

Finding an Article in SIRS Knowledge Source

SIRS is a good place to find articles on social issues, science, history, government, the arts and humanities in newspapers, magazines, and reference books. SIRS has especially strong coverage of current events-type issues.

1. Begin at the Library's website: http:// library.lanecc.edu/
2. Then click on "Find Articles & Databases"

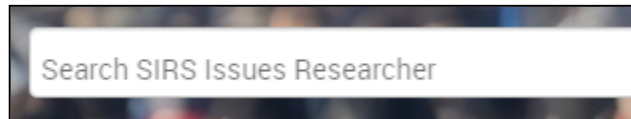

3. Click on the letter "S"
4. Then click on SIRS Knowledge Source

There are two ways to search SIRS:

A) If you're not sure what topic you want to research, you can click on one of the large topic buttons on the page.

B) Or you can just search using the search box.

In SIRS, you can tell what kind of articles are by what folder they're in. Click on the Newspapers folder for articles from newspapers. Click on the Magazines folder for articles from magazines. You may have to scroll down the page to see the links

If you're not sure how long an article is, click on the article's title, then click on the "Print" icon on the right.
