

STUDENTS

THE

TORCH

Vol. I, No. 3

Lane Community College, Eugene, Oregon

January 31, 1966

Charles Solomon, president, and Dennis Ryan, vice president of the LCC student body, will be in charge of the coming student election Feb. 2.

Student Council Very Active

This has been a busy year for the newly-formed LCC associated students.

Starting off last fall term with only two student body officers who had been elected last spring by the ETVS (Charles Solomon, president and Dennis Ryan, vice president), the student council at LCC added members through temporary appointment until a full complement of officers was acquired.

Assisted by their adviser, Mr. W. E. Wright, this group went about the business of drawing up a constitution and having it approved, selecting the "Titan" as a mascot, and conducting a student poll which resulted in THE TORCH as the newspaper name and THE TITAN for the yearbook.

After the election this Wednesday, the permanent student council will assume their duties.

Mrs. Maxine Maney, PBX operator on the Eugene campus, volunteered to help sell yearbooks for the student body, and is one of the reasons why there will be a TITAN yearbook this year.

Exhibit Goes to Coos Bay

At the state meeting in Ontario last fall the student councils of the nine Oregon community colleges decided to sponsor an exchange exhibit of information about their schools this year. Dennis Ryan, LCC vice president has been busy the last few weeks assembling the exhibit for Lane Community College. It was sent out last week to Southwest Oregon College at Coos Bay, and will be displayed there for two weeks, then sent on to another school.

Included in the exhibit were pictures of students, the two campuses, cartoons by Dave Spriggs, THE TORCH masthead, the school seal and emblem.

Schools participating in the exchange are: Salem Technical Vocational Community College, Portland Community College, Central Oregon College, Treasure Valley College, Ontario; Oregon Technical Institute, Klamath Falls, Eastern Oregon College, La Grande; Umpqua Community College, Roseburg; Southwest Oregon College at Coos Bay.

This Wednesday Chosen For Important Election

TITAN Sales End Feb. 4

There will definitely be a TITAN yearbook at LCC. This was announced Monday by John Lively and Karen Moe after they met with the yearbook staff and counted the number of subscriptions sold.

The book will be in picture form with individual shots of all students, who will have their pictures taken free next week by Kennell-Ellis Studio.

Sales will close this Friday, February 4, so all students interested in purchasing the publication should visit the main office on the Eugene Campus where they are for sale, or contact John Lively or Karen Moe, who are selling on the Springfield Campus.

Students are urged to keep their receipts so they can claim their books when they arrive.

Yearbook Pics Scheduled Soon

Free individual pictures for the TITAN yearbook will be taken by Kennell-Ellis Studios on both campuses next week, it has been announced by the yearbook staff. No appointments need to be made, but it will be each student's responsibility to appear and have his photo taken. Whether he buys a yearbook or not, the staff urges everyone to have his picture taken.

Eugene campus students may have their pictures taken on Feb. 7 and 8 in the Radio Station KRVM studio from 9-12 and 1-5 p.m.

Springfield students will have their pictures taken on Feb. 9, 10, and 11 in room 56 on the Springfield campus.

White shirt and dark tie is suggested as appropriate for the men.

This Wednesday, February 2, is the date of LCC's first big election of officers. Ballot boxes will be in the student areas of both campuses. Dave Larsen and Kathy Downing are in charge of the voting on the Springfield Campus and Dennis Ryan is chairman at Eugene.

"If students wish to have a part in making vital decisions concerning the expansion and direction of student activities they should make every effort to vote," says Charles Solomon, student body president.

Candidates for office are as follows: second vice president -- Tom Speight and Darrol Gesh; Treasurer -- GiGi Gamble and John Block; corresponding secretary -- Pamela Shurtliff and Ardythe Tym; recording secretary -- Patricia Norris, Kathleen Downing, and Terri Knutson.

Candidates for student council representatives are: Susan Sappington, MDTA Division; Barbara Hayner, Health and PE Division; Penny Shields, Business Education Division; Bob Wimberly, Math and Science Division; Karen Moe, Social Science Division; and Gary Fogelson, Mechanics Division.

MDTA To Use Mobile Units

A new addition to the Eugene campus is a group of movable class rooms which are in the process of being installed on the southwest side of the building. These units will house MDTA courses.

