost 12,000 hours equaling approximately 70 FTE. An additional 1,179 students are being tracked until they reach the minimum of six hours and can be registered for reimbursement from the state. As we improve our data collection systems, these hours will only increase. The well-trained tutors are handling higher numbers of students with more efficiency and success. Don't forget to tell your students about this valuable service available to them. You can either add drop-in tutoring hours to your syllabus or distribute a bookmark or flyer identifying services campuswide. For a supply of these items, call Liz Coleman at 2783. When you see tutors on campus, thank them for their contribution to student success. - Liz Coleman, Tutoring Services

I AM VERY INTERESTED in being involved in a mentoring program to encourage young, high risk people to be successful in college. Do we have anything happening at Lane? Do you know of anything happening in the community? If there is nothing happening, are you interested in creating something with me? My particular interest is with (but not limited to) single parents, since I had the experience of going to school full time, working and raising a child alone, and have some understanding of what it takes to pull it all off. TEAM RESPONSIBLE FOR COLLEGE'S BEST-EVER AUDIT

College Finance Director Verne Whittaker credits a dedicated team for the college's best-ever financial audit, presented at last month's Board of Education meeting. "In the audit report," wrote Whittaker in a memo, "the auditors express an unqualified opinion on the financial statements of Lane Community College. This is the best opinion we can obtain ... Scott Muller, who was the auditor specifically in charge of our audit, also indicated in his remarks that from all his clients, this was the smoothest audit he has had in several years The auditors, the board and the president were very complementary in their remarks. Their thanks and complements, and mine as well, belong to you, for you are the ones who's work throughout the 1997-98 fiscal year resulted in the best audit report we have had in several years." Thanks go to Alan Feldmayer, Ann Whipple, Bill Kyker, Brandi Kominick, Carole Barr, Cynthia Deshpande, Darlene Baker, Dawn Barth, Debbie Brockmann, Debra Houts, Elena Muncie, Jane Shirley, Judy Eisel, Julie Copley, Katie Lytle, Kay Malmberg, Lynne Phillips, Margaret Rowles, Mary Binford, Nancy Nott, Nancy Rogers, Rhonda Johnson, Shirley Lukacs, Stan Barker, Sue McDonald, Terry Grove, Vickie McKenna, and Zandra Cates.

BACK UP YOUR RECORDS

Here's a friendly reminder from Archives about backing up electronic records and proper records management practices. With the approaching end of the calendar year and the possible clearing out of office files, Archives stands ready to assist with storage of records. - Elizabeth Uhlig, 2466

Sung to the Tune of "Yesterday"

Yesterday,
All those backups seemed a waste of pay.
Now my paper has gone away.
Oh, I believe in yesterday.

Suddenly,
There's not half the files there used to be,
And there's a milestone hanging over me
The system crashed so suddenly.

I pushed something wrong
What it was I could not say.
Now all my data's gone
and I long for yesterday-ay-ay-ay.

Yesterday,
The need for back-ups seemed so far away.
I knew my data was all here to stay,
Now I believe in yesterday.

BOARD REPORT

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION MUNCHEDED THE PITNEY'S CHRISTMAS COOKIES for the last time at its December 9 meeting. Board member Jim Pitney has decided not to run for re-election after 24 years of service. Jim and his wife Betty have baked cookies for the board every holiday season.

ROGER HALL repeated a notice in the November 23 Daily that he reconsidered an earlier decision and will run for reelection.

A REVIEW OF WHO DOES WHAT IN THE HIRING PROCESS led to a wide-ranging discussion of diversity at Lane. Outcomes may be affected by variables such as requiring staff to have Synergy training before serving on hiring committees, but allowing community members to serve without that training. A call from faculty association president Margaret Bayless for more philosophical dialogue prompted board member James Britt to suggest that enough has been said and the college either needs to improve its numbers or declare that diversity is not important. Other board members affirmed the institution's commitment. Affirmative Action Director Jose Ortal said better recruiting methods would help, such as more in-person recruiting. Hall called the long discussion a healthy one.

PROFESSIONAL-TECHNICAL PROGRAM strengths and weaknesses were discussed with the Professional Technical Advisory Coordinating Committee. The board learned that the best programs had the most active advisory committees. They also heard that cabinetmakers are in demand in the RV industry, all industries need shorter training programs for employees, faculty internships should be developed, and Lane should partner with other workforce agencies to market training programs. The board directed staff to address specific committee recommendations for further discussion. This was the first "strategic conversation" planned under policy governance to involve the board with the community at a visionary level.

