RAY, CURTIS, MILLER NAMED TO COUNCIL

'Student Senate' possible new name

At the first student council meeting of the year, Judy Ray was appointed ASB Recording Secretary in place of Paula (Troxel) Herrick, who resigned. Sandy Curtis was elected Social Science representative and Ron Miller was elected representative for Math and Science. Other representatives are still needed for the divisions of Fine Arts, Electronics, Adult Education, MDTA, and Nursing and Home Economics.

The 1968 yearbook was discussed as to the size and cost. It was decided that the student body should voice their opinion on a questionnaire whether or not they want an annual.

A report was given on the barbeque and street dance scheduled for Friday, Oct. 13. It will be held at Willamalane Park in Springfield from 6:30 to 10 p.m. It will be an "all you can eat" affair for 99¢.

Council voted 9-3 to temporarily call themselves student senate and call the representatives senators.

Gary McNabb was appointed chairman of a committee to formulate policy for the 1968-69 inter-collegiate athletics. This policy will be given to the Board of Education by mid-November so that inter-collegiate activities may be put on the budget for the 68-69 school year.

The possibility of having a chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, the only national honor society available to junior and community colleges, was discussed. Gary McNabb and Tom Morrison are to meet with Irene Parent, counselor.

Mrs. Frances Howard, counselor and coordinator of financial aids, was elected as the second advisor to student senate. Jack Carter, counselor and coordinator of student activities is the advisor appointed by the administration.

A unanimous vote by student senate authorized the purchase of five fly catchers; two for the student lunchroom on the Eugene campus, and three for the student lounge on the same campus.

The next senate meeting will be one week from today, Thursday, Oct. 12 at 2:30 p.m. in the KLCC studio.--Charlotte Reece

Pictures for the 1968 Titan are scheduled to be taken the last week of October and the first week of November, according to Editor Debbie Jo Briggs.

Scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 30 and 31, is the Eugene Campus with Bethel to follow on Wednesday, Nov. 1 and the Springfield Campus on Friday, Nov. 3. Pictures of freshmen nurses will be taken Tuesday, Nov. 7.

"Provisions will be made for absentees to have their pictures taken at the studio," photographer Alex Ziel said. Ziel has again been contracted to take the student pictures which will be used in both The Titan and Torch.

Committees to meet

The following list is a schedule of committee meetings and what days of the month they will be on.

Meeting every first Wednesday of each month are the following committees: Academic Council, Awards and Scholarships, Campus Planning, Curriculum, Data Processing, Educational Television, Institutional Research, Media Board, Public Relations, and Student Activities.

Meeting every second Wednesday will be the Self Study Committee, Convocations, and Public Events.

Other committee meetings days are: Personnel Policies, every 1st and 3rd Wednesday; Staff Association, every 3rd Wednesday; Division, every 4th Wednesday; Lay Advisory, quarterly; President's Cabinet, each Tuesday; and the Student Council, every Thursday.--Marianne St. Jeor

Debbie Briggs, Titan Editor

"Only 17 percent had pictures taken for the 1967 Titan," said Miss Briggs. "This year, I hope the percentage can be at least doubled if not tripled," she said.

Individual notes are being sent to all staff and administration members to have their pictures taken this year, she noted, in hopes of getting a 100 percent turnout.

Though still in the planning stages, the 1968 Titan is expected to increase the number of pages and will feature a hard-bound cover this year as opposed to the soft-bound covers the Titan has had in the past two issues.

IT'S NEWS!!! Turn it in, we'll print it! (From THE BEACON, St. Paul, Minn.)

Car pool is best answer

And we thought we had a problem last year! But what a shock the first day of school to come to a ten o'clock class and have to park down about six blocks.

On Springfield students are complaining of having to drive up the hill on a gravel street. It seems that Mark's parking lot was becoming congested, but one student observed that "nobody ever parked down at the far end where we could park."

Perhaps the $2.50 a term is too stiff for LCC students. But at least it assures a parking place between the railroad and South A St.

On the Eugene campus, one can usually find a parking place within a block. But on Bethel, by the time everyone gets to their eight o'clock class, the parking lot is full and cars are on both sides of the street for a good half-block each way.

What can we do? Is anyone driving their car, leaving it parked, walking home and driving back to school in another car? It certainly seems like it sometimes. All we do now is come two hours early and tell ourselves that next year on the new campus should be wonderful. There should be plenty of parking, but chances are we'll have to walk as far as we are now.--Charlotte Reece

Flies doomed

Do you like to share your lunch with flies? Of course not. But sometimes during the past two weeks, those little pests have really tried your patience. Just as soon as you think you've gotten rid of one, here is a gentle buzz at your ear.