The lunch room unit will be used for a 14-week Fry Cook class which will start Feb. 28 under the tutelage of Merlin Ames, chef at Springfield's Driftwood Restaurant. In this building about 50 persons can be served lunches, tickets for which will be on sale at the business office on the Eugene campus.

From Dr. Parnell's Desk - - - -

If you find it difficult to reach your administration during the weeks ahead, bear in mind that many basic decisions regarding the long-range plans for Lane Community College must be made very soon. If you have never seen the proverbial one-armed paper hanger you are about to witness a demonstration.

Of prime importance right now is the compilation of the 1966-67 Budget Document which will be presented in the near future to the LCC budget committee (the Board of Directors plus seven appointed budget committee members) for discussion. After discussion and final approval by the budget committee and Board of Directors, the College must turn to the voters for a vote to raise the necessary taxes to support this budget. The election this year has been set for May 2nd, and the time is growing short.

Also of great urgency is the work on campus planning. Educational specifications must be drawn up by mid-March for the entire new campus. This includes literally hundreds of decisions concerning details of the planning -- from such items as the relationship of classrooms for different courses, and central heating, to whether or not to install closed circuit TV in each classroom, and how many electrical plug-ins will be required for each one.

The Board of Directors must make a major decision soon as to the best plan for financing the actual building of the campus. At the present time we have a gap of from six to seven million dollars between the funds available and the cost of housing the entire college enrollment on the new campus by the fall of 1968.

We plan to have our 1966-67 Catalog printed by the 1st of March to enable students to plan their classes for next year. Before we can do this we have to plan for new programs. In addition to the sophomore level liberal arts courses we hope to add others such as farm mechanics, and possibly music and art. We also plan to have a complete Study Skills Center in operation by the beginning of the 1966 fall term. Approximately 15 to 20 additional instructional staff members for all courses must be hired during the next three months. All this requires concentrated effort in planning and evaluation.

Along with this special planning we must keep up with the routine administrative jobs.

AMERICANS? let us not be fooled!

During the past few months we have had the misfortune of witnessing demonstrations for or against one thing or another.

Most recent are the marches against the United States' policy in Viet Nam.

Originally dedicated and sincere American citizens started these protests. But the movement has since been taken over by either Communist sympathizers or hard core Kremlin and Pekingites.

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, recently disclosed the names of individuals and organizations of Communist origin which are known to be ring leaders and agitators in these demonstrations.

Among some of the activities sponsored or "spawned" by these groups are anti-American movies, the second of which has put one of the little rings to our south about $3000 in the "red" producing this fiasco.

Another: groups who haunt selective service centers and recruiting stations for the armed forces, for the purpose of trying to sway dedicated Americans away from their duty to serve in the military. These agents are armed with literature which contains information as to how a young man can get out of serving. They even go so far as to try and get these men to sign a declaration refusing to serve. It reads: "We hereby declare our conscientious refusal to co-operate with the United States Government in the prosecution of the war in Viet Nam. We encourage those who can conscientiously do so to refuse to serve in the armed forces. Those of us who are subject to the draft ourselves declare our own intention to refuse to serve."

Still more: these organizations circulate material (propaganda) which accuse the U.S. of using poison gas, along with the added goodie, the customary methods of torture and terror, what ever they may be, against the people of the Democratic Republic of North Viet Nam.

In order for these groups to become successful, they have been attempting to get the students of colleges to think of the Communist party as "just another party." This enables them to push their "stuff" under the guise of free speech. Unfortunately, in a few instances, they have been successful.

IN THE FUTURE let us be more watchful for this type of thing. Know who these people are and what they represent.

Sincere Americans have every right to protest any action of the U.S. Government with which they disagree. But when that protest is harmful to the country, then these people who are sincere should have enough fortitude to cease these demonstrations.

If you are really in the dark and unsure as to what should be done when something like this comes along, then I suggest you might consult these wise words of Stephen Decatur as your guide. He said, "Our Country! In Her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our Country, right or wrong."

Very Young Student Registers at LCC

Bonnie Jean Bailey, new daughter of MDTA Counselor Wilbert Bailey, visited the registrar's office when she was a bare four days old, and filled out, (with much help from the counselors) an application for admission to LCC in September, 1984. When the registrar protested that she was too young, the young lady burst into tears. She was born January 13.

COUNSELOR'S COLUMN

(This column appears in each issue of the paper in an attempt to answer some of the questions which are most often asked of counselors.)

