

New Hope Singers well received

"Wow," "fantastic" and "exciting," were the general reactions of the audience that heard the New Hope Singers, Thursday in the Forum auditorium.

The 7 singers and 4 instrumentalists that comprise this professional, Christian musical group kept the audience excited through the performance as they presented new songs in a new style.

The program started with such popular songs as "Up, Up, and Away," "Windmills of my Mind" "Spinning Wheel" in order, in their words, "to show you we can really sing." The group then performed spirituals, gospel songs and folk adaptations they have recorded or are using in their tour of the United States.

The New Hope Singers' appearance at LCC was sponsored by the Campus Crusade for Christ and Youth in Action.

THE NEW HOPE SINGERS presented a program of both popular songs and gospel and folk adaptations to a large crowd of LCC students last week. The singers are part of a large group now on tour throughout the world.

Blood Donor Club organized

A Blood Donor Club has been formed at LCC which will operate through the Lane Memorial Blood Bank.

Lane personnel over 18 are eligible to donate blood, which will be credited to a Lane account. These credits will be good for a year, during which Lane staff, students, faculty and their families will be able to obtain blood without cost. Credits are transferable anywhere in the United States, so that Lane personnel will be able to use the service even when away from the Eugene area.

The Mobile Blood Bank unit will be on campus Dec. 1, from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m. to accept blood donations. Appointments must be scheduled in advance through Mrs. Shorey, extension 381. The Bloodmobile will be on campus four other times during the year, but as many people as possible should donate during its first visit to get the account started. Approximately 150 credits are necessary to establish a reserve which will provide adequate protection.

Anyone wishing to give blood at times other than when the Bloodmobile is available may donate at the Lane Memorial Blood Bank, 741 E. 13th Ave. in Eugene, from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday or 3:00 to 6:30 p.m. Friday by appointment. When donating at the Blood Bank office, donors should be sure to specify that it is to be credited to the LCC Blood Donor account.

The Donor Club was given its impetus by the situation of Jeff Stauber, a Lane student who is a hemophiliac and required 63 units of blood. He has now been released from the hospital. The Lane club is similar to one at the University of Oregon, which attempts to maintain approximately 300 credits.

For more information, contact Paul Nosbisch, Student Senate representative of the group, at extension 230, or Stephen John of the Science Department, who is the faculty representative, at extension 382.

Sixteen attend debate on BSU room demands

A debate was held Friday at noon concerning BSU demands for a separate room to pursue their interest. The topic for discussion was whether the BSU should have a room separate from the Multi-Cultural Center which has been established in Room 235 of the Center Building.

The debate, held to determine student feeling on the situation, attracted only 16 students. Student Senator Stewart Baronti moderated the often heated discussion.

In a vote taken at the meeting, the majority of the student present felt a multi-purpose room available to many groups would be the best solution to room demands.

Dave Spriggs, student body president, and Jack Whisenhuth, student body vice-president, stated the administration has given the BSU an answer four times. Each time, they emphasized, the BSU replied that they did not get an answer simply because it was not the answer they wanted.

Tonie Nathan, an LCC student, argued that the issue was not whether black students deserve a room of their own, but whether the school has a room to give them and who should make that decision. In answer to a student arguing that the BSU needed a room to distribute educational materials on black culture to the public, she replied, "The function of education belongs to the college, and the BSU is supposedly a cultural group, not an educational group."

Several students stated that should the BSU be allowed a separate room, other groups wishing to publicize their particular interests should also be given one. Although some members of the group felt the black students' problems deserve top priority, others argued that each group feels its own interests are of prime importance.

Criticisms were leveled at the BSU for not clearly defining its goals in writing to the administration. They were also criticized for not appearing at several discussions set up to try to resolve the problem.

There were no black students at the Friday debate.

Big Brother program needs LCC volunteers

Wanted - people who care about people.

The Big Brother Program has immediate openings for male volunteers who can offer a few hours a week to a boy that needs a friend.

The Big Brother Program is a school-aid program sponsored by Eugene School District 4J and co-ordinated by project supervisor Bob Lee and the U of O YMCA group. Youngsters are referred to Big Brother by their school counselors or Vista workers who feel the child has demonstrated a need for special attention. Most of the boys are from one-parent, low-income families.

The objectives of the program is to provide recreational and social experiences for the child on a one-to-one basis. Not only do the boys benefit from the program, but volunteers find being a Big Brother is a valuable learning experience. "It gives some of our middle-class volunteers a chance to see a side of life they didn't know existed," said Lee.

Qualifications for a Big Brother are time, patience, persistence. For further information and to volunteer, contact LCC Counselor Rex Newton, 747-4501, Ext. 218.

'Instant Theater' premieres 'Mini-Concert' series

In this "instant" age, the Performing Arts Department has evolved an "instant theater."

Instant Theater consists of vignettes and improvisations performed by advanced student actors in the drama program. The first of a series of performances was held Oct. 28 in the library as a part of the new "mini-concert" series. Actors performing included Steve Harper, Joel Morello, Ed Chamber, Ralph Steadman, Ruth Palmerlee and Sandy Iscomb.

The hour began with a telephone improvisation by Steve Harper, and continued with an improvisation on flying. Both were suggestions from the audience and ad libbed by the actors.

Historical events followed, with Robinson Crusoe and Robin Hood taking on a modern twist. Friday became unionized and would only work a six hour day for Crusoe. Robin Hood, on the other hand, lost his arrows and could not even hit the Sheriff of Nottingham from his perch on the library staircase.

Other scenes performed included Little Jack Horner, a psychiatrist and his patient, a dying pickle machine, a Navajo Indian with authentic Indian sign language, and a truck driver picking up a female hitch-hiker.

Instant Theater will be produced once a month. The next performance is scheduled for November 25 from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the library.

Art enrollment rises

The LCC Performing Arts Department, which includes theatre, dance and music and is under the direction of Edward Ragozzino, has approximately 400 students enrolled this Fall term. Last year at this time only 240 students were enrolled in all aspects of performing arts.

The Student Speaks

BY DAVE SPRIGGS
ASB President

The Reform Party has challenged the present Student Administration by stating that it believes in and will work for..

- 1) Relevant Student Body Government,
- 2) Against the betrayal and sell-out of Student interest,
- 3) To actively represent the needs of the students.