Something had to be done, so thanks to the unanimous action of the student senate five fly-catchers were purchased. Two were installed in the lunchroom on the Eugene campus and three were bought for the student lounge in Eugene.

Now there should not be so many rumors of sharing your soup with a fly or letting the fly carry off part of your hamburger.

The only trouble is--Bethel and Springfield are not exempt from the "horse" fly, but it should not be long until the fly season is over. Besides, what is the Eugene campus going to do with all the dead flies?--Charlotte Reece

Q: HOW CAN A STUDENT GET INVOLVED IN STUDENT ACTIVITIES AT LCC?

A: There are a number of activities at LCC which need your help and participation if they are to be successful. Simply contact the people listed below for each activity and tell them of your interest.

STUDENT COUNCIL- Some divisions still do not have representatives on the Council, which meets every other Thursday afternoon. Call ASB President Leon Lindsay at Ext. 44 or send him a written message through the Campus Mail. To use the mail service, contact the secretary in the main office of any campus and ask her to put your note in the right channel. You can use the same means to contact Leon on any matter regarding student government. Professor Jack Carter and I am sure he would be happy to talk with you.

STUDENT-STAFF COMMITTEES - Students on these committees share in the decision making which operates the college. Contact President Leon if you are interested in serving on the following committees: Academic Council, (2 students needed), Awards and Scholarships (3), Campus Planning (2), Convocation and Public Events (3), Curriculum (2), Data Processing (1), Instructional Support (2), Media Board (6), President's Cabinet (Leon represents the student body), Public Relations Council (2), Student Activities (4).

THE TORCH AND THE TITAN - The weekly newspaper and yearbook need writers, photographers and other helpers, including a circulation manager. Call Ext. 75.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS - A year-long program in a large variety of sports is to begin immediately for both men and women. See the sports section of today's Torch for details of call Professor Mel Krause at Ext. 67.

SUMMER JOBS

Students pump gas, pick beans

By DALE SMITH

What did you do during the summer?" That was the question that recently set about a chain-reaction of stimulated storytelling, taking up the better part of an entire afternoon.

It would seem that LCC students are not the average, or that the average college student leads very uneventful summers. Out of approximately thirty students picked at random from all three LCC campus locations, a majority interviewed admitted they did little or nothing during the summer.

Nineteen of the thirty, almost two-thirds worked at various jobs ranging from picking beans to being a service station attendant. Sixteen of the nineteen paid their own tuition while the remaining three had it paid for them. About five more served their active duty in the Reserves or the

The Guard.

All responses to the query were not so plain, however.

For instance, one girl interviewed on the Springfield campus, who asked that her name be withheld, stated that she had run away from home and gotten married. Still another, a second year student from Eugene, told in vivid detail how he had visited the Playboy club in Los Angeles. The details of his story, though interesting, cannot be printed! From Bethel came a lad who had hitchhiked to Canada's Expo '67 and back.

All in all, most agreed, it was a very good summer. But then what constitutes a good summer? By the way, what did you do during the summer?

McCulloch joins LCC after 26 years with FBI

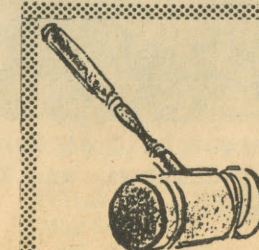

By DALE SMITH

Associate professor of police science John McCulloch comes to LCC as no stranger in the field of criminology. At the age of 57 McCulloch, who has a wife and three sons at home, has, with a six year exception when he went into private practice, been with the Federal Bureau of Investigation since 1935.

McCulloch, a 1933 graduate of the University of Oregon, has lived in Eugene for the past ten years, and only recently retired from his bureau position as Eugene's senior resident agent. Aside from a bachelor of Laws degree from the U of O, he is also a graduate of the famed FBI academy. During his twenty-six years with the Bureau he was trained in several specialty courses and in-service teachings through the FBI institute in Washington D.C. Mr. McCulloch is to be commended for the regional police schooling and training centers in this state in the earlier days of his career.

It would seem he has dedicated his life to his work. After some thirty-four years of law enforcement and police training teaching, a period that spans two world wars, the Great Depression, and an endless war against crime; most people would think it time to hang up their gloves, but not John McCulloch; he's a born fighter. With the aid of great men such as he, training the police-force of the future perhaps our grand-children will never need know the meaning of the word crime. LCC is truly proud to welcome you into our ranks Professor McCulloch!