If I receive a D for a grade in a course, is the credit transferable toward a degree? Yes, the Office of Admissions at the University of Oregon assures us that all college level work in which a student earned a passing grade will be credited toward a degree at any Oregon School. They did say, however, that some California schools do not accept D work toward fulfilling requirements for a degree. To be more specific, let's say that a student at Lane Community College received a D in English Composition fall term. The University of Oregon and all Oregon schools will accept those three hours as fulfilling a student's first three hours in English Composition. This is not true of all California schools, however. Some of them will not accept D work for credit.

What is the final date when I may drop a course? The Student Handbook says that students may drop a course through the fifth week of any term without penalty. That would mean that a student could drop any course this term through February 4. Courses may be dropped after that date if a student's grade average is a C or better.

How many hours of school work must I take to be classified as a full-time student by the Selective Service Board? Recent information from our local board is that a student must carry at least twelve credit hours of college work and maintain at least a 2.00 average to receive a student deferment. This regulation seems to fluctuate with Selective Service Boards. In some states boards are requiring students to carry fifteen hours of work, so it is wise for each student to know the requirements of his own board.

May I transfer to another school any time I want to? Yes, a student may transfer at the end of any term which he chooses provided he meets the entrance requirements of the school to which he is seeking admission. Usually this means an accumulated GPA of 2.00 or better. In addition, the University of Oregon asks all students who are entering for the first time to take the first part, the Scholastic Aptitude Test, of the College Entrance Examination Board Test.

Many Positions Available For Trained Personnel

Oregon businesses are experiencing a real shortage in trained help, according to the business editor of the Portland Oregonian.

"This ought to be a boom year for business schools. The shortages are really in well-trained people," he points out.

"Help Wanted" ads are enjoying a boom in all the newspapers and "Jobs Wanted" are on the wane, according to the Oregonian. Employers are actually competing for workers in some fields.

"We had a local pipe company recently come into the 'Help Wanted Market,'" said The Oregonian. "Normally they would run 10 or 15 lines. This time they placed an ad that ran two columns by four inches and ran a week in both papers."

"They wanted welders and fitters, and they knew they had to be bold and big to get what they wanted. It is that competitive."

The Portland Employment Exchange reports that the demand is intense for accountants, administrative people, sales trainees, secretaries, "for any kind of female office help the demand has doubled."

"There will be more demand for skilled persons and fewer people to supply the demand. We have at this moment 350 to 400 fine positions for men. When I started ten years ago it was hard to find a position for a man."

Dr. Parnell

We are now developing an evaluation form which will be used to evaluate all staff members (including the President) in an effort to improve instructional services. After all, one of the major goals of Lane Community College is to provide and maintain an outstanding faculty.

We are now in the process of installing mobile units on the Eugene campus to house overflow MDTA classes. These should be ready for use by the end of January. We are also negotiating with Mark's Tradin' Post for remodeling of space there to provide more Fall Term classrooms and study space for the Springfield campus.

And we must not forget plans for the LCC Summer Session which will be held for eight weeks from June 20 through August 12. Plans are underway right now for setting up this session.

As you can see there is much to be done in a limited time to build a truly outstanding community college. Cooperation and understanding are old and sometimes meaningless terms; however, they take on great importance as we view the tasks ahead.

Mr. Ralph Burns, counselor came to LCC at the end of fall term. Job placement for students and follow-up are his responsibility, in addition to regular counseling duties.

Dixon Earned Master's Degree

Mrs. Pauline Dixon received her Master of Education degree during the fall term graduation exercises held at the Erb Memorial Student Union at the University of Oregon December 10, 1965.

Mrs. Dixon is counselor at Lane Community College on the Eugene campus.

Mrs. Dena Malliris, office manager and deputy clerk of the LCC district, signs the college checks.

Letters to the Editor

(THE TORCH welcomes letters from students with the stipulation that they be not more than 300 words long and that they be phrased in good taste. It should be understood that the ideas expressed in the letters do not necessarily represent the opinion or policy of the editorial staff. Space limitation will govern the number of letters published each issue. No unsigned letters will be published, although the writer may request that his name be withheld.)

Dear Questioning Automotive Student:

Questions in your unsigned letter to State Treasurer Robert Straub can be answered directly, correctly, and soon if we just knew who you were. Why don't you talk with one of our counselors, or you are always welcome in the President's office.