IN ACTION the board approved the 1999-2000 academic calendar with fall term starting September 20. The board also approved the retirements of Ted Berg and Brody Tyler; the addition of math and writing basics to Adult High School diploma requirements; and the appointments of Munir Katul and Jonathan Ward to the Budget Committee. The board held a first reading of a policy amendment requiring board members to resign before applying for employment at the college. The next meeting is set for January 13.

LANEiS FAMILY HOLIDAY LETTER

To All Staff: I hope you don't mind that I took the liberty of writing Laneis family holiday letter to our first president. You gave me many wonderful things to say. I hope you enjoy the letter. - Jerry Moskus

Dr. Dale Parnell
Founding President
Lane Community College
Somewhere in Florida

Dear Dale,

It was great to hear from you and Beverly, and to learn that you will be returning to Oregon from your temporary home in Florida. No true Oregonian could stand Florida very long-too much sunshine! You know you are always welcome at the college you founded. Come visit us soon.

I thought you might appreciate a traditional Holiday Letter about events of the past year at Lane- and what a wonderful year it was!

As you know, I had been worrying about our flat enrollment, since state funding is based primarily on enrollment growth. Well, this fall our headcount increased 11 percent, and FTE enrollment is up 8 percent! At first we thought we might be part of a statewide trend. Only recently did we learn that average FTE growth among community colleges statewide was only 2.5 percent. This growth proves once again that Lane employees, working together, can accomplish just about anything.

Take, for example, our battle with TCI Cablevision. In late December of 1997, TCI moved our telecourses from Channel 12 to Channel 97, sort of like moving us from a busy street corner to Christmas Valley, Oregon. Well, thanks to some hard work by a number of employees and our Board of Education - especially Roger Hall - TCI moved us back to Channel 12. Our telecourse enrollment increased by 19 percent this fall.

The Innovation of the Year for 1998 was our community learning centers. The center at Willamette High School opened in January, the Oakridge center opened in April, and the Churchill center opened in October. Along with the center at Thurston, which opened in December of 1997, we now have four centers that served 2,606 students this fall. The CLCs won the Exemplary Program Award in Distance Learning from the National Council for Continuing Education.

Finally, finally, finally we resolved the bus pass issue! After long negotiations with LTD, the board approved a one-year pilot proposal to sell students a three-month pass for $29. The passes are selling so well that we are afraid we'll run out of them. Now if we can just find the money to continue this program next year!

Another major milestone is the opening of our Students First! Center. Staffed by some of the more than 50 Lane employees who received Students First! training, our new center served the heavy student enrollment this fall with aplomb. The seven members of our permanent center staff were named in November and began service this month.

Meanwhile, the Strategic Learning Initiative is very much on course with joint leadership from the LCCEA and the instructional vice presidents. This project to redesign the instructional program is receiving nationwide attention as an example of what faculty can do, given some time and resources, to enhance student learning. Meanwhile, Ruth Bichsel, Bill Woolum, Alice Kaseberg, Steve Carter, Pamelyn Dane, Cara DiMarco, Velma Jesser, Robert Thompson, and Donald Wilson won state and national recognition for teaching excellence, and Mari Good was named LCC Instructor of the Year.

With the completion of our Work Roles and Relationships project, Lane moved forward in its efforts to establish clear, basic expectations about how Lane employees will interact. The new LCCEF contract was approved in February, and the Managers Agreement was approved in November. LCCEF celebrated its 25th anniversary in April. New labor relations principles based on the Work Roles and Relationships were signed by LCCEF, LCCEA, the Management Steering Committee, and me at the May board meeting. A retiree's name recognition wall was unveiled at your event on June 10. The Classified Council launched a very successful Campus Pride beautification project on August 28.

The Board of Education has had a busy and successful year. In November the board approved new policies based on the policy governance model. The board will focus on policy and will hold me accountable for excellent service to learners. In July, long-time board member Pat Riggs-Henson retired, and was replaced by James Britt of Springfield. Five board seats will be up for election this spring.

A new Diversity Endowment Fund was established by the Diversity Team through the LCC Foundation, with four new scholarships. Lane hosted the Northwest Coalition Against Malicious Harassment on October 16-18. A Diversity Coordinator was hired to help implement the Diversity Plan, and the new Affirmative Action Plan is on its way. In January, the college closed completely for the first time for Martin Luther King Day.

I wanted to tell you about all the awards our employees and students won over the past year, but when I counted 25, I gave up. Let me say only that the wonderful college you founded continues to win widespread recognition for the excellence of its people. Larry Romine's book about you won the Silver Medallion Award from the National Council for Marketing and Public Relations. Did you know Lane received the David Pierce Award for Organizational Excellence?