Band needs more tooters

LCC's Band has started off the year with ten members.

"We'd like lots more," said David Goedecke, instructor, who is teaching at LCC part-time and working on a doctorate at the University of Oregon. "Just be faithful to the practices," he added.

The band meets on Tuesday and Thursdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on the Bethel campus. There are still horns that are available free of charge to interested students.

Music will range from popular to classical. "We'll try to be a pep, dance, and concert band," said Goedecke.--Charlotte Reece

PLACEMENT OFFICE SERVICES

W. G. Bailey

Help available

Daily and weekly lists of employment opportunities are posted on all three campuses. Every effort is exerted to keep these listings current. Any job listed on the weekly sheets is within 7 days of being up to date. The daily listing is just that--directly from the Oregon State Employment Service. Other positions, usually civil service--local, state or federal, are posted for longer periods of time.

Since this whole operation is strictly a service, cooperation is necessary at all levels.

(1) We have employers calling us about openings and we must respect their wishes as far as any qualifications or restrictions they place on the job.

(2) Students are requested to register, in person, at our office at 200 N. Monroe St. (a) Information concerning openings are to be kept confidential--to protect all concerned (b) The Placement office must have "feed-back" in order to be able to serve the best interests of both parties, so we ask for reports on both successful and unsuccessful job interviews.

(3) It would also be a service to your fellow students to notify this office of any job opportunity--we will be more than happy to check out all leads.

The Placement Office, on the Eugene campus, is open each working day from 8 to 5 and through the lunch hour. Our phone number is 342-4931 Ext. 42. Give us a call--we'll try to help!

Student Body President

Student-staff committees good way to serve

In behalf of the associated Student Body officers, I would like to welcome all the students to a brand new school year at Lane Community College. In your choice of Lane, not only do you have one of the finest academic colleges in Oregon, but also the opportunity of establishing and sometimes originating the traditions and policies that will stand for many years.

One of the finest ways a student may get involved in the inner workings of college life is by serving on a student-faculty committee. These committees review, evaluate, and recommend on programs in all areas of the college. There are a few committees that still have openings for students. You may get more information about them by calling me at Ext. 42 or Ext. 45.

Student government is still another area that will directly affect you. All student activities come from this group. Here again there are a limited amount of openings for students yet to fill. Senators are still needed from the Fine Arts division, Electronics, Nursing and Home Economics, MDTA and Adult Education. These senators each have one vote on all matters concerning student government. Everyone is welcome to visit the Student Senate held on Thursdays at 2:30 on the Eugene campus and ask any questions that they may have.

Our first social event will be held on Friday the 13th at Willamalane Park in Springfield. It will be a combination barbeque, dance, and swimming party. Come on over and get acquainted, eat lots and have some fun. We'll see you there.

Lots of activities

Lane Community College has several activities planned for this coming week. Take a break from studying and find out the inside story of your college.

Oct. 10--President's Cabinet Meeting, KLCC Studio, 9 a.m. - 12 noon.

Oct. 11--Convocation, KLCC Studio, 11:15 a.m. Self Study Committee Meetings.

Most of the school day is spent in clas-ses, but what do most of you do in be-tween classes? Besides eating and catch-ing up on last night's sleep, a good quiet place to go would be the Learning Re-source Center--or more commonly known as the library.

The library here at LCC can be found on any one of the campuses. It's a new institution and has the opportunity to try different procedures because it is not

25 take new class

Thirty-five students are attending a new class at LCC this year. Photography is being introduced for the first time this term on the Eugene campus. There are two classes, one every MWF from 1:30 to 2:30 taught by Bert Dotson, administrative assistant to the President, every Monday night from 7 to 10 p.m. taught by Jim Hosmer, a free lance photographer from Eugene.

The class will continue through fall and winter terms.--Jim Ulmer

Though it may not seem that way, LCC has more female than male students. The breakdown is about 55-45. The Business Division, e.g., is just about all women, as is the Nursing Division.

MOORE'S MIX

Krause head of intramurals

By JOHN MOORE

This week the Torch is putting the spotlight on a very good-looking talented man in the field of sports. He is Mel Krause, intramural director at Lane Community College. Krause was born and raised in Portland and attended Cleveland High. Upon graduation from high school he enlisted in the service for a year and a half. He attended the U of O after service and received his B.S. in Health and Physical Education in 1950. In 1951, Krause began his teaching career at Milwaukie High School. He went to Willamette High in 1952, then to Franklin High of Portland in 1954 and was department chairman of P.E. until 1957. In the fall of 1957, Krause went to North Eugene and was there four years. In 1963, he became athletic director at Sheldon High School until 1966. In the year of 1966-67, Krause went into private business, but found that he couldn't stay away from the sports field and came to LCC this year and is presently heading the Intramural Program and teaching P.E. He is married and has four children along with his busy life with youth activities. Along with his many other accomplishments, he spent eight years in Professional Baseball with clubs in Salem and Eugene.