DALE PARNELL
President

On the Chopping Block

Is President Johnson saving his own neck? Is he afraid to declare war in order to protect his self-established political machine or is he stalling to better represent American Democracy?

These are important questions which I feel should be answered immediately. Did the Korean police action set a precedent for an undeclared war in Viet Nam?

President Johnson in his state of the union address said, "the U.S. aim is to limit conflict and avoid increased destruction," and, "We will stay until aggression has stopped even if the war drags on for years." Do we intend to allow our brothers to go to fight and kill without knowing that what they do is right and legal?

Perhaps to clarify my point I had better state that I do believe that we should stop Communist aggression in Southeast Asia, but I am not in favor of a prolonged "peace action." The issues should be decided now and be done with. President Johnson should ask Congress to declare war or he should establish a cease-fire line which would allow sincere peace talks to take place between North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam.

To sum up in the words of the President, "To know war is to know there is still madness in the world."

Candidates to Contend for Student Offices

2nd Vice-President

Recording Secretary

Tom Speight

Stating that he feels LCC needs a more unified student body, Tom Speight seeks the 2nd vice presidency because he hopes to help organize student activities so the whole student body will be able to participate.

A 1964 graduate of Springfield High School, Tom majors in Liberal Arts at LCC. He was a 3-year letterman in high school and was prominent in Drama Club.

Tom has many hobbies, some of which are swimming, scuba diving, both water and snow skiing, coin collecting, and dramatics. He has worked as a life guard and swimming instructor.

Darrol Gesh

Darrol Gesh, candidate for second vice president, says, "Usually there are many rough spots in student governments. I would like to assist in making these rough spots much smoother. Also, if there is anything that I can add to the student government, I would be more than happy to do so."

A technical drafting major, class of 1967, Darrol graduated from Pleasant Hill High School in 1964 and served six months in the National Guard, which took him to many cities in the Midwest and elsewhere.

He is interested in more activities for LCC students, and a better school for every person attending. Water skiing, basketball and bowling are his hobbies.

Kathleen Downing

"Student Government must take the responsibility of organizing activities and helping maintain the proper functioning of Lane Community College. I feel the students should make an effort to voice their opinions in order to establish a better understanding between the students and Student Council," comments Kathleen Downing, candidate for recording secretary.

Kathy, a 1965 graduate of Springfield High School, was a member of Thespians, Girls Recreation Association, Pep Club, newspaper staff, and Student Council. She was the recipient of a Lane Community College scholarship awarded by Springfield High School and is the editor of LCC's newspaper, "The Torch."

Kathy was employed last summer as a secretary by the Office Equipment Company. She feels that this experience will help her to perform and fulfill the duties of recording secretary.

Terry Knutson

"I feel privileged to have served as temporary recording secretary and would like to continue in the position if I am chosen. I want to be part of the activities of the college and am glad to give the time it will take to hold the offices," Terri Knutson told the reporters.

She feels the temporary student council has made great strides in organization, and believes more students should take part in activities.

A 1963 graduate of North Eugene, and a dental technician major under MDTA, Terri has worked at several jobs since she finished high school, including ushering in a theatre, working as a secretary in Montgomery Wards, cooking at a nursing home and at Albertson's snack bar.

Horseback riding, swimming, reading, sewing, and cooking are her hobbies.

Patricia Norris

Patricia Norris, candidate for recording secretary for the Student Body, graduated from North Eugene High School last year.

Pat's high school activities included being a member of the Service Club which planned parties for crippled and underprivileged children, FTA recording secretary, and being a member of North Eugene Girl's Tennis team.

Pat worked in the student store at North Eugene for three years and was co-manager of the store during her senior year. Presently she is employed as secretary for Mr. Hodges, LCC Chairman of Health and P.E.

When asked why she desired the position of recording secretary, Pat replied, "I am seeking this office because I would like to serve the students of LCC by keeping good, accurate notes of the Student Council Meetings and making them readily available to the students."

Pat's hobbies include tennis, horses, hiking, mountain climbing and swimming.

Corresponding Secretary

Pamela Shurtliff

"Service is an exhilarating experience, especially when the giver involves himself through dedication to his service. This I will definitely do because I have had the opportunity to excel as a secretary, and I have grown to enjoy all the duties she carries," says Pam Shurtliff, 1965 graduate of Thurston High School, candidate for corresponding secretary.