Of course, not everything came up roses in 1998. We didn't get the 4J football field. We lost too many excellent employees to retirement. Michael Dubick and Jim Pitney are retiring from the board. Too many old and dear friends left us, like Patty Kitchel, Don Cronin, Ruth Coffman, Sherry Roof, Bill Kinkel, and Maralyn Shepherd.

The most important accomplishments this year were those of our students. Thousands and thousands of them achieved their goals at Lane and will live a better life because people at Lane cared about them. Isn't it great to be involved in an institution that provides so many with the means for success?

I forgot to tell you about our new Strategic Plan and the Ashlane Project, but the hour grows late. I'll tell you more about them next year, when they are complete. Meanwhile, I hope you and Beverly have a wonderful 1999!

With warm regards,
Jerry Moskus

WHO WOULDN'T LIKE A MOTORCOACH FOR CHRISTMAS?

Guaranty Chevrolet of Junction City will donate a 1997 Safari Trek motorcoach to the Recreational Vehicle Service Technician program on Tuesday, December 22, at 10:30 a.m. in Machine Technology. The 36-foot coach has a pusher diesel engine and is fully equipped, including a satellite dish. It is valued at more than $150,000.

"This is a real gift to our students," says program chair Tom Wiedeman. "We couldn't be more excited if Santa himself delivered it."

The Recreational Vehicle Service Technician program offers a one-year certificate of completion. The program is nationally accredited by the Recreational Vehicle Industry Association (RVIA). Instruction combines classroom presentations with a hands-on approach in the lab and cooperative education placements in the field.

Employment opportunities are excellent locally and nationally. Lead RV instructor Paul Croker says Oregon is now the third largest producer of RVs in the United States. Jobs are available in service and repair, maintenance, troubleshooting, and restoration at manufacturer outlets, dealerships, and servicing agencies. Starting salaries range from $15,500 to $25,000 and up. For more information about the RV program, call 2225 or check the web at www.lanecc.edu, click College Departments, then Mechanical Technologies, and then Recreational Vehicle Service Technician.

College Council meets on Tuesday, Jan. 5, from 1:30-3:30 p.m. in the Boardroom. Council will review Work Roles and Relationships documents. The documents result from the combined effort of representatives of the Executive Leadership team, the classified union, the faculty union, and the Management Steering Committee. The intent of the documents is to provide guidelines for interpersonal and institutional interactions (Values and Behaviors); principles governing the conduct of labor relations (Labor Relations Principles); to describe future work systems (The Role of the Manager and Team Member); and to describe work change models and tools meant to help the college understand and plan change. Council also will review a charter for a Work Relations Council that is accountable to oversee the implementation of the changes implicit in the documents. The work was presented to the board in April 1998 and signed by the parties in May 1998. Generally, implementation plans include comprehensive communications, developing protocols for assisting work groups with work system changes, and efforts to align this work with other ongoing college initiatives.

FAMILY TUITION WAIVER OR HOPE SCHOLARSHIP?

If your dependent qualifies for the Hope Scholarship, that is probably a better option than the family tuition waiver for paying for classes at Lane. The Hope Scholarship is an income tax credit, which means the tuition (up to a certain amount) is subtracted from your tax liability. Another advantage is that your dependent can register at the normal assigned time instead of waiting until the end of the registration period. A general information handout about the Hope Scholarship will soon be available from reception area in College Finance and the Students First Center! For specific information about whether your dependent qualifies and which option is best for you, contact your tax advisor. - Marie Matsen, Vice President. College Operations

SYNERGY TRAINING

The next Synergy Training will be held on Friday, January 8 from 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. RSVP to Jose Ortal by the close of business on January 4 if you wish to attend.

THANKS

* Thank you very much to all the generous donors who helped provide Christmas for LCC families who couldn't do it alone. The following people donated cash, gift certificates for food and gifts, raffle proceeds, Christmas cookies, wrapped gifts, wrapping paper, and canned goods: Women's Program staff; Linda Ericksen, Business Technologies; Beth and Stan Swank from Counseling and Science; Dee Stephens, Distance Learning; Della Mathews, Food Service; Edna Grass, Financial Aid; Colleen Cairney and Carl Horstrup, Industrial Tech; Marie Matsen, College Operations; Ann Mc Grail, English and Foreign Lang; Study Skills staff; and Twila Lovaas, Bookstore ; and the Bookstore Angels donated $1119 from their raffle. I would also like to thank Bette Dorris who coordinated the Tree of Giving which helped alot of people too. * A big THANK YOU to the Classified Council and to those who donated to the No Cash Clothing Stash.