Now let us look at the record and judge for yourself. Is the present administration really irrelevant and betrayal in nature to student interests?

Presently we have city bus service to and from the campus on an hourly basis. This is a new service that is offered to the students this year and is subsidized by the Student Senate. For some students this is the only means of transportation. For others, it means a savings of money in not having to drive a car to school. The trial period is costing $500 for the first month.

Also presently under consideration and investigation into its feasibility are two programs which will involve a student's grades and his instructor. This is the A.B.C. Recycle Grading System and Teacher Evaluation by students and faculty.

The grading system is designed not to punish a student for getting A, D, or F, but to give him the opportunity to keep this type of mark off his transcript. He will either get an A, B, C or will be given an R for Recycle, of which the latter would have no consequential meaning. For all practical purposes, if one doesn't get one of these first three grades, he never took the course, and will be given the opportunity to retake that particular course again at his leisure.

The Teacher Evaluation program will give the student the opportunity to voice his opinion about an instructor, which could determine who will be hired, remain on the teaching staff, or let go. There are not many other colleges and universities that let their student body participate in this type of activity.

Just recently, a member of the senate was approached by several students, and asked to try to do something about the rain water running down on them from the overhangs on the second floor of the business building causing considerable damage to books and clothing, not to mention the discomfort. Seventy-five dollars was appropriated at the following senate session, and so the necessary materials were ordered. This last weekend, members of the Circle 'K' Club installed the coverings.

Another service the Senate performed this year was the awarding of a tuition scholarship to a needy and very deserving individual, in order that she might continue her education here at Lane.

These are just a few of the projects the present administration and Senate have acted upon, and brought into being. Therefore, I ask you, are these accomplishments not relevant to the students? Do they betray and sell-out students' interests on this campus? If they don't, then what in the world do we have to reform?

In my estimation, a REFORMER is a hypocrite that insists upon HIS CONSCIENCE being YOUR GUIDE! He is an egotist who thinks that if he hadn't been born, people would wonder why! Any fool can criticize, condemn, and complain---and he generally does. Theodore Roosevelt said, "... the lunatic fringe in all reform movements..." Mark Twain edited, "Nothing needs reforming as other people's habits." And Samuel Taylor Coleridge said, "Every reform, however necessary, will by weak minds be carried to an excess, that itself will need reforming."

So I ask you, how relevant is the reform party to this student body? Who will indeed sell out student needs for personal ego trips and self-interests? Who is working for you, and who is intending to use you for their own personal gain? I think you must seriously ask yourselves these questions, and be getting some definite answers between now and election day.

I am not so much interested in where a politician "stands" as I am in which direction he is going--if any. Remember, crooked politicians get into office because honest men failed to do their jobs.

LIBBY'S LANE

"Give me that old time derision!"

Emerson Ferris sighed.

The gray silence in the newsroom of the University's DAILY DOILY was both unnatural and depressing.

Ferris, editor of the crusading student daily, caught himself timing the journey of a lone fly from the top of the filing cabinet to the window pane, then back to the point of embarkation. "This is ridiculous," he muttered, shaking himself from the observation. "For the first time in the history of the University, we're going to miss a day of publication."

A reporter emerged suddenly from the hall. The startled editor banged his knee on the desk in the process of standing to greet the staff member. The reporter's grim countenance snuffed out a tiny glimmer that had been present in the editor's eyes as his friend entered.

"No story?"

"Nope."

Ferris' lower lip began to tremble. "Take it easy, Emerson, buddy," said the reporter, giving him a consoling pat on the shoulder. "We'll figure out something to print up. Just because things have been a little quiet today..."

"Quiet?" wailed the editor. "Dead is the word! Deceased! Departed! Defunct! We haven't got enough copy to publish on the back side of a postage stamp."

The reporter swallowed hard. "I've tried," he said. "We've all tried, but nothing's going on. No riots, no moratoriums, no mock trials of Navy recruiters..."

"What, may I ask, did the University's 15,000 students do all day then?" demanded the editor.

"Went to class, I guess."

"How disgusting."

"How about our editorial page?"

"We haven't anything to tear down."

"That's never stopped us before."

The editor stopped pacing. "You're right!" he said. "We've just got to grit our teeth and dig up something. Last week we printed up an ad from a 1948 magazine showing Ronald Reagan advertising Chesterfield cigarettes! There is never a lack of sarcastic material for the truly liberal journalist!"

"Right!" chimed the reporter. "Remember two weeks ago when we wrote three editorials slamming the college president? We didn't have any facts then, either!"

The editor grabbed a pencil and began scrawling. "I'm gonna tear apart something," he muttered. "I don't know what yet, but you can bet it's gonna be biting."

"Can I help?" ventured the reporter.

"Yeah," replied Ferris. "Grab a dictionary and look up all the synonyms you can find for dissent, demonstration and demolish. And make sure they're all over three syllables--this has gotta sound intellectual."

The reporter stood still for a moment, clutching his notepad, regarding his editor-in-chief with awe. "Gee, what would the University do without you, Ferris?"

"I'll tell you what they'd have to do," retorted the editor. "They'd have to read the straight unslanted facts and draw their own conclusions! They'd have to stop and think about what they're protesting! They'd have to rely on their own discretion and judgment."

"But as long as I'm editor of this paper, we're going to save the associated student body from having to decide on controversial issues. WE speak for the University--WE'LL decide!"

Tears came into the reporter's eyes. "T-That was beautiful, Emerson!"

"Wait!" The editor's shoulders drooped noticeably. "I was so busy thinking about my editorial I forgot about the front page. It looks like we'll have to use..."

"Oh, no! Not that!" The reporter had to support himself against a coat rack. "What if they heard about it in Berkeley? We'd be shamed forever! We can't use..."

"Yes," croaked the college editor. "We'll have to resort to using... campus news!"

Friendship Families needed

Lane Community College students and their families or staff members and their families are needed to serve as Friendship Families for 65 foreign students now attending Lane Community College.

Mrs. Irene Paren, Coordinator of Foreign Students, states, "I would like to give the opportunity to our own students and staff to volunteer first. If we do not have enough volunteers here at Lane, I shall appeal to the community."