Krause is a very active person and is fully interested in youth and their many activities. I'm sure that you would enjoy talking to him, whether you are a freshman, sophomore, or someone just taking a few courses for the heck of it. He can be reached at the Bethel campus almost any time throughout the day. Give him a call to find out information about this year's Intramural program.

All interested persons make a note of this. A good turnout at the organizational meetings provides the Intramural Council and physical education department with

Intramural Council meets

In connection with the P.E. Department, a meeting was scheduled for Wednesday night, October 4, 1967, at 7 p.m. in Room 83 of the Bethel campus.

According to Mel Krause of the health and P.E. department, the purpose of this meeting is to organize an intramural council

The new intramural year is in full swing this week as the eight intramural districts begin their preliminary workouts for flag-football. It will be a massive practice this coming Saturday, October 7 at 9:30 a.m., according to Cecil Hodges and Mel Krause of the physical education and health department.

The following weekend will mark the beginning of league play between the eight teams. This year's flag-football season will last approximately six weeks. Participants are urged to be at Willamalane Park no later than 9:40 if they have a 10 a.m. game.--John Moore

P.E. majors to meet

Room 88 on the Bethel campus will be the meeting place for all Physical Education majors. This meeting will begin at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, October 11.

According to Miss Daggett, assistant professor of Health and P.E., the purpose of this meeting will be to get acquainted and discuss the women's program. Anyone interested in attending is welcome--this includes women who are interested in playing field hockey. Bring a sack lunch.--Anne Jellison

KRVM on air at 91.9 mg.

Twenty-eight years ago Lane Community College was Eugene Technical-Vocational School, a branch of the Eugene Public Schools. KRVM, the school's (ETVS) educational, noncommercial radio station, had two primary functions: (1) to provide a training laboratory for radio students; and (2) to provide educational programming for Eugene schools. Some such programs originated at KRVM, or other local studios; while other programs, such as the Standard School Broadcasts, presented by the Standard Oil Company did not originate at KRVM. This program brings the music and culture of other countries into the classroom.

Today, KRVM is totally operated by a professional staff. You can hear KRVM-FM at 91.9 mg. throughout the greater Eugene area.--Jerry Foster

Officials needed

Any male student interested in officiating or timing at intramural football games this fall, contact Mel Krause at the physical education office on the Bethel campus. There will be a need of two officials per game and one timer. This is a good way to earn $2 that the P.E. Dept. is paying for each game. Sign up before league play gets underway.--John Moore

KLCC joins educational network

Something new is coming to LCC--NET-WORK RADIO. KLCC, the campus radio station, has been accepted as an authorized affiliate of NER, National Educational Radio network. NER is a tape network bringing various presentations to Eugene.

National Educational Radio is another means by which KLCC is improving its ever-increasing public service. More information will be released on October 16, when KLCC will begin broadcasting NER.

October 18, is the day this year's KLCC program schedules are to be released, according to Roger Hougum, station manager.--Jerry Foster

Cards have more fans

Well, the World Series is about to begin as I sit down to write my column. It's an odd thing, but so far as I can find out from listening around campus and reading the papers, no one except myself and the city of Boston are hoping for a Red Sox victory.

It's not as though I have anything against the St. Louis Cardinals, or their many fans. It's just that I've begun to wonder why the Red Sox are so unpopular.

My piers are all for St. Louis; even my editor is a Cardinal fan. My kid brother is still so mad because the Minnesota Twins didn't win the pennant this year that he hasn't spoken a civil word in three days. But then kid brothers are like that. "Yeth, they are." To quote a commercial that I detest. I fervently believe that particular commercial was created explicitly for the purpose of "inducing a pain in the listeners so that they would need the product to recover sufficiently to watch the rest of the show. But that has nothing to do with my topic--baseball.

What I'd like to know is whatever happened to the New York Yankees? It wasn't so long ago they "were" baseball. Names like Mantle and Maris were all you heard. But I guess like everything else, baseball too must bow to old Father Time. We may have lost Mickey Mantle and Sandy Koufax as super-stars, but we've got Frank Robinson and Jim Lonborg. The names may change, but never the game.

All the world needs now is for Mickey Mantle to run for president. If Ronald Reagan can make it in politics, so can Mantle.