Pam was secretary of the student body in high school, secretary of Homemaking Club, and was personal secretary for a teacher, among other activities. Since July 1965 she has worked as librarian and secretary at Briggs Junior High library. She also does professional folk group singing with the Coventry Singers.

"To have a successful government, the executive officers must work in harmony with the students. This is attained when each person respects and considers the other person's opinion," Pam stated.

Ardythe Tym

Candidate for corresponding secretary is Ardythe Tym, college transfer major from Springfield who graduated from high school at Walla Walla Valley Academy, College Place, Washington.

"I would like to see more students have an active part in student government," states Ardythe. "Many students have talent and experience in student government, and if they will participate and volunteer to do things, there will be more school spirit at LCC."

"I am new in this area, but I would like to participate in school activities. I like writing and talking with others, and both these hobbies could be developed more fully if I were secretary and member of student council.

The fact that she has had two years of typing and some shorthand should help her qualify for the secretary position, she feels. Her activities in high school included work on the school newspaper. She was also a member of the choir, the Honor Society and Nursing Club.

Treasurer

GiGi Gamble

"I am interested in LCC student government and would like to be a part of helping to develop it," says Gi Gi Gamble, 1965 graduate of Junction City High School. Gi Gi is running for Treasurer.

Gi Gi was a member of the Junction City High School Pep Club, and she was chairman of many of the school's activities. Gi Gi participated in intramurals, and is very interested in sports of all kinds. She also was a member of the choir. Gi Gi's hobby is collecting stamps.

Gi Gi has been on trips to California and Washington. She feels there should be more participation in school activities by the students, and the student government should encourage the students to take part.

John Block

"Being able to help the student body of Lane Community College is my main concern," stated John Block in discussing his candidacy for treasurer of the student body. "Any job worth doing is worth doing well, and this is the way I feel about the office of treasurer."

A 1961 graduate of North Eugene High School, John served in the U.S. Army from 1962 to January 1965. In addition to attending LCC full time as a first year technical drafting major, John works for Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. in his off hours. His hobbies are bowling, swimming and handball.

Highlight of last summer for John was a two-month trip in an MGA which he took with a buddy.

Candidates Continued.....

Student Council Representatives

Susan Sappington

Susan Sappington, candidate for student council representative from MDTA (Manpower Development Training Act) and specifically the dental assistant's program, transferred to LCC last fall from Central Oregon College at Bend.

"Because the parts of LCC are separated geographically, I feel there should be an all-out effort to acquaint the members of each division with the problems and activities of the other divisions. Besides the MDTA students themselves, very few others know what MDTA even is!" Sue stated.

She went on to say that Central Oregon College, which she attended last year, was just starting operation on its new campus when she went there, and she became involved there with the many problems facing a new school.

Sue works in the MDTA office on the Eugene campus as a clerk, and for that reason is anxious to help MDTA and LCC. Her hobbies are skiing, swimming, tennis, horseback riding and interior decorating.

When she attended Buchser High in Santa Clara, California, where she graduated in 1964, she won an honor student award and was a member of several clubs. At Central Oregon she belonged to the Ski Club and a Women's Service Club.

Barbara Hayner

"Until I had the opportunity to serve on the temporary LCC student council I had never had much interest in governmental affairs," Barbara A. Hayner, candidate for student council representative said. "Now I have become quite interested."

"I've learned that when a small group of people works together diligently much can be accomplished. I'm proud to have served these few months on the student council of Lane Community College."

A 1965 graduate of Corvallis High School, Barbara believes some action should be taken on a student dress code. She feels some standards should be set up.

In high school she belonged to Pep Club, Future Nurses of America, Tri-Hi-Y and a girls' church service group. She was 1963 Service Girl of Corvallis High School.

Penny Shields

"I am now serving as temporary representative and would like to have this office full time," says Penny Shields, Business Ed major. "I believe we should have better participation and more interest in LCC. It is proving to be a very fine school."

Penny says she has found LCC student council work very interesting and rewarding. "There is a great deal of work to be done, and I want to help in every way I can to see that it is completed. I can best help by serving as representative for Business Education."

A South Eugene High graduate, Penny was reporter for Decca Club there and was in the play, "The Lark." She was also a member of JBLA, a business club. Her hobbies are reading, and she loves all kinds of sports, especially fishing. This summer she is going to Kansas City for a month to finish her training as a communicationist for an airline.