Being a Friendship Family means having the opportunity to learn about another culture firsthand. Many lasting friendships have developed between families and foreign students because they cared enough to take the time to get acquainted and to share their life with each other.

Families have invited foreign students to share in activities such as: dinner; shopping trips to another city, trips to the beach, Mt. Hood, Central Oregon or other scenic areas; birthday parties or just a Sunday ride. The foreign student is interested in the way an American family lives.

Students and staff who are interested in including a Foreign Student into their family should contact Mrs. Parent, second floor, Center Building, or call 747-4501, ext. 217 or 218 as soon as possible.

sometimes make their mistakes in public.

A boo-boo in last week's Torch enraged someone, who wrote an anonymous poison pen note to urge me to do a better job.

The fact that I have no connection with The Torch or the Media Commission, its publisher, is beside the point. At issue is the College's sponsorship of performing arts, athletics, student publications and other activities which include the possibility of public student lapses.

We're fortunate that LCC has a Board of Education and Administration which realize that the learning process requires tolerance for student errors.

Keep up the good work, Mass Communications Department and Media Commission. As long as I keep getting poison notes pointing out errors in student publications, I'll know that you're allowing the students to learn, instead of doing their work for them.

LCC Director of Information & Publications.

Jackie Robinson addresses Eugene youths

In a speech full of personal anecdotes and advice, Jackie Robinson, member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, vice president of the NAACP, and successful businessman, addressed himself primarily to the teenagers Thursday night Oct. 30 at South Eugene High School.

"Our future depends on what you do" he said, speaking to the large group of "Little Leaguers" in the audience. Robinson said that the youth are building the foundation of the country and that he is concerned about the amount of smoking and drinking they do at a time when their bodies are growing. He said he couldn't believe that marijuana isn't harmful and cited the case of his oldest son who went to Vietnam where he got "hooked" on drugs after starting with "pot."

In speaking of the black struggle for identity in this country, Robinson narrated the story of Job. According to Robinson, when Job's friends told him to beg God to be good to him Job refused. He told God that he was a man and therefore worthy, and said, "Though he slay me I shall maintain my way before him." Robinson pointed out that this is analogous to the Black attitude. He said "The black people don't really want black separatism, they want black individualism; they don't want black racism, they want black pride. Believe me," he said, "the begging is done!"

Robinson said if a man has the ability, he should be able to get a job regardless of color. He said the flag has very little meaning for blacks because of discrimination, but they are "going to continue to push and push" until their children are educated and they can own land and get jobs freely. He said blacks are saying "Get off my back, I've got to be me....the only freedom is to be yourself."

Robinson asked his audience to join in resolving the problems of the blacks. He spoke of the march he went on with Martin Luther King and quoted from King's "I have a dream" speech. He said he was amazed by the number of white people who participated in the march and said "There is tremendous decency in people, but all it needs is to get out of the grandstand and into the arena."

Robinson finished the program by answering questions and giving autographs. It was obvious from the questions by a great many youngsters that they had read stories of his athletic achievements and seen the film, "The Jackie Robinson Story."

After the program, Mr. Robinson was interviewed by a Torch reporter who asked for his reaction to the Nixon administration's efforts to date. Robinson replied that the president had "done absolutely nothing" to improve conditions for the black man in this country. He said, "Nixon isn't involving himself enough."

When asked for his comments on the recent Supreme court decision requiring immediate integration of school, Robinson said he hoped the president would "exert a greater influence" in enforcing the law. "We don't need more laws; we have enough law," he stated. "We need greater leadership." He said he wished Nixon "would quiet down his vice-president, instead of approving of him."

Since there was a notable absence of blacks in the audience, Mr. Robinson was asked for his comments on this. He said he knew nothing about the black community in Eugene, but he wished "we could all work together to eliminate prejudice in the nation".

Students polled on 'Mary Jane'

Were you asked the following questions recently?

1. Have you ever used marijuana?

2. Do you favor: (A.) making the laws regarding marijuana more stringent? (B.) keeping the laws the same? or (C.) making the laws less stringent?

If you answered and returned the questionnaire, you were participating in a survey conducted by the LCC Psychology class of Mr. John Baughman. The class chose to study the sampling techniques and control procedures relative to research methods by carrying out their own survey of approximately 500 LCC student's attitudes on marijuana.

In an attempt to get as random and impartial sampling as possible, the students surveyed all types of classes at different hours both day and night.

The hypothesis that the group was testing was: LCC COLLEGE TRANSFER STUDENTS TEND TO FAVOR MORE LIBERAL ATTITUDES TOWARD THE USE OF MARIJUANA THAN LCC VOCATIONAL STUDENTS DO. The questionnaire asked for age, sex and major in addition to the above questions. The results were as follows:

Mean age of persons surveyed was 24.4 years. Mean age of those who have used it was 22.6 years. Mean age of those who have not used it was 26.1 years.

ATTITUDES: Transfer students favored the present regulations with 176 or 60% and an average age of 22.2 years. The next largest portion of transfer students answering (71 or 24%) favored more stringent regulations. Average age of this group was 23.2 years. The least favored alternative was for less stringent regulation with 48 or 16% of those answering. Average age was 21.6 years.

The vocational students also favored the same regulations on the use of marijuana with 64 or 43% of those answering the poll. Second was more stringent regulation with 55 or 37% and finally less stringent regulations with 30 or 20% of those polled.

SEX: Out of a total of 361 students, 100 male students stated they were using it as did 43 female students. One hundred sixteen male students and 102 female students answering the poll said they had never used it. The total number of students who answered the poll and stated they had used marijuana was 181 or 42%. Total who have not used it was 248 or 58%.

Total number of students answering the poll: 429.

Efforts were made to control factors which might distort the results so it was not always possible to use all the samples returned. For example, some of the respondents did not give their age or sex and so could not be counted in these parts of the survey.

However, it should be noted that although this sampling was only a part of the total population of LCC students, every effort was made to make it truly representative.

United Appeal progressing

The Electronics and Mechanics departments have both reached 100% participation in the LCC United Appeal campaign, states Buck Bailey, co-chairman of the UA drive. "At the end of the first report period," he said, "they should be quite proud of the 'report cards' they receive!" The campus United Appeal drive officially ends Nov. 15. The LCC goal is $3,000, and at this point contributions are nearing 80% of this quota.

Bailey noted that the Nov. 15 deadline should provide more than enough time to reach the quote. "Since we are this close," he said, "couldn't we have just one last effort in the final weeks? Only one other school district has gone over 100% Remember, 'when you are number two, you have to try harder!'"

Science Instructors attend meeting

Three LCC science instructors recently attended a "cooperative science improvement program" at Treasure Valley Community College.

Charles Bentz, Ben Kirk and John Jacobs represented LCC at the National Science Foundation sponsored meeting held Oct. 19. Chemistry teachers in all the Oregon community colleges attended the meeting, which was followed by dinner.

Dr. Cockrell discusses contraception

Family Planning means improving the quality of life, not just limiting the number of births, according to Dr. John L. Cockrell, eminent Eugene obstetrician and gynecologist. Dr. Cockrell explained the reasons for and methods of contraception to a large audience attending the "Sex Education for Parents" course in the Family Living Series last Thursday evening.

Statistics show that divorce rates are higher when a child is born during the first year of marriage. Couples find it difficult to adjust to each other when the wife has the added physical drain of pregnancy. As to the spacing of children, Dr. Cockrell stated that not only does the mother have a better chance to recuperate when children are spaced two to three years apart, but her better condition produces healthier children. He felt no specific limit should be dictated to couples as to the number of children they have, but that they should have only the number for which they can provide the opportunity to achieve full potential.

Dr. Cockrell told of the increase in world population from Christ's time to the present and the rapid projected doubling of the present three billion to six billion by 1995.

One third of the population produces two thirds of the increase in society, he said. He stated that it was the illiterate and uneducated who never control birth.

He discussed seven methods of contraception, including birth control pills. Recent F.D.A. studies, he said, have supported the British finding that there is an increase in thrombophlebitis (inflammation of the wall of a vein) with estrogen, and consequently the pill will not be used for older women and those thought to be susceptible to disease.

Women between 15 and 44 who are not pregnant have a higher incidence of death from thrombophlebitis than pregnant women, he said. The least incidence of death is among those taking the oral contraceptive.

One benefit of taking the pill, Cockrell said, is that doctors require patients to come in for a check-up at least once a year and are now catching diseases earlier.

A question and answer period followed his talk and then the audience gathered in small groups for discussion.

I am very much concerned about the responsible representation of the student body. In order to do this, I feel that a line of direct communications should, and will be, left open. I shall make an effort to go out and reach my constituents. Also I will leave time available for students to reach me in the Senate office. I feel that I could help represent the students by clear thinking in response to budgetary matters. The student government is in control of over $28,500. You should be concerned about getting qualified student senators to spend YOUR money.

I graduated from South Eugene in 1966 served in the Marine Corps Reserve and recently returned from a two year mission in eastern Canada for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

I am running for freshman senator in the Performing Arts division.

My main objectives are to:
1. make the activities sponsored by the Performing Arts Department more available financially to the students.
2. help Performing Arts represent our college throughout the state in various cultural activities.
3. represent my department in the Senate and create a better understanding with both my department and the student body.

I sincerely hope I will be given the opportunity to serve students and members of the Performing Arts Department in the Senate.

I'm running for Freshman Senator from Electronics. I was very dissatisfied with the way our student government was run last year. I don't feel that we (the students) were properly represented in the Senate or elsewhere.

The only way to be properly represented is to put someone from your department in the Senate who will let his constituents know what's going on around campus and in the Senate. Someone who will ask your view on matters that very definitely concern you and your future and will not give his own views on what he or she thinks you'll say.

If I'm elected, I will guarantee you, you will be fully aware of what's going on. Then it's up to you to let your senator know how you feel.

I would like to see what would happen if this student body stopped taking itself for granted.

Is LCC just Last Chance College?

Doesn't anyone care what's going on around them?

I am running for office in a school where people could and should let their personalities, their love, their interests be shared with not just their own circle of friends, but with the school and community as a whole.

Come children, smile at each other, let's get together and love, respect and understand one another.

KLCC - 90.3

Sharon Brandt
Fine Arts

When I visited Eugene from Missouri the first week in June, I met an overwhelming number of students and faculty members from the University of Oregon. I was genuinely impressed by the concern and knowledge they demonstrated for the problems of their city, their state and their nation. I could not resist the excitement of becoming a part of a community which "cared" enough to actively attempt to remedy the turmoil and frustration that faces all of us in America today.

After being here awhile, I must admit I feel discouraged to discover that the majority of LCC students are very aloof from the problems which face them as members of a community, residents of a state and citizens of the United States. The air of active concern and knowledge which impressed me during my first visit to Eugene is lacking at LCC. Why is the atmosphere so different here than at the U. of Oregon? After many hours of deliberation on the question, I feel the difference lies not in the "type" of student who attends Lane, but rather that there is no opportunity at present for students to become aware of the problems that they should care about.

Fellow students have said to me that students here don't care, but I cannot accept that. My premise is that if students are exposed to the truth about problems, they will care. Exposure to idea IS education and breeds a lust for greater education and personal commitment. It is a responsibility of an educational institution to offer this opportunity so that students can make an intelligent choice as to how they relate personally to their society and what they can do to voice their choice.

For this reason, I am running as Senator from Fine Arts. As a beginning I would like to see a lecture series and forums incorporated during the year with guest speakers such as Wayne Morse, Arthur Pearl, Tom McCall, Sen. Faedley, Gene McCarthy and anyone the students here would like to question. Their is a vast field of knowledgeable persons for us to draw information. With your help I will begin to give LCC students the opportunity to learn all sides of the problem facing their community, state and nation and a means for interested students to become an intelligent, effective influence in government at all levels.

Get out and vote !!!

Ed Hoover
Senator-at-Large

I am 25 years old and was secretary of my High School class.

I have attended the Graham School for Cattlemen. I also went through the Mioursi Auction School in Kansas City, Missouri.

I am interested in better student government and will be available to talk to anyone.

Jeff McMeans
Senator at Large

The major problem in our Student Senate is "personality conflicts." The term is self-evident. Think about it. Such a ridiculous issue creates a wall which must be surmounted before any and all motions on the floor can be properly dealt with. Needless to say, "personality conflicts" have no place in this or any Student Senate.