Gary Fogelson

Running for student council representative from the Automotive department is Gary Fogelson, who graduated from South Eugene in 1960 and since that time has worked for Wards, Snellstrom Lumber Co. and Lane Plywood.

Gary is a candidate because he wants to help the students he would be representing, and because he hopes to better LCC activities and himself.

Better school spirit and loyalty are needed at LCC, according to Gary, and student council activities should be brought more to the attention of the entire student body.

For hobbies, Gary, who has travelled widely in the west from Canada to Old Mexico, likes auto racing, skiing and tennis.

Bob Wimberly

Bob Wimberly, who is running for student council representative from the science and mathematics division, graduated last spring from North Eugene.

He says he seeks the student council position because he wants to gain experience that will give him a background for fulfilling his democratic obligation.

Better communication between student council and the student body is a need at LCC, Bob feels. He would like to see the council improve the government to give more people the opportunity to participate.

Fishing, hunting and fly tying are his hobbies, and he has travelled extensively in the United States.

Karen Moe

Karen Moe, candidate for student council representative for Social Sciences, graduated last year from South Eugene High.

Karen was representative on Student Council for two years at South Eugene. She also worked afternoons as payroll clerk. While employed at Pape Brothers for a year and a half she acted as inventory clerk.

When asked why she was seeking the office of representative she replied, "I want to represent the students by carrying their ideas to council and thus expressing their wishes."

Students Do Radio, TV Broadcasting

Two Radio Stations Now Operate on Campus

By Steve Meeks

Constant activity is the keynote of one of the most popular courses offered at Lane Community College - radio communications. Since the advent of the space age, communications has been of great importance.

Under the able direction of their instructor, Mr. Roger Houghlum, chairman of the LCC electronics division and veteran Eugene radio station manager, the radio communications students are responsible for the programs of two radio stations and a growing television operation.

There are 16 first-year students attending LCC this year in the broadcasting department. Nearly all of these sixteen have their third-class radio operator's license. The test for the license is taken at the FCC office in the courthouse in Portland.

Dean Henderson, a second year student is the FCC-licensed student aide this year of the older station, KRVM, which has been operating since December 8, 1947. At that time the station featured a three-hour program schedule of classical and popular music.

The first broadcasts to the schools were released in January, 1948. They were in the afternoon only. Now they continue throughout the day during the school year and are sponsored by the Eugene Public Schools, licensee of KRVM and the agency which put up the money to start the operation in 1947.

The district secured an FCC (Federal Communications Commission) license for the new station in December 1945, but the station itself was not completed until two years later. FCC records show that KRVM was the nation's thirteenth educational FM broadcast station to be licensed, and at the time of its first broadcast, was the only such station on the air west of Minneapolis and north of San Francisco.

In 1960, KRVM was dismantled at the close of the school year and moved from the old 4th and Madison location to expanded quarters at the new Eugene Technical-Vocational School building, the present site of the Eugene campus of the Lane Community College.

KRVM has two objectives. The first is to provide educational programs for the classrooms of the Eugene Schools. Many of these programs are planned to supplement the work of the classroom teacher. In other broadcasts the radio teacher directly instructs children listening in the classrooms.

The second objective is for the station to serve as a laboratory for students enrolled in radio communication classes at the college providing them with the necessary training in technical and programming fields to prepare them for employment in commercial radio and TV stations. Students fill all positions on the KRVM staff except those of station manager, chief engineer.

In a typical broadcast day they will prepare and release many programs of music and news. Also released are previously scheduled taped programs planned for classroom listening.

Since 1947, scores of men and a few women have been trained in broadcast techniques at KRVM. In Eugene, many of the key persons in both radio and television stations received their training as members of the KRVM student staff.

KRVM operates on an FM channel of 220, 91.9 megacycles, with an effective radiated power of 320 watts. The antenna tower is approximately 150 feet in height, about that of a 10 story building. Normal range of the station is about thirty miles in radius. Broadcast hours are 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday of the school year.

Radio, TV Repairman Trained in L.C.C. Program

The LCC Radio and Television Repair department is as old as the school itself. When the Eugene Technical - Vocational School started in 1936 this was one of its first courses. It was taught by one man, Roger Houghlum, who now is chairman of the electronics division and radio communications instructor, but today Mr. Darwin McCarroll and Mr. James Huntington share the teaching responsibilities.