I am not going to stop here, by simply stating what is wrong. There is a definite resolution to our problem. It is a simple one. It's simple now, but it won't be after November 10.

The quickest and most proficient way for this problem to be absolved is to completely avoid what happened last year and get the Senate functioning the way it should. It's our privilege and our obligation to elect those candidates on November 10 that are capable of the representation that is truly desired. For this to be accomplished, we must all VOTE!!!!

This article and the banners around school are an effort to expose to you the fact that I, Jeff McMeans am qualified to represent you as a Senator-at-Large. Presently, I am the Publicity Director, in the Student Senate. This position will terminate after the elections.

My exposure to life has been rather unique. I've discovered and firmly believe it's "cool to care." Because I do, I want to be your voice in the Student Senate.

I favor my rhetoric to my written word. Come and rap with me to find out that I'm one of the individuals you prefer for Senator-at-Large.

Gina Snider
Senator at Large

1. The student senate should be a working organization. It should not be a social club or a place to confront your foes.
2. Student government also costs you money. So it should be spent where it does the most good. I'm sure you don't want it wasted and neither do I.
3. By running for senator at large, I won't be confined to one group. I would like to work for those students who don't feel they are being properly represented at this time.

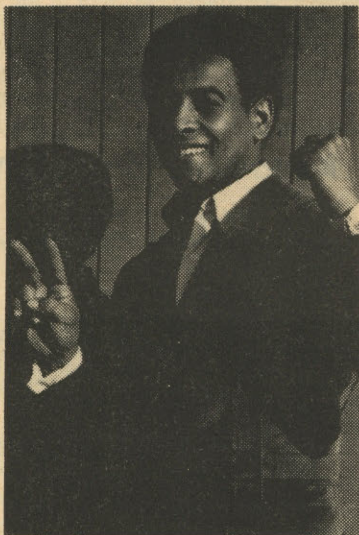

Lorena Warner

Mass Communications

Serving in the capacity of Mass Communication Senator, I would promote a more unified campus and student body.

I am anxious to serve as your senator to promote more school sponsored activities and a better student government.

Telecasting-Production is my major and effective communication is my concern. Elect me, Lorena Warner, Mass Communication sophomore senator.

Lewis Peters, Jr.
Senator-at -Large

Today's problems on this campus are unique as the solutions.

Students have not been informed of matters important to their well being. For instance, student government is out of touch with the majority of students. Participation and communication are very poor. I propose a central place for students to talk to their representatives and come in contact with important materials concerning student government.

One of my goals if elected will be to describe minority opinions and ideas. These ideas have been absent and with your vote these concepts will be brought forth.

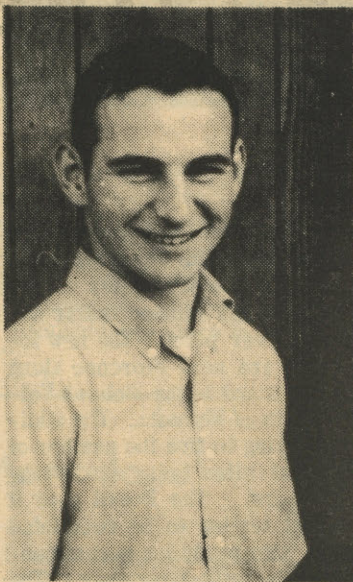

Another problem relating to us all are jobs and their distribution. I believe that since we are a community college we could put on a recruitment program for off-campus jobs so that each student would have a channel of recourse as far as a part-time job is concerned. This would be a reality if pressure were applied in favor of the students.

I now thank you for your vote by saying that I will do my best.

CANDIDATES FORUM SCHEDULED

STUDENTS! Here is your chance to find out who is running for office on November 10, MEET THE CANDIDATES IN PERSON! Candidates for the Student Senate will be available for questioning in the cafeteria on Wednesday, Nov. 5 and Friday Nov. 7 from 2:00 to 3:30 p.m. The candidates will answer questions from anyone in the audience.

All candidates are expected to attend. Refreshments will be served.

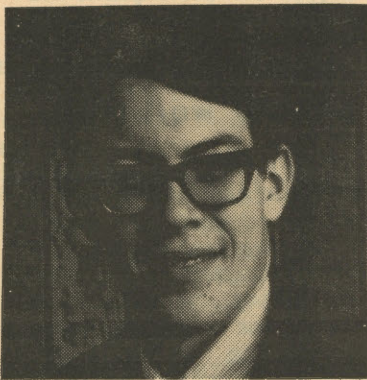

Mike Arens
Senator at Large

I am running for the position of Senator at Large.

I believe student government here at LCC should be in the student body's control. The purpose of the Senator at Large is to represent you in the Student Senate so that you will have a voice.

I am for more student activities of all kinds designed by the students, in the students' interest and relevant to all of the students. There can be any sort of activity that you want to have if you will only tell me. I would like to be able to truly serve you, the students of LCC, to help you attain and realize your goals.

I am at present the treasurer of Circle K, a college men's service organization here on campus, and would like to help you implement your desires into action in the Student Senate.

Paxton Hoag
Social Science

I feel that student government should support programs beneficial to the whole campus community. It should not just be involved in promoting social events. Personal feuds and personalities also should not enter the senate chambers; it must be remembered that student government should represent the majority of the students.

These are some of the problems that face the student body at LCC. Since the first step to the solution of problems is to realize what they are, I feel that I can work effectively in finding some new answers.

I do not make promises that are outside my power to produce. However, I will make one promise that is within my power to fulfill. I will keep an open mind and I will try to do the best I can for the student body of LCC.

ASCET Club to meet

ASCET Club, the campus chapter of the American Society for the Certification of Engineering Technicians, will hold its first meeting Thursday, Nov. 6, at 11:00 a.m. in Forum 311.

The club is designed for people interested in the field of electronic engineering who are enrolled in a two-year program leading to an associate degree.

Anyone interested in joining ASCET should contact the adviser of the group, Adrian Vaaler, in the Industrial Technology Department at extension 372. The club will meet once a month, and the first meeting will develop a budget to be submitted to the Student Senate.

Veterans club organized

A Veterans Club at LCC has been approved by the Student Senate and is now being organized.

Any man or woman who has served honorably or is currently serving in the armed forces of the United States is eligible for membership. It is estimated that approximately 660 men on campus would be eligible to join.

The Veterans Club will provide information to veterans on government legislation concerning the armed forces and the status of veterans. It will also promote activism and stress love and pride of country. Citizens will be urged to support American servicemen, though not necessarily the Vietnam war itself. Plans are also being made to provide financial aid for some members if possible.

Anyone interested in joining the Veterans Club should contact John Hill in the Student Senate office, extension 230, or attend the club meeting Tuesday, Nov. 4, at 12:00 in Forum 302.

Adult choir formed

Anyone who enjoys singing may participate in the newly formed LCC adult choir, directed by Wayne Kirchner of the Performing Arts Department. The choir meets once a week on Tuesday from 7:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. in the basement of the Center Building.

Karen Wilson to compete

Karen Wilson has been chosen by her nursing classmates to represent LCC in a contest to select the Student Nurse of Oregon.

Four students, Pat Doerfler, Joanne Ness, LouAnn Nygaard and Karen Wilson were selected by their classmates as candidates for the campus competition to choose an entry for the statewide contest. They were nominated for outstanding abilities in clinical performance, leadership, interpersonal relationships and participation in campus and professional organizations.

Miss Wilson will attend the Student Nurses of Oregon (SNO) meeting on November 11th to compete with candidates from other Oregon Schools of Nursing for the title Student Nurse of Oregon.

Participating schools of nursing will provide the evening's entertainment at the meeting. LCC's department will use both the first and second year nursing classes in its entertainment.

This is the first year that LCC has been eligible to compete in this yearly event.

BSU to meet

The first meeting of the Black Student Union (BSU) is scheduled for 12:00 noon on Wednesday, Nov. 5, in Room 235 of the Center. All members are requested to attend.

Chicago

(Chicago) UPI--A Chicago U.S. District Court judge ordered one of the "Conspiracy Eight" defendants gagged and bound to his chair in the courtroom last week after Black Panther Bobby Seale had called a prosecutor a "rotten, racist pig." Judge Julius Hoffman also warned the seven other defendants he would rescind their bail and jail them after they signed a statement supporting Seale. Seale is still demanding that he be his own attorney at the trial. Hoffman asked Seale to stop disruptions and scuffling with U.S. marshals. Seale refused to make any promises and said he would continue to try to defend himself.

Portland

(Portland) UPI--A group of Portland State University students blocked efforts by navy recruiters to meet with other students at the campus. School officials said about 30 students blocked the entrance to a room being used by the recruiters for about an hour. Dean of Students Channing Briggs said disciplinary action against the students is being considered.

Salem

(Salem) UPI--Governor Tom McCall announced today "operation drug alert" will begin Nov. 14 with a live television and radio broadcast of a panel discussion in Portland. McCall has given the project high priority in his human resource program. He says it is designed to be an all-out effort to gather drug information and develop local initiative. An executive committee of civic leaders has been working with local action groups to set up the event.

U.S. Congress

(Washington) UPI-- On the tax scene . . . Democratic Senate leaders Mike Mansfield and Edward Kennedy called for a raise in personal income tax exemption. Mansfield says he would like to see a minimum of one thousand dollars. Mansfield also said the Senate will work early, late, and Saturdays to get the tax reform bill passed in December once the floor fight begins.

Single people have long contended they are victims of tax discrimination. Last week, the Senate Finance Committee voted to do something about the claim. It voted a 600 million dollar tax break for single persons. Under the proposal, a single person would pay no more than 20% more taxes than a married person in the same income bracket.

The Senate Finance Committee also decided last week to tax the profits of enterprises operated by churches and other tax-exempt groups. The move has the support of a number of church organizations. It is estimated that the levies would increase government revenues by 20 million dollars a year by 1979.

(Draft) UPI--The House of Representatives approved and sent to the Senate a bill allowing President Nixon to set up his draft lottery plan. Senate Majority leader Mike Mansfield said the members won't consider the measure this year. The President has asked him to reconsider.

The controversy is whether the draft program should be reformed now or later to put 19-year-olds in a draft pool. Those inducted would be selected at random by computer. Nixon wants the lottery system now and reform later. Liberal opposition wants to reform the draft in one package.

Cape Kennedy

(Apollo 11) UPI--The Apollo 11 crewmen, Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins have received royal welcomes on their world good-will tour. Yesterday the astronauts were welcomed by tens of thousands of South Koreans waving American and Korean flags in the streets of Seoul. For Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin, it was a sentimental return to the country where they once fought as fighter pilots against the Communists in the Korean War. The spacemen will fly directly to Washington tomorrow from Tokyo to receive a red carpet welcome home from the President.

Eugene

(Eugene) UPI--The Eugene Water and Electric Board has announced two more potential sites for its proposed 225 million dollar nuclear power plant. The new locations are near Florence along the coast and in the Mohawk Valley North of Marcola. The additions bring to five the number of potential sites being studied by the Board. The Board said it expects testing to be completed and a site ready for recommendation by mid-November. The other potential locations are near Oakridge, Noti and Lorane.

This project is rousing strong objections from citizens in the area. A petition drive aimed at forbidding the building of a nuclear power plant within 60 miles of Eugene was announced last week by a group calling itself "The Eugene Future Power Committee." Chairman Joe Holaday says more than 4500 signatures will be needed to get the measure on the city's election ballot. The Committee's slogan for the campaign will be "Not here--and not now."

Play tryouts scheduled

Casting tryouts for LCC's production of Gian Carlo Menotti's "The Medium" will be held Wednesday, Nov. 12, in the basement of the LRC.

Ed Ragozzino, chairman of the Performing Arts Department and director of "The Medium," terms it the "most exhilarating force in contemporary opera." Roles to be filled include Monica, Nolan, 25-50 years old; and Tobie, 19 (a non-speaking role as a deaf mute). Those interested in trying out must be able to sing, as almost the entire play is musical in form. Students, staff and members of Adult Education classes at Lane are encouraged to audition.

Retta Otto named 'Woman of the Year'

Mrs. Retta Otto of Adult Education was honored with the title "Woman of the Year" during the National Business Women's Week by the Cascade District Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Otto was on the original staff of Colin-Kelly Junior High, where she taught to more than 20 years before retiring three years ago. She is now teaching classes for unwed mother and is the adviser of the Christian Science Club at Lane Community College.