A two-year program, this course includes instruction in the fundamentals of trouble shooting and repair of radio and television sets. Many TV and radio repair men in the Lane County area received their training at ETVS, which last July 1 became part of Lane Community College.

Mr. McCarroll confesses that he received his first training under Mr. Houghlum at ETVS. He then served in the Navy during World War II, in electronics. After the war he worked in Seattle for awhile, then returned to Eugene and worked in a local TV and Radio repair shop for 10 years. He has taught the TV and Radio Repair courses here for eleven years.

The other instructor, Mr. James Huntington, teaches Electrical Theory not only for the Radio and TV, but for Appliance Repair, Communications and Electronic Engineering. He has always lived in Eugene, where he worked at several local radio stations before coming to LCC, (then ETVS) five years ago.

Radio Club to Meet Soon

Any interested LCC student is invited to attend the first meeting of the Radio and TV Club which will be held Monday, February 7 at 3:30 p.m. at Radio KRVM studio on the Eugene campus. Mr. Darwin McCarroll, instructor in Radio and Television repair, is club adviser. McCarroll has been a licensed radio amateur for many years.

The Federal Communications Commission has assigned the amateur station call letters W7ILQ to the Radio Club.

Biology Lecture Viewed Over Closed Circuit T.V.

By Marian Hermanson

A frog played the lead in an hour-long television drama, at 11 a.m., on a Monday, January 24th, 1966.

The hero lost his head.

His live "replacements" lost their heads also, in three one-hour shows which were televised in the large studio on L.C.C.'s Eugene campus.

Lane's very first closed circuit television - dissections of frogs - was thus dramatically launched.

Science-Mathematics Chairman, Lane's John W. Jacobs, and Kurien Chacko, biology-botany laboratory instructor, conducted three successful demonstrations in which 150 biology students were involved throughout the day.

Other interested persons on the premises also watched while the all-seeing camera graphically illustrated the versatility of closed circuit TV as an instructional tool.

Mr. Roger Houglum, chairman of the Electronics Division of L.C.C., and the man who knows about closed circuit television, explained, "The principal advantage is, of course, the magnifying quality of the camera lens. As many as 55 or 65 people can be in the studio at the time the work is going on," he said. "Students can see everything on the screen with sharp clarity, where it would not be possible for all of them to see the frog on the table."

How revealing the camera is, was pointed out by Mr. Jacobs in the morning's session. "I can see the frog's heart beating on the screen but I can't see it in my hand," he noted.

Mr. Houglum agreed that many other persons seemed interested in seeing too. Attending students could watch any of three screens angled about the studio. However, a fourth television set was on in the campus lounge for the benefit of non-biology "coffee-breakers."

"We're engaging in a teaching experiment here," said Mr. Houglum. "As yet it's on a casual, unscheduled basis. We hope to use educational TV next fall in a regularly-established program. But first," he said, "We want to be aware of its strong points, become more familiar with its limitations in the classroom and in the laboratory."

Aviation and Machine Shop Divisions have expressed an interest in using the medium, he said. "Other than the biology classes, there have been inquiries from the Springfield campus too," he added.

Why on the Eugene campus? "Primarily," Mr. Houglum explained, "because the equipment is here. The second reason is because the radio studio was designed as a television studio so we have control over stray light."

The third reason -- already noted -- is because the studio accommodates 65 people. There is more space on Eugene's Monroe Street campus.

Radio Communications students at the Eugene site also have some of the TV camera experience necessary for producing live shows.

Such students are now cameramen for frog dissections. It's hoped that they may soon be live-filming a variety of closed circuit productions.

Intramural Games Start

The 1966 LCC intramural basketball program began Monday, Jan. 24. The first game featured Springfield, who many thought would win the league, playing against South Lane. The outcome, however, was disastrous for Springfield.

South Lane, playing a tight defense and using the fast break on offense, defeated the Springfield team by a score of 58-52. Del Mann and Terry Manthey were standouts for South Lane, Mann hitting for 29 and Terry Manthey for 13.

Behind 6 to 0, Springfield got its first two points from Mike Olund on a jump shot from the top of the key. Tom Anderson and Gary Bates added 10 more points to take Springfield into the lead at the quarter stop, 10 to 6.