Mrs. Otto has been active and instrumental in projects such as the 4-H program; the Christian Science Club at LCC; clothing drives for needy children at the Corvallis Farm Home; Christmas parties to gather clothing, food and toys for needy families (she has helped between 50 and 60 families a year to enjoy the holidays); and Skipworth Home for boys.

According to Chuck Wilbur, counselor at Colin-Kelly Junior High, "Mrs. Otto was and is beloved by all the students as well as the faculty." Wilbur called her a "real humanitarian" who is always looking for someone to help and comfort.

John Deere is the department's biggest financial backer and many of the graduates of the department are employed by John Deere in Eugene.

Tuesday RAP 'searches for meaning'

"Man's search for meaning," the topic of the last RAP, dealt mainly with religious and philosophical issue, according to many of the participants. Students who attended expressed the opinion that the session was a good one. Perhaps this was because Mr. Arthur Tegger, sponsor of the RAP, kept a little tighter control over the structure of the discussion in an effort to let all students express themselves.

Lately members of the RAP have given several different interpretations of what a RAP really is. Some students have described it as a situation where ideas are exchanged exposing differences of feeling and opinion without necessarily reaching conclusions. Others have said that the RAP should be an open discussion where the views expressed help individuals to form solutions to personal and social problems and where a consensus of opinion is reached.

Jack Whisenhunt, student body vice-president, pointed out that "the more structured the discussion the more possibility of coming up with solutions." However, Whisenhunt indicated that he personally interpreted a RAP as a sort of "sound-off-structured to a fault," where students and others could air their gripes and biases without necessarily getting answers. He stated that personal feelings need to be expressed in an open session where others can consider and react to them.

The fact that so many students do not communicate their feelings and opinions to their peers or to society will be the subject of the next RAP session on "Apathy" held at 11:00 Tuesday, in Room 221 of the Center. The meeting is open to the public and coffee will be served.

Nursing director attends workshops

Mary Fiorentino, Director of the Department of Nursing, has recently returned from a series of meetings and workshops in Denver, Pasadena and San Diego.

In Denver, the focus of the meeting was on National League Accreditation of Nursing program within the community college. Continuing to Pasadena City College, she had the opportunity to observe a laboratory which focused on the use of auto-tutorial aides to provide a multi-dimensional laboratory experience for enhancement of student learning. In San Diego Miss Fiorentino, the LCC's appointed representative, attended the semi-annual meeting of the Western Council in Higher Education of Nursing.

Excess speed causes accident

John Miles, Chief Security Officer at LCC, reports that excess speed was responsible for a rear-end collision on the west side of campus Oct. 27.

At approximately 3:10 p.m. a car pulled to the side of the road to pick up a passenger and was struck from behind by a second vehicle. Measurements of the skidmarks left by the second car indicate that it slid 81 feet before the impact. The driver of the second car was cited for violation of the basic rule.

Miles emphasized that excessive speed was the primary cause of the accident, and that posted campus speed limits must be obeyed to prevent further accidents.

Miles also discussed other traffic regulations at LCC which are commonly violated. These include:

1. All motor vehicles must display a current registration sticker on the left side of the rear bumper.
2. Students and staff should not park in the area reserved for campus visitors or in the area reserved for the physically handicapped.

3. Parking in a "posted" fire lane is a tow-away offense, and any vehicle parked elsewhere in such a way as to be a traffic hazard will also be towed away.
4. The upper drive in front of the Administration building is a 30-minute loading zone only.

He further indicated that many people have ignored the stop signs around campus, and some have been defaced and removed. "Stop means 'stop,'" he stated. "Not only is it against the law to alter, deface, or remove a traffic sign, it also shows how inconsiderate you can be of other people! Traffic signs are placed at necessary locations, not only for YOUR safety, but also for the safety of other."

Miles also indicated that co-operation is needed from those who park on the gravel parking lots in order to make best use of them. Diagrams of proper parking procedures in the gravel lots are available.

All staff and students who will be driving on campus should obtain a copy of campus traffic regulations and become familiar with them.

Johnston leads football victory

LCC's extramural football team, coached by Dick Newell, slashed a U of O independent team 22-0 last Friday on Lane's campus.

Halfback Lynn Johnston capped a 50 yard first quarter Titan drive by snaring a seven yard touchdown pass from Lane quarterback Curt Wicks. The extra point was good, and the Titans led 7-0. A safety was added, and LCC led 9-0 at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter Johnston scored the game's second touchdown on a ten yard run. A pass from Wicks to George Aitenus added the extra point, giving the Titans a 16-0 half-time lead.

The game's final score came on a third-quarter forty yard run by Wicks.

Defensively the Titans were strong. The rushing of Mark Booth, Ron Libby, and others kept the independent's quarterback constantly on the run.

to a goal by the opposing goalie, Lane's soccer team ran its unbeaten streak to four games as they defeated the University of Oregon "C" team 5-1.

The game, held at LCC on October 28, was played on Lane's perennial sea of mud, which caused havoc for both teams. More than once a player would be dribbling the ball when suddenly the player was advancing forward while the ball remained in a water hole or mud hole.

Only six minutes had passed when Enrique Martinez scored Lane's first goal on a penalty kick. This was the third straight game in which Martinez has scored the first goal.

When the sloppy field was not slowing the offensive thrusts, both defenses were doing a good job. Midway through the first half, Garbis Kataroyan scored again for Lane. This was all the scoring in the first half as Lane led 2-0.

The second half scoring belonged to the powerful left leg of Fernando Seminario, as he booted home three goals and narrowly missed on several others.

After falling behind 3-0, Oregon finally scored when a 25 yard kick took a weird bounce and went over goalie Abdullah Sedairi's head into the goal.

Lane retaliated quickly on Seminario's goals, the last one scoring when the Oregon goalie tried to stop the ball but instead fumbled the ball into his own net.

Goalie Sedairi played another fine game as he came up with five key saves, one of which looked like a sure goal late in the first half. Fullbacks Jim Miller and Jack Johnson also had good defensive games as they repeatedly stopped Oregon offensive thrusts.

Tennis tournament entries sought

Prizes will be awarded the winners of the Intramural Tennis Singles Tournament play, which begins Nov. 10. The tournament is open to all students who are not varsity tennis players.