The second quarter saw South Lane move into a four-point lead and by half-time increase it to 28-22. The rest of the game was a see-saw battle with the lead changing several times. Tom Anderson led a late Springfield rally, hitting for 6 points in a row, along with Gary Bates who hit for 4. Cottage Grove went into a stall with less than a minute to play, and clinched the win.

In the second game, Thurston won 48-34 over South Eugene. The leading scorers for Thurston were Counts, 12 and Moore, 10. For South Eugene, Lionel Coleman scored 20 points. It was a close contest up to the third quarter. With the help of Dave Gibson and Gary Davisson, Thurston pulled away to a final margin of 14 points.

SPRINGFIELD (52) -- Anderson 14, Bates, Gary 21, Farland 2, Woods 8, Smith 2, Olund 5.

SOUTH LANE (58) -- Manthey 13, Workman 2, Mann, Del 29, Daggett 2, Roberts 10, Stewart 2.

THURSTON (48) -- Moore 10, Counts 12, Cornell 2, Momb 6, Gibson 5, Weber 2, Omlid 4, Davisson 7.

SOUTH EUGENE (34) -- Bates 2, Randle 2, Robertson 4, Jones 2, Weigart 4, Coleman 20.

Boeing Men Visit LCC

Next week, Feb. 8 and 9, representatives from Boeing Aircraft Co. will visit LCC to conduct group interviews for prospective personnel for their plants throughout the country.

They are interested in hiring from the following departments: Airframe and Powerplant, Auto Body and Fender, Automotive Mechanics, Business Education, Machine Shop, Radio and TV Repair, Cabinetmaking, Carpentry, Civil and Structural Engineering Technician, Diesel Mechanics, Electronic Engineering Technician and Technical Drafting.

LCC Will Offer Summer Session

At the last Board of Directors meeting January 19, it was decided that LCC would have a summer session this year which would offer basic liberal arts courses, related vocational courses and high school exploratory courses.

Twenty-four LCC scholarships were approved; one for each high school in the district and five adult education scholarships.

California Tour Taken

The recent tour of several southern California junior college campuses proved very beneficial in the planning of the new campus of Lane Community College. The new buildings will rise on a 148 acre site Southeast of Eugene. Some classes in the new location are scheduled to begin in the fall of 1968.

The Eugene delegation visited junior college campuses in San Francisco, Los Angeles, and San Diego. Generally agreed upon were those issues of what not to do, and what not to use in the construction of the new college.

One of the major problems facing campus planners is that of ample parking. A learning resource center has also been proposed; some of the instructors have expressed a wish for private offices. After careful analysis of all of the information gathered, campus planners hope to incorporate many of the best features of the colleges visited.

Those who accompanied Lane Community College President Dale Parnell were: Bert Dotson, administrative assistant; L. S. Hakanson, Dean of Students; C. S. Obitz, Dean of Adult Education; Dena Malliris, Office Manager; L.R.C. Director James Simmons, M.D.T.A. Director Robert Marshall; and Division Chairmen Carl Blood, Melvin Gaskill, Roger Houglum, John Howard, John Jacobs, Gerald Rasmussen, and Ruth Thygesen. Architects and the members of the LCC Board of Directors also accompanied the group.

Flyers to Meet

Notice of Organization of Flying Club at L.C.C.: Students and faculty members wishing to form a low cost flying club at Lane Community College, meet at the Eugene Campus in the KRVM studio, February 3 at 7:30 p.m. There are five recent model Cessna 150's available to the club members for an initiation fee of $30, $6.00 per month dues, and $6.60 an hour flying time. Details and organization of club at the first meeting.

They received their caps on January 7, 1966, at the Dental Assistants capping ceremony, which was held at the Eugene YMCA.

President Parnell gave the welcome, and introduced the Board members and guests. Dean Webb, member of the board, gave the address, and Mrs. Muriel Peterson was in charge of the ceremony. The acknowledgement speech was given by Pamela Melgard, class president.

Those who received their caps were: Janet Byers, Sharon Crumpacker, Kathleen Graham, Carol Green, Carol Johs, Anita Kerslake, Joann Kizer, Kirsten Klinge, Terrill Knutson, Patricia LeBaun, Saidy Main, Pamela Melgard, Rosalind Peterson, Linda Peterson, Susan Sappington, Glenda Smith, Trudy Spainhower, Connie Strehlow, Cheryl Townsend, Kathy Whipkey, and Juanita Wilcut.