Sign-up sheets for interested participants are posted on the bulletin boards of the men's and women's locker room and in the Intramural Office. Entries for the tournament are due by Nov. 7.

Rally squad tryouts set

Those student who wish to vote for members of the Rally Squad must meet certain requirements, according to Sandi Curtis, rally squad organizer for OCCSA and LCC.

"Only those students who watch the November 10 tryouts will be allowed to vote," said the Lane sophomore. The try-outs will be held from 10:00-12:00 a.m. in the downstairs lobby of the Health building.

The doors will close at 10:15 a.m. for the try-out and voting procedures.

Try-outs for the LCC Rally Squad will be held Nov. 10, from 10:00 - 12:00 a.m. in the Health Building contact Sandi Curtis in the Student Senate office, ext. 230, if interested.

Hockey team defeated by Thurston

The LCC girl's field hockey team was defeated by Thurston in the last 45 seconds of play at Thurston, Thursday Oct. 23.

LCC's coach, Mrs. Debbie Daggett, said, "It was one of the best games of the season, from the standpoint of playing as a team and playing our positions."

In another game, played at Marylhurst Wednesday, Oct. 29, the teams tied 1-1. Pat Lydon, made the only goal for LCC.

Outstanding player awards are given to the girl who displays the greatest teamwork and effort in each game. Kathy Cole, a graduate of Churchill High School, playing center halfback, received the award for the Thurston game. Arleta Martin, from Pleasant Hill and playing right offensive inner, received it for the O.C.E. game.

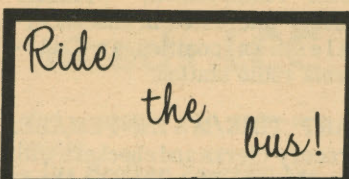

Pat Lydon and Kathy Cole tied for the award after the Marylhurst game. The girls received a small engraved silver disc, inscribed "field hockey, LCC 1969," or a bracelet.

The next game is with O.S.U. here on Monday, Nov. 3.

OUR SINCERE APOLOGIES to the hockey girls and Debbie Daggett who organized the team. The girls have been doing a great job representing LCC and deserve the credit for their efforts.

Athlete of the Week selected

The TORCH sports staff has selected Jack Johnson as this week's "athlete of the week."

Johnson, who is the roving fullback on the Titans undefeated soccer team, was cited for his outstanding defensive play. The 5' 11", 180 lb. freshman possesses the speed and the strong clearing kick which is a vital part of defensive play. He was selected defensive player of the game by Coach George Gyorgyfalvy in each of the four Titan victories.

Johnson attended Eugene's Sheldon High before joining the Marines. During his four-year service term, Johnson played interservice football as a quarterback and placekicker at Quantico, Virginia.

Johnson is currently running for freshman senator from the Health and Physical Education department.

JAN MCNEALE pulled ahead of the pack to victory, but couldn't bring the Titan team to victory over the Mt. Hood team.

Mt. Hood wins by one

Though Jan McNeale captured first place in the state cross country meet here Saturday Nov. 1, the LCC Titans were defeated 39 to 38 by Mt. Hood for the conference title.

McNeale pulled away from the pack after the first mile and was never seriously threatened again.

Dave Bogan of Mt. Hood, stayed within 150 yards, but couldn't close the gap between him and McNeale.

Other Lane runners were John McCray, who finished sixth; Hugh Helikson, seventh; Don Herman, twelfth; Bob Wynkoop, seventeenth; and Mike Allen, twenty-eighth.

Rally Committee accepting applications

The LCC Rally Committee will be accepting applications for the Rally Board until Friday of next week, Nov. 14.

Sandi Curtis, rally squad organizer, clarified the purpose of the rally squad and board Monday. In addition to the more obvious duties of the rally squad, Miss Curtis noted the special emphasis given to "working with the ASB government in social activities."

Particulars on the Board of Governors are stated in the by-laws of the ASB constitution as

a. It shall be the purpose of this Board to assist and oversee all projects undertaken by the Rally Squad;

b. The qualifications for the Board membership shall be the same as those listed in Section II of this by-law.

c. The officers of this Board shall consist of a chairman, public relations officer, secretary, and treasurer;

d. Additional members of the Board shall consist of three (3) members-at-large, and all the members of the Rally Squad.

JAY GAFFNEY

PUBLICITY DIRECTOR

Our democracy states that government is to be for the people. Our student government is not. The silent majority's public opinion is going unheard, and it is on this public opinion that your prosperity and welfare depends. Being a fifth term student here at Lane Community College, it is my feeling that the student government, as it stands, is not representative of the general student body.

In running for student PUBLICITY DIRECTOR, I want to become sincerely involved with student government, and provide this representative voice which I feel is needed. For too long students on this campus have either felt it is beyond their ability to do anything about student government, or have been too apathetic to care.

As PUBLICITY DIRECTOR, my job will be to bring the students together and coordinate activities designed to benefit the welfare of the whole student body. It is vitally important that the needs and wants of the students be accurately and responsibly represented in the Senate. I am for fair representation of minority groups. Are they being honestly represented? It is my desire to be in a position to voice the desires of the misrepresented - silent majority - so that their suggestions will no longer fall on deaf ears, but will have the honest and concerned representation which I now find lacking. We are not here to entertain the people; we are not here to educate them. We are here for student government!!

I feel that I can serve the student body best by working through a few of the organizations and clubs I am presently a member of. One important one is the Curriculum committee. Students who feel that they have something to offer in the way of a new or an improvement on an existing program or course, need not be unheard. As Publicity Director I want to hear out these ideas and start the ball rolling. Another important area is student housing in and around Eugene and Springfield. As a member of the local Apartment House Association, it is vitally important that student housing arbitration be accurately and responsibly represented.

Being an active member of the local Jaycee Chapter, the Veterans Club, and Circle K Club, I hope to use this facility in continued improvement of school/public relations. Having served in the US Navy as a Public Relations Photographer for 4½ years, I believe I can pass this experience on best through the role of student Publicity Director, as I feel that I can provide the type of responsible representation that the students really want.

Now, majority, get out and vote and have a say in student government - don't let the minority make your decisions all your life!! It is time for all students to have a say! Be heard! Get what you want! VOTE a JAY GAFFNEY slate.
